Bill Entered to Merge Three Valley Counties

Winnebago, Outagamie, Calumet Would be One After Jan. 6, 1969

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The unification of Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties into a single county has been proposed in a bill introduced by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, and Assembly assistant majority leader David Martin, R-Neenah.

The seat of the new Winnebago County would be located in either the Town of Menasha in Winnebago County or the Town of Harrison in Calumet County, according to the measure introduced through the Assembly Rules Committee Tuesday.

Court Alignment

Effective Jan 6, 1969, a unified county board comprised of members of the county boards of the three counties would govern the new county, and would establish supervisory districts for a new board election to be held in April, 1970.

The seven county judges of the three counties would be continued in office and would continue to operate as seven branches of the new County Court.

The new county would be established as a judicial circuit, and would operate two branches of the court. The judge of the present Winnebago and Calumet County Circuit Court would continue as one branch, and a second branch judge would be elected in April, 1969

Froehlich Martin

Outagamie County would be removed from the 10th judicial circuit, leaving that circuit comprised of Langlade, Menominee and Shawano counties.

Under the proposed plan, the existing state Senate, Assembly and congressional districts would be continued as they now are apportioned Reapportionment following the 1970 federal census would redistrict the area, as will be done throughout the state

In November, 1968, voters in the new Winnebago County would vote on which of the two selected towns would serve as the county seat for the new unified county.

In that same election, voters would elect county officers for the new county, and victors would take office Jan 6, 1969, the date at which the new county is to be created

'A Thought Provoker'

Froehlich said he proposed the plan "as a thought provoker," and that he would not predict the legislative chances of the measure

"We'll hold a hearing on it and see what happens," he said.

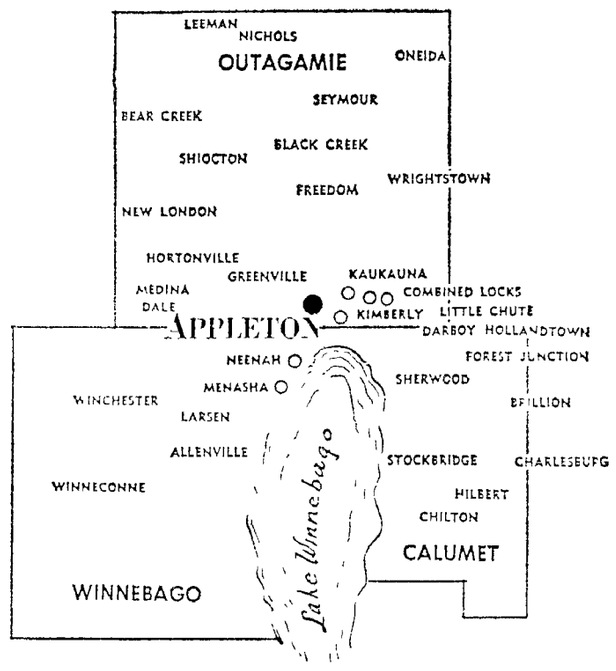
That hearing will be held after the Legislature returns on Oct 17 he indicated

Many reasons exist for the change, he said, chief among them being governmental economies and efficiencies which can be effected through the unified area

The Fox Cities constitute one geographic area he pointed out but are spread among three counties just as the single city of Appleton soon will be

Court efficiencies can be accomplished as well, he indicated

And Calumet County can be brought into the development of the area to play a complete role he said Presently it is too often ignored, he said



Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties would become one—Winnebago County—under a proposal entered in the State Assembly Tuesday by two Valley assemblymen.

Corpus Christi in Danger

Beulah Strikes at 160 m.p.h.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex (AP)—Hurricane Beulah, a vicious storm that took nearly 30 lives, crashed inland today and spun off killing and destructive tornadoes.

The Weather Bureau placed the eye of the hurricane near Harlingen at a late hour after the storm's center swept ashore at the mouth of the Rio Grande, the river that separates Texas and Mexico.

Hurricanes normally begin a great curve toward the northeast when they hit land and this does not rule out the possibility it might turn into the Gulf of Mexico again

But it eased the severity of the forecasts for Corpus Christi, 160 miles north of Brownsville, where the Weather Bureau earlier predicted Beulah would hit with storm-driven tides of possible historic heights.

At Corpus Christi, rain and wind hit and some trees toppled, but traffic remained heavy on streets and many business houses remained open

The force of the winds, once estimated at 160 miles per hour while the hurricane was in the Gulf of Mexico, began to drop Beulah was 600 miles in diameter.

An estimated 30,000 persons on the United States side of the Rio Grande fled to safer ground ahead of the hurricane. Ham radio operators said a Mexican village suffered heavy damage Tornadoes spawned by the hurricane dipped down along the coast for more than 250 miles to the north

Tornadoes Kill 3

The tornadoes killed at least three persons Another was missing as half a dozen of the twisters struck, destroying homes and wrecking automobiles

Lt Cmdr. Frank C Nelson, a hurricane hunter pilot, called Beulah "about the biggest, nastiest storm I've ever seen."

The tornadoes a phenomenon of big hurricanes, killed three persons at Palacios midway between Houston and Corpus Christi on Matagorda Bay Another person was missing as a single tornado struck Palacios four times, destroying three homes and wrecking automobiles

The tornado deaths brought the toll of Beulah to 27 since it was spawned in the Atlantic Ocean days ago, with one person missing Heaviest death toll was in the Caribbean and the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico

All along the middle Texas Coast, winds and rains heralded the approach of Beulah

The weather bureau said the hurricane will set off rains of up to 10 inches for 50 miles inland and warned of rain floods as well as destructive tides

Hurricane Carla

For comparison, famous Hurricane Carla, which struck the Texas coast Sept 11, 1961, had winds estimated at 175 m p h —only slightly higher than Beulah's at her peak. Although a half million persons fled inland, 40 persons died and damage was estimated at $500 million The state's most killing hurricane occurred at Galveston in 1900 when 6,000 to 8,000 persons died—there was no

3 Egyptian Boats Sunk

45 Soldiers Reportedly Aboard Suez Patrol; Cairo Issues Denial

TEL AVIV (AP) Israeli tank gunners sank three Egyptian patrol boats carrying about 45 armed and helmeted soldiers today after Egypt twice tried to ferry them down the blocked Suez Canal, an Israeli armed forces spokesman said

About 15 Egyptians in fatigue uniforms jumped from each craft into the canal after tanks fired on them at dawn and again about 2½ hours later, sources said They were seen struggling in the water and several casualties were reported

An Egyptian official in Cairo denied the Israeli claim charging that the Israelis opened fire without provocation on Egyptian positions across the 100-yard wide canal He maintained no Egyptian boats were on the waterway

Create Tension

Israeli observers in Tel Aviv accused Egypt of attempting to create tension to coincide with the opening sessions of the U N General Assembly in New York

Sources in Cairo later reported a brief exchange of fire between Egyptian and Israeli forces at the canal

The incidents occurred near the Red Sea end of the 114-mile waterway which has been closed since the Middle East war in June A seven-hour artillery and naval battle between Israeli and Egyptian forces broke out in the same area Sept 4

The Israeli army said the Egyptians violated a U N agreement to keep the canal free of traffic when they sent six small boats loaded with soldiers south of the town of Port Tauliq at 6 15 a m Two boats were hit and sunk by tank fire, the Israelis reported

Two and a half hours later, the Israelis said the Egyptians tried to send two more boats down the canal and Israeli fire from the east bank hit one of them

No Israeli casualties were reported

The outbreak followed a series of firefights across the waterway since the major Sept 4 battle in which the Egyptians said Israeli fire into the canal side towns of Port Suez and Port Tauliq left 44 civilians dead and 170 wounded

That fighting broke out U N truce observers reported later, when Egyptian shore batteries opened fire on Israeli patrol boats

Most Residents Take to Flight, Some Decide to Ride Out Storm

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The hermit knew the hurricane was coming but he wouldn't run—not until a judge made him do it.

A handful of stalwarts committed themselves to ride out the blast in an old two-story house in an island fishing village

Refugees streamed northward in cars and trucks or fled to hometown shelters where they sang and danced, "almost like a fiesta."

A beachfront tavern owner decided to open the doors and just watch the water rush through.

These were some of the answers to a civil defense official's question. "How do you get ready for something like this?"—the all-inclusive "this" meaning Hurricane Beulah, a monster of a storm slowly trundling toward the lower Texas coast

Most residents of Port Aransas were evacuated Tuesday, and ferry service was stopped. The only other entry, a farm road down Padre Island, was cut by rising waters Tuesday night.

"There are about 20 persons left over there," said a deputy sheriff. "They are pretty well cut off now and I don't think they could get out if they wanted to." He said they were in "an old two-story house that has withstood a number of hurricanes and they think they will be all right.

"The water is already up to the dunes, so I imagine they are on the second floor now," the deputy said

Another handful—16 to 20 persons—refused to leave Port Isabel, said Harry Lewis of Brownsville, an attorney who took over as civil defense director for Cameron County

Refugees fleeing northward drove as far as San Antonio, 275 miles from Brownsville, moved in heavily loaded cars and trucks, some of them towing big pleasure boats.

"We're about as ready as we can get," Lewis said "But how do you get ready for some-thing like this?"

In Brownsville about 5,000 persons- about one-tenth of the population, gathered in schools, churches and the civic center to escape the hurricane.

A total of 1,161 persons crowded into the auditorium of the civic center, the largest shelter in Brownsville

In family groups, they drew together in circles of chairs, watching their children play and feeding themselves from portable ice chests filled with food and drink.

"It's almost like a fiesta," said Leroy H Haverlah Jr., 28, a social worker. "People are laughing and enjoying getting together The worst part will come tomorrow when many of them will go home and find their houses gone."

One-Vote Margin

House Gives Initial Approval To $40 Million to Fight Rats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, by one vote, has tentatively approved a $40 million increase in funds authorized for rat extermination and other state health programs.

If sustained on a vote scheduled for today, the action could partially erase what many members consider a black mark on the House for its rejection in July of the administration's $40 million rat control bill.

The measure adopted 129 to 128 Tuesday as an amendment to a $950 million health bill would increase the funds available for state public health programs by $20 million this year and $20 million next year.

Attack Program

When debate concluded for the night, Republicans were attacking an emergency $58 million hospital aid program included by Democrats in the bill.

Overwhelming passage of the House measure was expected today after action on the two controversial portions.

While funds in the bill are given for the states to use according to their needs, backers of the additional $40 million indicated they hope it would go largely for rat control Twelve states have included rat control in programs developed under the health act passed initially last year

The amendment was sponsored by Reps. Henry S Reuss, D-Wis., and Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., both of whom supported the administration's effort in July to set up a new rat control program in the Department of Housing and Urban Development

"The rat is more than the carrier of disease," Mathias said "He has become the symbol of official cynicism"

Rep. Melvin R Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference and senior GOP member of the Appropriations subcommittee that considered health funds, said additional money was unnecessary this year but was needed next year.

He said the number one health problem is not rats but venereal disease.

International Nuclear Problems

U.S.-Soviet Pact Seals Fate of 1963 American Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons as proposed by the United States and the Soviet Union seals the fate of the 1963 American proposal for a multilateral nuclear naval force in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The draft put forward in the Geneva disarmament negotiations says: "Each nuclear weapons state party to this treaty undertakes not to transfer to any recipient whatsoever nuclear weapons or other explosive devices or control over such weapons or explosive devices."

The United States once planned the so-called MLF as a force of 25 surface ships armed with Polaris nuclear missiles and manned by crews of mixed nationalities from any NATO countries that would join.

Go to MLF

When the United States first submitted a draft treaty against the spread of nuclear weapons in Geneva on Aug. 17, 1965, the wording would have let them go to the MLF. The treaty would have pledged nuclear powers "Not to transfer any nuclear weapons into the national control of any nonnuclear state" and "Not to take any other action which would cause an increase in the total number of states and other organizations having independent power to use nuclear weapons."

That would have allowed the transfer of such arms to the MLF, as multinational rather than national.

The Soviet Union denounced this as a device to let West Germany get nuclear weapons through MLF. In submitting its own treaty draft in 1965 it sought to kill the MLF idea by keeping states with nuclear weapons from transferring them "to the ownership or control of states or groups of states not possessing such weapons."

Discussed in Geneva

The Soviet and U.S. drafts were discussed together in the Geneva negotiations. On March 21, 1966, the United States amplified its draft to forbid transferring nuclear weapons "into the control of any association of nonnuclear-weapon states."

That did not necessarily mean the United States could not put nuclear weapons on board ships of the MFL. It had always intended to retain final control of them by holding a veto in the committee to manage the force.

The amendment did not achieve its purpose of bringing the Russians around. They remained critical. Last October the Soviet Union charged that West Germany was "persistently seeking to create multilateral NATO nuclear forces."

But the MFL idea was on the decline.

President John F. Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan first spoke of it in the communique summing up their meeting in the Bahamas in December, 1962. Their idea was that it should consist of Polaris submarines.

Surface Ships Better

Livingston Merchant, Kennedy's special representative, told the NATO council in Paris the following Feb. 27 that the United States had decided surface ships would be better.

Britain joined in the agreement, while West Germany, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Belgium and the Netherlands supported it. France was against it.

Later the British fell away from it, and most of the others cooled off too. Finally the United States proposed a nuclear strategic committee as another way of satisfying West Germany's wish to share in making NATO nuclear strategy.

In Paris last Dec. 14, the NATO Ministerial Council established a committee for nuclear defense affairs and a subordinate nuclear planning group with West Germany in both.

Nobody needed MFL now, and it was no longer an issue in negotiations for a nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

The nonnuclear countries raised other issues. These are so tough that the U.S. and Soviet disarmament negotiators are reported planning to continue private talks in Geneva after the General Assembly opens Sept. 19 in hopes of getting an acceptable treaty before the assembly gets to disarmament late in October.

Appleton 3rd In Survey Response

Appleton is among 28 of 41 Wisconsin cities whose residents have returned more than 60 per cent of the questionnaires mailed in the statewide Home Fallout Protection Survey conducted by the Bureau of Civil Defense.

Appleton's percentage was 64.5. This compares with a 71.4 percentage from New Berlin and a 70.8 per cent return from Brookfield, the only two cities that exceeded 70 per cent.

Overall, 57.1 per cent of the questionnaires have been returned from the cities. Questionnaires mailed to close outlying areas show a 64.7 per cent return.

The data thus far gathered show that 2,309 homes with basements have specially-built fallout shelters and that 54 homes without basements have shelters. This is based on reports from about 310,000 homes with basements and 13,000 homes without basements.

In addition, 2,685 dwelling units with a capacity for 55,166 persons which meet minimum standards set by the federal government have been indicated in the data.

Trained Vietnamese Prefer Life Overseas to Homeland

By KENNETH L. WHITING

SAIGON (AP) — A brain drain of skilled Vietnamese who prefer to live elsewhere nags this nation.

Some have used American scholarships as one-way tickets to escape their war-racked country. Others have lived overseas — usually in France — for many years and apparently have little intention of returning.

Exit visas are not granted easily to average Vietnamese. Reports persist that the wealthy can usually obtain permits by paying large sums under the table.

France does not require an entry visa for Vietnamese nationals.

Officials say at least 12,600 Vietnamese nationals live there.

Had Scholarships

Hundreds of French scholarships were once given to Vietnamese each year. The Saigon government now bars them.

There are an estimated 1,100-1,200 Vietnamese physicians in this nation of 16 million. Some 700 are in the armed forces. Another 299 work for the health ministry and usually practice privately on the side.

At least 700 other Vietnamese doctors live and work in France.

Officials report that 3,299 Vietnamese traveled to the United States or other countries under American sponsorship from 1959 to June 1966.

These included Vietnamese who spent a few weeks at an American-backed rice research center in the Philippines and those who took years to earn undergraduate and graduate degrees at universities in the United States.

A chartered plane departed last month with 118 scholars, including 49 war veterans, who will study English for six months in California and enter schools and universities there in September.

A U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) statement said these full-expense scholarships are to prepare Vietnamese "to assume responsible positions upon completion of training and return to Vietnam."

Blame Misuse

Some blame for the brain drain has been placed on misuse of qualified persons who return. One case cited by Americans: a talented electrical engineer was put in charge of a warehouse.

At least 32 of those who studied in America between 1959 and 1966 moved on to France and 12 went to other countries instead of returning to Vietnam. Six others simply dropped from sight, nine married Americans and 11 wed Vietnamese living in the United States.

The United States is stepping up efforts to improve the educational system here to relieve the need to send students overseas.

United States support also is being funneled into the expansion of teacher training. Emphasis is placed on helping female teachers not subject to military service.

Meantime, 400-500 students will continue to be chosen each year for American-financed training abroad.

The four unbeaten teams in the Mid-Eastern Conference are matched in weekend contests which should go a long way in determining the eventual outcome of the 1967 race.

Kicking off the activity is a Friday night contest in which Shawano and Kimberly will clash on the Papermaker gridiron.

Three games are on tap Saturday with Clintonville invading Neenah in the feature attraction. Other tilts have Kaukauna traveling to Two Rivers and New London will be at Menasha.

Last weekend's winning teams showed a variety of attacks. Neenah displayed a crunching ground game in rolling to 401 yards against Two Rivers for a 42-0 victory, Kimberly's defense stood out again in a 13-7 win over Kaukauna, Clintonville's beating Menasha, 21-0, and Shawano mixed running and passing to down New London, 20-0.

Kimberly's defense, which held a usually-hard running Kaukauna team to 45 yards gained, will get the test of the Waukau brothers Friday night. Jeff and Orman Waukau were the standouts for the Indians against New London. Jeff, a 190-pound junior back, picked up 82 yards rushing and Orman, the quarterback, hit on five of eight passes for 93 yards.

Red Sox Beat Tigers, 4-2, Share Lead With Twins

Wilson's Wild Pitch Fatal to Detroit; White Sox Win Behind Horlen, Trail by Half Game

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave Boswell and Earl Wilson took a short walk on the wild side. Boswell found his way back to Easy Street but Wilson ran into a dead end.

Boswell overcame a severe backache and early control problems Tuesday night and finished with a brilliant two-hitter as the Minnesota Twins held a share of the American League lead by pounding Kansas City 8-2

The victory kept the Twins tied for first place with the Boston Red Sox, who scored the winning run on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Wilson, Detroit's 21-game winner, during a three-run ninth-inning spurt that caged the Tigers 4-2.

Detroit fell into the fourth spot in the hectic stretch race, one game behind the leaders and one-half length back of the Chicago White Sox, who blanked California 3-0 on Joe Horlen's six-hitter

Orioles Win, 3-0

Baltimore shut out the New York Yankees 3-0 and Cleveland zipped Washington 2-0 in other AL games.

Boswell, a rangy, 22-year-old fireballer, breezed to his 14th victory after being hurt by five walks, two wild pitches and a hit batsman in the first four innings He struck out eight and retired 16 of the last 17 batters he faced

The Minnesota right-hander said his wildness was due, in part, to a sore back "I decided I'd have to bend more and get the ball low in spite of the pain," he said.

The Twins, breaking out of a week-long hitting slump, tagged Jim Nash for four runs in the early innings, then struck for four unearned runs in the seventh after Sal Bando's error opened the gates.

"Now it's all up to us," Manager Cal Ermer said. "We have eight of the last 10 at home and our pitching rotation is straightened out. If the good Lord's willing, we'll win it."

"There's no point in worrying about the other teams," added Allison. "You can't play the scoreboard "

Adair Singles

The Red Sox were down 2-1 on the scoreboard at Detroit when Jerry Adair reached southpaw Mickey Lolich for a leadoff single in the ninth, Carl Yastrzemski drew a walk and George Scott tied the score with a single to center.

Lolich, who had allowed only four hits while striking out 13 through the eighth, then was

Coach Satisfied With Progress

Vikings Slated to be At Full Strength for Opener Against Coe

Satisfaction over pre-season drills and an eagerness for the first game of the 1967 season was expressed by Lawrence University Head Football coach Ron Roberts today as the Vikings tapered off workouts.

Lawrence, a defending co-champion along with Ripon and St Olaf colleges, will open the campaign playing Coe at Cedar Rapids, Ia., Saturday.

Roberts, in looking at the prospects for Saturday's tilt, said he had changed his thinking about the Coe team after looking at the roster. The Kohawks will be able to field a team sporting a letterman at every position. The entire Coe starting lineup returns on offense, and several of the offensive starters go both ways

Lawrence has not played Coe for the last two years in the conference The last time the two teams did meet was in 1964 when the Kohawks won the title and defeated Lawrence in the process.

Good Workouts

Roberts said his own squad has had a good series of workouts in preparation for the season.

"We had a number of injuries in the early drills, but we should be at full strength for Saturday," the Lawrence mentor said. "We have been very pleased with the progress of the boys and feel that with the added depth and experience we are a stronger team now than we were a year ago at this stage "

The Vikes went through an intra-squad game last Saturday and capped off heavy drills Tuesday with a scrimmage which put the accent on defense against anticipated Coe plays

"In view of the fact we may be running into some hot weather at Coe Saturday, we will be taking along two full units, both on offense and defense," Roberts pointed out. "In addition, with Coe expected to be much stronger than anticipated, we will have to go all out. We expect this to be one of the toughest openers we have had "

The starting backfield for the Vikes will be the same as closed out the season last fall Chuck McKee, all-conference pick, will handle the quarterbacking with Steve Figi and Dick Witte the running backs and Dave Mielke at wing back.

In the line, Gar Kellom will be at center, flanked by John Oppenheim and Pete Neulist at guards. The tackle spots will be manned by Paul Henningsen and Joe Patterson while Rod Clark and Rick Miller will be the ends.

Other players expected to see action with the offensive unit include Larry Einspahr, split end; Bill Baird, guard; Dave Frasch, quarterback; Tom Vanderhyden, halfback and Paul Rechner, halfback

The defensive unit for the Vikes includes Bob McKee, middle guard; Dale Schuparra and Jim Mergott, ends, with Mike Andrews and Dennis DeCock, tackles. Gary Hietpas and Ted Hope will be the linebackers Hietpas is co-captain along with Chuck McKee, and Hope is the lone sophomore to break into the defensive starting lineup

The deep backs for the defense will be the same as a year ago with Ken Koskelin, John Biolo, Chip Taggart and Dennis Kirchoff ready to go.

Others who have been impressive on defense and are expected to see action include Pete Saving, end; Tim Meyer, linebacker, Patterson, a 237-pound tackle; Einspahr and Rechner.

Pitts Ties for NFL Scoring Lead; Starr Ranks Ninth in Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Elijah Pitts of the Green Bay Packers is in a seven-way tie for the National Football League scoring lead.

Pitts, who scored two touchdowns against the Detroit Lions Sunday, has 12 points.

Donny Anderson of the Packers ranks second in punt returns with an average of 21 3 yards per return.

Bart Starr of the Packers, the NFL's passing leader last season, was ranked ninth in the first week statistics. His ratio of interceptions zoomed to 17.4 per cent, the highest in the league. Starr threw four interceptions in the Detroit game.

NEW YORK (AP) — Three running backs gained more than 100 yards last sunday on the National Football League's opening day but the big surprise had to be Bill (Please Don't Call Me Willie) Asbury of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Johnny Roland, the 1966 rookie of the year, ran for 124 yards at St Louis in a losing cause. Dan Reeves, a key man on Dallas' champs of the East a year ago, gained 114 yards That was expected.

Asbury, supposed to be playing second fiddle to Earl Gros with the Steelers, rambled for 107 yards on 12 carries, scored two touchdowns and averaged 8.9 yards per carry. His longest run was a 73-yard jaunt on which he was caught from behind on the Bears' seven.

When Gros suffered a knee injury in training, Asbury got back his old starting job. He doesn't figure on giving it up.

"You sit around in the off season and you see pictures of Gale Sayers and Dick Bass and Leroy Kelly and you wish it were you," said Asbury after the game in Pittsburgh. "I figure you need three things to get 1,000 yards — a good offensive line, four or five good games and some big plays."

Michalske, Herber to be Feted on TV

GREEN BAY — Two former Green Bay Packer greats will receive special awards tonight.

Arnie Herber and Mike Michalske will receive rings designating membership in the pro football hall of fame on Channel 11's Packerama shows at 7 30 p.m. today.

The rings are gold with the player's name and three football figures on one side. The other side tells the player's position and has an engraving of the hall of fame

A large blue stone is set in the center of the ring with a headview of the player etched into the stone.

TV-11's Packerama program was chosen by Hall of Fame Director Richard McCann for the presentation.

The Lawrence University's starting defensive unit in Saturday's football opener at Coe College will include Appleton's Bob McKee (top) and Kaukauna's Mike Andrews, the latter was switched from the offensive backfield to the defensive line this season.

Wausau Rated First in State

Initial AP Poll Places Schofield Team Second

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Big River Conference power Wausau was rated Wisconsin's top high school football team today in the first Associated Pess "Big Ten" poll of the season.

The "Little Ten" listings, the ratings for Wisconsin's smaller schools, begin next week.

Wausau, unbeaten in three starts, was ranked sixth in the final "Big Ten" poll last season.

The Lumberjacks took the top spot by a slim margin over Schofield, also 3-0, the state's second-ranked school last season.

The ratings are based on votes by Wisconsin sports writers.

Third place went to Marshfield Columbus (3-0) while Milwaukee Suburban Conference power. Whitefish Bay (1-0) took fourth in the balloting

Madison Edgewood, unbeaten in 14 games, including three this season, was fifth and Milwaukee Boys Tech (1-0) was sixth.

Sturgeon Bay (3-0), unlisted last season, gained seventh place while Green Bay West (2-0) and Madison La Follette (1-0) tied for eighth place. All three

Coatta Sets UW Lineup for Tilt Against Huskies

Smith, McCauley, Bucciarelli to Join Boyajian in Backfield

MADISON (AP) — University of Wisconsin football coach John Coatta Tuesday named his tentative starting offensive and defensive lineups for the Badgers' season opener Saturday at Seattle.

Senior John Boyajian, the No 2 quarterback in Coatta's preseason plans, will get the starting signal caller's job, the coach said Top quarterback John Ryan "is making the trip and could play if we needed him," Coatta said

But Ryan has missed too much practice, due to a shoulder injury, to be ready for the starting job, Coatta said

Joining Boyajian in the starting backfield will be halfback John Smith, a junior college transfer; fullback Gale Bucciarelli; and flanker Tom McCauley

Last year's top ground gainer, Wayne Todd, has an arm injury, but resumed a full practice load Tuesday and will play behind Bucciarelli, Coatta said

Sophomore Mel Reddick and senior Bill Fritz will play ends

Junior College transfer Brandt Jackson and sophomore Dave O'Brien will be at tackles and junior Rex Blake will play center

Wally Schoessow will play one guard position and the other

'We Just Played Bad Football,' Says Spokesman

No Panic Shown by Bears

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "I don't think there's a thing wrong with the Bears "

Cherubic Dan Desmond, facing the inevitable questions in the wake of the Bruins' opening 41-31 loss to the suddenly formidable Pittsburgh Steelers, said it with a pardonable amount of indignation.

"We're no dog club," Dan, a Green Bay visitor Tuesday to report on the current state of the Midway Monsters, in preparation for Sunday's 97th collision with the Packers in Lambeau Field, stoutly insisted. "We're a well-constructed club."

Dan, however, made no attempt to explain away the Bears' Pittsburgh misadventure. "We just played bad football," he said flatly "We had five fumbles and lost four of them And we had two interceptions — one each of Larry Rakestraw and Rudy Bukich."

He also gave due credit to the enemy, asserting, "the Steelers were just higher than heck — and very well coached (by Bill Austin, former Packer line coach),"

103-Yard Runback

"The funny part of it was we had them down, 13-3 at one point in the first quarter — on a 103-yard runback of a kickoff by Gale Sayers and a 24-yard run with an interception by Roosevelt Taylor — and they hadn't seen our offense yet."

"You'd think they'd be frightened," Dan said, a little incredulously, "but they weren't."

The Bears' problems, he said, were basic — they seldom had the football. "The Steelers had the ball on 72 offensive plays," he revealed, "and we had it for 35."

"As a matter of fact, our quarterback, Larry Rakestraw, didn't get in until the 12th or 13th minute of the game . . . the Steelers received the opening kickoff and drove down for a field goal."

"Then, when they kicked off to us, Sayers ran it back 103 yards for a touchdown. And a little later, Rosie Taylor made that interception and ran it in to give us a 13-3 lead — and we still hadn't had the ball on offense."

Desmond added wryly, "Rakestraw's been waiting three years to throw his first pass for us in a league game and, when we finally do get the ball, our first play from scrimmage gains six yards, but we're called for holding."

Fail to Improve

Things, he further noted, failed to improve. "We had 18 running plays in all — for a net of 16 yards." Of these, the gifted Sayers emerged with the incredibly meager total of two yards in seven carries.

Although it was an admittedly

The Press Meets College Avenue

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton's new College Avenue met the press and vice versa Monday.

It all came about on a beautiful, sunny fall day thanks to the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce and Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL).

The AAL — one of the community's leading civic-minded corporate citizens — hosted regional newspaper, radio and television representatives at a noon reception — followed by what might be called a "Meet The Avenue" press conference.

Mayor George Buckley and other city officials, along with municipal department heads with a wealth of knowledge about the avenue reconstruction project, also attended.

"Style Show"

Later in the afternoon, College Avenue became the setting for a style show of its own — displaying its fine lines and beautification to photographers and TV lensmen.

It entailed telling the people of Wisconsin that Appleton accomplished with a minimum amount of 'pain' what many cities wish they could do — give the downtown a new facelifting.

Walter L. Rugland, president of AAL, captured the spirit when he told the group in a brief welcoming address, "We are interested and proud of College Avenue and the appearance the downtown is taking on."

"We appreciate the work the city council is doing to improve our city for the benefit of our corporate and individual citizens," Rugland added.

"Keep Growing"

And Harold Adams, chairman of the Chamber's Project '85 Committee, took it from there stressing the aim of his group and the citizenry should be to help keep Appleton growing.

"Let's make it more so a good place in which to live, work and do business," Adams urged.

Adams pointed with pride to aspects of the avenue reconstruction, citing that:

– It was a significance that the project was carried out without federal funding, the cost covered through special assessment of property owners, partially city funds and contributions — the latter a reference to the streetscaping program.

—Teamwork on the part of city officials, property owners, merchants, contractors and citizens spelled success for the major project.

—The reconstruction was but a segment of a continuing implementation of the city's comprehensive plan, which pinpoints needs and goals for the central business district and city as a whole over the next two decades.

—While a few die-hard objectors to the avenue project and beautification are still objecting, the finished product is expected to have general public acceptance.

"I believe the avenue reconstruction has helped start a cycle of very favorable growth," Adams asserted, claiming improvements have already attracted inquiries from outside developers, along with building up the downtown tax base.

Several city and Chamber oficials proceeded to field a variety of questions from newsmen eager to piece together the College Avenue Story.

Vinton Construction Co. of Manitowoc, the prime contractor, was heaped with praise as were firms that worked on the project.

There also was admission that while merchants had been "hurt" by the street-closing, it was not as much as expected.

Rehabilitation in Pittsburgh

Private Enterprise Eradicates Slum

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A couple of years ago Cora Street was a dirty, dark, rundown slum. Today it is bright, clean and cheerful. The people who live there are proud of it.

In between came a civic group convinced that private industry can do a better job of housing middle class families by rehabilitating slums than by rehabilitating slums than knocking the buildings flat and starting from scratch.

Action-Housing Inc., a civic organization, bought and rebuilt the 22 row houses along Cora Street as a pilot project to test its theory that massive rehabilitation could be profitable.

Action-Housing spent $230,000 of the money it gets from grants and donations. It broke even by selling the homes back to the landlords.

Massive Scale

But Director Bernard E. Loshbough said Cora Street could have been a money-maker. He has started a corporation designed to do the same job on a massive scale and make money. Fourteen businesses have pledged $1 million of the $3.1 million the corporation says it needs to get started.

For the tenants the advantages are more than a clean, pleasant, modern home.

"The people seem to be more neighborly," said Mrs. Richard Robinson of 536 Cora. "Before, you couldn't sit out on the porch and talk to people. Everybody kept to themselves."

The Robinsons are paying $90 a month rent. It used to be $67, but the new rent includes gas and lights. Mrs. Robinson figures she comes out even.

Clear $500

Loshbough said the Cora Street experience indicates that a profit-making corporation, using mass production techniques over a wide area, could clear $500 per unit.

That figure would rise sharply if labor costs were reduced, and the Pittsburgh Building Trades Council has already agreed to eradicate the strict jurisdictional lines that boost building costs.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and 38 other senators have been trying to get the federal government into the picture with a bill for a National Homeowners Foundation Act, which would make low-interest loans so tenants could become homeowners.

"I believe this example of private-sector action in Pittsburgh shows how large scale community improvement can be undertaken," Percy said on a visit to Cora Street.

There have been spinoff benefits at Cora Street too.

John Hall, the caretaker for the apartments, points to a house up the street with a new aluminum awning. Another has a new porch. The landlord has cleared the trash from the backyard of another.

A stranger wouldn't notice the changes. But Hall does. So does Mrs. Robinson.

Prison-Striped Shirt Lands Youth in Jail

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Bill Rentschler decked himself out in one of the convict-striped T-shirts that are the rage among teen-agers in his hometown and went riding through nearby Milton.

Two police officers pegged him for an escaped convict. "But I bought this shirt," protested the 17-year-old from Pace, Fla. The police took him to jail.

Rentschler telephoned his grandmother, whose explanation was enough to free him.

Little Red Wagons on Way to Asian Children

CAMP CARROLL, Vietnam (AP) — One thousand little red wagons are heading from the United States to South Vietnam to play a role in the other war.

"This kind of thing may be more important than shooting people," said M. Sgt. William D. Abbott, who came up with the wagon idea.

Abbott, a soft-spoken 39-year-old Marine, got to thinking about it after he saw a Vietnamese boy dragging a discarded ammunition box through the mud of a refugee village near this artillery post just south of the demilitarized zone.

Being pulled along inside the box was another Vietnamese child.

"I just thought it might be pretty nice if they had a real wagon," Abbott said.

He wrote his wife Madreen, in Stafford, Va., where she lives with their two children, and asked her to send him a couple of little red wagons. She did. One of them went to a Vietnamese child "and it must have 10,000 miles on it by now," Abbott said. He gave the second one to a Roman Catholic priest who helps handle the refugee families at nearby Cam Lo.

Then the word got around back in the states about the wagons, especially in the circles of the Amateur Trapshooting Association of America, in which Abbott and his wife have long been active. It snowballed and the trapshooters began "Operation Red Wagon." Money was raised at shooting events, starting last June 25 with the Fall Creek Valley Club at Anderson, Ind.

Enthusiastic Support

Abbott got the okay from his commanding officers to go ahead with the project on this end, and the enthusiastic endorsement of Hugh McKinley of Vandalia, Ohio, manager of the trapshooting association, and Ralph Taylor of Keedysville, Md., association president.

"I thought we might get enough money to buy 40 or 50 wagons, maybe a hundred at the most," Abbott said, "but the first thing I knew there was enough for a thousand."

The wagons cost $4 apiece in the United States. The shipping to South Vietnam is handled by the association and the Marines.

The wagon that Abbott gave the priest is used as a display model to let the refugee children know that more are on the way.

Rothwell Named To School Group

MADISON (AP)—The appointment of Angus B. Rothwell of Madison to the state Education Compact Commission was announced by Gov. Warren P. Knowles Tuesday.

Rothwell, executive director of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, will succeed Richard P. Bailey of Ashland.

Puppy Saves Mistress, Dies in Fire

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — The beagle barked frantically early in the morning trying to wake its mistress who had studied late the night before.

Cherlee Taylor, 18-year-old Contra Costa College student, finally was awakened by the barking and jumping on her bed Monday by 5-month-old Marty.

Miss Taylor opened the bedroom door of her second floor apartment and was met by a wall of flame. She wrapped a blanket around her shoulders and raced through the living room and front door.

Neighbors ripped the burning blanket from her.

Form 1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the year 1965, ending ... Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I just started my first job. How many exemptions should I claim for withholding purposes? I'd rather get a refund than have more taxes to pay next year.

A—If you claim no exemptions on your withholding certificate then more will be withheld from your paycheck than if you claim one exemption for yourself.

Note that if you do not claim all the exemptions you are entitled to on the withholding certificate filed with your employer, you have not forfeited your right to claim them at a later date. You can, and should, claim all the exemptions you are entitled to on your income tax return.

Q—My cleaning woman doesn't have a Social Security number. Should I just leave that information out when I file the quarterly return on the wages I pay her?

A—No, a Social Security number is needed so that her earnings may be properly credited to her account. This will help make sure that she receives the Social Security benefits she is entitled to.

Application for a Social Security number should be made on Form SS-5 available at local IRS and Social Security Administration offices.

Q—We have just adopted a child. Can we start claiming her as a dependent now for withholding purposes?

A—Yes. A legally adopted child is considered to be your child for dependency purposes.

Q—My income so far this year has been lower than I expected. Can I just forget about the next installment of my estimated tax or do I have to file an amended declaration?

A—If your tax liability appears to be greater or smaller than you originally estimated than an amended declaration should be filed. You will find the form for doing this printed on the bill for the third installment which is due September 15.

If you do not receive a quarterly bill, send a postcard to ask your local IRS office for a copy of Form 1040-ES (Amended).

Q—I lost my refund check. Can I get another one?

A—Yes, telephone your local IRS office. They will explain the procedures for making a claim for a duplicate check.

Benin Follows Biafra

Oil-Rich Nigerian Midwest Secedes, Forms Republic

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A second former region of Nigeria declared itself an independent republic today.

Maj. Albert O. Okonkwo, military administrator of the oil-rich Midwest, declared his state the independent republic of Benin.

Benin joined Biafra in secession against federal Nigeria. Biafran forces took control of the 15,000-square-mile state Aug. 9. Federal forces reportedly in the outskirts of the capital, Benin city, drove in to retake it. Lagos radio broadcast the message, "The frogs are swimming," amid reports that troops landed last week at Escravos on the Midwest coast were driving toward Warri, about 40 miles north.

Okonkwo, who had been reported leaving Benin for the predominately Ibo tribe areas east of the Midwest town of Agbor, broadcast the independence announcement over Benin radio.

He said the military regime in Lagos and Northern Nigeria "tried to impose an unacceptable type of government on our people, then declared war on Biafra and the people of the Midwest."

Okonkwo, a medical doctor trained in the United States, was named military administrator by Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu who declared Eastern Nigeria independent Biafra May 30.

Okonkwo said Benin would "collaborate with Biafra in all military matters." He said the republic would support the Organization of African Unity and apply for U.N. membership.

Pan American Flights Delayed

Striking Air Clerks Ignore Work Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking Pan American World Airways workers ignored back-to-work court orders and peace-making efforts of federal mediators today in a walkout that slowed operations of the nation's biggest overseas airline.

"There are pickets at every station," said a spokesman for the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, "and there are long delays on all flights." However, a Pan American spokesman in New York said the planes were flying.

It was not immediately clear how many of the 7,000 clerks, ticket agents and cargo handlers were striking.

Bargaining Rights

The dispute involves wages and a battle between the clerks and the Teamsters Union for bargaining rights for the 7,000 workers involved.

"No officer of the union has been served with any court order," the clerks' spokesman said.

A federal judge in New York declared the strike illegal and another, in Honolulu, ordered strikers there back to work.

The union declined to disclose the whereabouts of union president C. L. Dennis.

"He's probably busy running the strike," the union spokesman said.

"We can't find him," said a government source.

Chicago Workers

In Chicago, union local chairman Beverly McRae said she wouldn't withdraw picket lines until served with a copy of the restraining order issued in New York. Most of the 150 Chicago Pan American workers refused to work.

New York union official Thomas King said no legal order to end the strike had been served and that strikers at Kennedy Airport were waiting word from top union officials. Some 75 workers struck at Kennedy Airport.

The National Mediation Board said it had received no reply from the union to a request to call off the strike pending mediation efforts. A spokesman said the federal agency was assigning a docket number to the dispute, requiring under federal law a return to pre-strike conditions.

Queen Christens 'Elizabeth II'

CLYDEBANK, Scotland (AP) — Britain's newest ocean liner was christened Queen Elizabeth II today. The monarch whose name she bears launched her into the River Clyde with the crack of a magnum of champagne on her bows.

Up to now the ship had been known only as Q4. Her predecessor, the old Queen Elizabeth, is going out of service soon.

"May God bless her and all who sail in her," said the queen, and an emotional roar erupted from 30,000 throats as the liner glided down the slipway, sending a huge wave rolling across the river.

Students Warned To Stay Off Drugs At Bryn Mawr

SWARTHMORE, Pa. (AP) — Officials at Bryn Mawr College have told students that if they plan to take drugs, then stay home and don't come to school.

"We thought we had no drug problem," said Miss Katherine E. McBride, college president, Tuesday, "but at the end of the college year, we were not so sure some students were not involved."

Letters telling the students to stay off drugs while at school were sent to each of the 790 undergraduates.

"Any student who is using drugs or has any question should see her doctor at home. She should not plan to attend Bryn Mawr unless she is convinced she will not be using drugs," said the letter.

Mideast Crisis Answer Goal of U.N. President

Romanian First Communist to Lead General Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's new Communist president called on the 122 member states to embark today on a study aimed at finding a "lasting solution" to the Middle East problem.

Tall, silver-haired Corneliu Manescu, foreign minister of Romania, is the first Communist to be assembly president. He was elected Tuesday in a secret ballot with 112 votes for him to 10 for Tanzanian Ambassador John W. S. Malecela.

The assembly's prime duty, said Manescu, 51, is "to concentrate its efforts upon a thorough study of this (the Middle East) problem that could lead to a lasting solution in keeping with the vital interests of the peoples of that region."

The dispute was handed to the assembly by the emergency session that met after the six-day June war between Israel and the Arabs but could agree on no solutions. The Middle East dilemma headed the list of 96 items on the proposed agenda for the 22nd session.

Other key issues were the problem of substituting U.N. for South African control in South-West Africa, the question of seating Communist China and the means of achieving disarmament.

A Big Four discussion on the Middle East is a possibility with the arrival in New York of foreign ministers from the Soviet Union, France, England and the United States.

Dirksen in Convention Limelight

Percy Likely to be Illinois' Favorite Son

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the 58-vote Illinois delegation ratifies the deal, Sen Charles H. Percy will get the state's favorite son designation and Sen. Everett M Dirksen will claim a limelight at the 1968 Republican convention.

Percy, a relative liberal and a dove on the Vietnam war, got clearance Tuesday from Dirksen, the conservative GOP leader of the Senate and a hard-liner on Vietnam, for home base support to prospect the Republican presidential nomination field.

The price tag on this agreement is the expected designation of Dirksen as chairman of the state delegation, his appointment to the national platform drafting committee and his selection as chairman of that group

Dirksen looks to this forum, with its attendant glare of public exposure, to further his campaign for re-election to a fourth Senate term. Dirksen, who will be 72 in 1968, may find the going tough, particularly if Democrat Adlai Stevenson III is his opponent.

The Dirksen-Percy accommodation, worked out in the interest of Illinois GOP unity, will require the cooperation of convention delegates elected in next June's primary.

In 1964 the Illinois delegation stuck with Barry Goldwater like paper on the wall. There is no positive assurance an organization-oriented delegation will go along with Percy, who is not exactly a favorite with party conservatives

Dirksen said in a statement drafted after consulting with Percy that there are some "mechanical problems" about designating his colleague as a favorite son but "I don't believe they are unsurmountable."

While he put Percy "high on any list" of possibilities for the nomination, he said when asked whether the junior senator is a "serious candidate " "I refuse to be entrapped" by an answer

He turned off questions about possible support for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov Ronald Reagan of California But he indicated he expects the delegation to look over the field after a complementary first ballot vote for Percy

While Dirksen said he has "absolutely no . personal desires or ambition" to become a favorite son, he declined to close the door against such a possibility if other arrangements fell through.

Two First Ladies To Arrive Friday

MADISON (AP)--Mrs Lyndon B Johnson and Mrs Hubert H Humphrey, the two first ladies of the land, will arrive here Friday for a two-day tour of the arts, architecture and agriculture

And, though their husbands are Democrats, they'll be overnight guests at the executive mansion of Republican Gov. and Mrs Warren P Knowles Friday night

The White House women and their party began a seven-state trip today with visits to Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and South Dakota on the agenda, along with Wisconsin.

Embassy in Saigon

Hint of Red Chinese Intrigue

SAIGON (AP) — The bombing of the Nationalist Chinese Embassy in Saigon may have been touched off by intrigues among Communist members of this city's Chinese community rather than Viet Cong terrorists, intelligence sources said today.

The sources say they are convinced that the blast Tuesday was meant to kill the Chinese ambassador, Hu Lien, a four-star general.

The explosion at the embassy, two blocks from the U.S. Embassy in downtown Saigon, heavily damaged the two-story building and injured scores of embassy personnel No one in the embassy was killed

The bomb in a satchel, was carried into the visa section of the embassy, just below the ambassador's second-floor office.

"The ambassador is a man of very precise routine and he should have been in his office and the bomb would have got him there But luckily he had just been called out of his office when the bomb went off." the intelligence officer said

The ambassador was not injured, Col Charles T Chung, the chief intelligence officer of the embassy, also escaped injury in the blast

But a woman followed him to his home in Cholon, the Chinese quarter of Saigon, and shot him in the back as he stood in front of his home. Chung turned around to take the gun away from the woman and was shot, again, in the thigh. He is in serious condition at a hospital and the woman assailant, of Chinese descent, was captured.

Evacuees Gay

The 30,000 Texans who fled inland or sought other shelter did so almost gaily, but at neighboring Matamoros, Mexico, across from Brownsville, officials reported fear and confusion

Ham radio operators at the tiny town of Valley Hermoso, Mexico, 15 miles south of Brownsville said the community was nearly wiped out Many residents fled before the winds hit

Beulah earlier was blamed for 24 deaths—23 in the Eastern Caribbean and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and one when big waves rolling up from the Gulf of Mexico flung a 15-year-old girl from her surfboard near Freeport, south of Houston

Gov John Connally called out about 1,300 National Guardsmen

The weather bureau called for immediate evacuation of Rockport Fulton, Aransas Pass and low parts of Ingleside, and for the Lamar and Goose Island areas and at the University of Corpus Christi All are in the Corpus Christi area

Brownsville Isolated

A possible spinoff from Beulah occurred at Hungerford, a small town about 50 miles southwest of Houston, where a resident reported "a twister just took the roof off my barn and a neighbor's house "

Except for a few telephone lines Brownsville was isolated by the storm The hurricane uprooted giant palms, battered buildings and flailed Rio Grande Valley citrus groves

Beulah blasted all Brownsville power off. The city's lights blinked out in segments as the storm's fury grew.

A policeman reporting in from a patrol said he saw roofs blown off a house and an old tollhouse on the Rio Grande, watched a tin shed over the customs house over a new Rio Grande bridge sail away and saw an automobile showroom's big windows crash in

The Red Cross reported 30,622 evacuees reached 158 emergency shelters at scattered points by 5 a m It said there were 622 shelters available with a total capacity of 492,000

Lake Water Endangered By Oil Slicks

CHICAGO (AP)—Massive oil slicks stretching along a 75-mile span on Lake Michigan are threatening beaches and water supplies in the Chicago area, a city official said Tuesday

Vinton W Bacon, general superintendent of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, called the slicks "The worst case of pollution I've seen in Lake Michigan "

Bacon examined the oil slicks from a helicopter Tuesday and cautioned that if winds changed, beaches in the Chicago area could become as fouled as those in England after the ship the Torrey Canyon broke up and spilled millions of gallons of oil into the sea.

Coast Guard crews were searching for the source of the oil. Capt John Nawtig, port captain of the Coast Guard in Chicago, said the investigation is centering around Indiana Harbor where the oil seems to be the thickest

'68s Top Secrets are here

1968 Chevrolets

The 1968 Chevrolets are the very essence of modern design. Every line, every curve is in close harmony. It's a smooth, uncluttered look with roof lines compatible with body lines, grilles and bumpers that blend gracefully into long, rounded fenders. Clean, flowing, beautiful in their simplicity, these '68 Chevrolets are rich and advanced in styling beyond any you've ever seen.

A MORE SILENT RIDE

And for 1968, we've gone to every length to give you more peace and quiet inside. The most sophisticated computers have been used to strategically place body mounts and successfully isolate noise and vibration. Shock absorbers have been improved. The wheel stance on many models is wider for greater smoothness. Exhaust systems have been redesigned to make them whisper-quiet. Even the clocks tick more softly. A sound car is a silent car. The '68 Chevrolets are the most silent, highest quality cars we've ever built.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

here are new engines, a bigger standard Six and V8. There's a new 250-hp V8 you can order that runs on regular fuel. Many new components increase engine dependability. There's a new rear axle ratio you can add for greater economy. On most engines equipped with automatic transmissions, there's a special heater for the carburetor which gives you more efficient performance in cold weather. And with every engine, you get the new GM exhaust emission control.

UNIQUE ASTRO VENTILATION

There's a whole new idea in ventilation, called Astro Ventilation, for Camaro, Corvette and the elegant Caprice Coupe. It's also available on many other models. By opening two new vent-ports on the instrument panel, you bring in outside air that can be directed where you want it. This way, you can leave your windows rolled up and add still more to your quiet.

PROVED SAFETY FEATURES

You get the proved GM-developed energy absorbing steering column, folding front seat back latches, dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, plus many more new features. Among them: energy absorbing front seat backs, and safety armrests that shield the door handles.

MUCH MORE THAT'S NEW

There are new roof lines, some formal and graceful, others sporty and quick. There are new instrument panels, richly designed and all controls within easy reach. There are new interiors, new vinyls, new fabrics, new colors. There are models with Hide-A-Way windshield wipers and headlights that disappear behind grilles. There are new side marker lamps, new recessed taillights. There's even a new ignition alarm buzzer that reminds you not to walk away and leave your keys in the car.

These are the newest, the most different, the most dramatically changed Chevrolets ever. And they're at your Chevrolet dealer's now. You'll thoroughly enjoy slipping behind the wheel, experiencing the smooth new handling and library-quiet ride and, more than anything, seeing and feeling the even greater quality built into every new Chevrolet for 1968.

Be smart! Be sure! Buy now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

'Catfish' Mayfield Sounds Off

Slum Kid Describes 'The Problem' To Most Powerful Men in Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-year-old Negro slum kid Rufus "Catfish" Mayfield stood at the podium in the glittering Regency Room of Washington's Shoreham Hotel.

He wore a sweatshirt, and he stood above New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay and talked to some of the most powerful and important people in the United States.

The dignitaries were there for the one-day "emergency convocation" of a new group called the Urban Coalition, and Catfish was telling them he was hurt because they hadn't invited him.

He pointed out they were there to decide what to do about "The Problem," and he said "I know what it is."

Head of Pride, Inc.

They applauded Rufus Mayfield, who was just another angry young man on the streets until last month when he became head of a Washington youth improvement group known as Pride Inc.

"Mr. Mayfield," said tall, aristocratic Andrew Heiskell, chairman of the board of Time, Inc., "I am sorry you were not invited."

Mayfield's appearance at the open-discussion end of the one-day conference recently emphasized by contrast the kind of people among the 1,100 delegates.

They were the potentates of the nation's cities: mayors like Lindsay and Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit and Richard J. Daley of Chicago; businessmen like Henry Ford II of the Ford Motor Co. and David Rockefeller of the Chase Manhattan Bank; and labor leaders like George Meany of the AFL-CIO and Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers.

Riot Damage

The big names were there because of the riots that have rent the fabric of the nation's cities this summer. Several speakers said what is at stake is not only the existence of the cities but of the nation itself.

The convocation was called by Urban America, Inc., along with the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the National League of Cities.

Perhaps one-third of the delegates were businessmen, said Heiskell, co-chairman of the conference and chairman of Urban America.

Does this mean business is about to take a much greater role in solving city problems? Heiskell was asked.

Industry Commitment

"All I can say is, the industry (people) have committed themselves to one hell of a lot."

The newly formed Urban Coalition said in a statement "private industry must greatly accelerate its efforts to recruit, train and hire the hard-core unemployed."

But "when the private sector is unable to provide employment to those who are both able and willing to work," the group said, "then in a free society the government must of necessity assume the responsibility and act as the employer of last resort or must assure adequate income levels for those who are unable to work."

For the short run, the group decided, the private sector is unable to provide the jobs.

So the coalition recommended a federal emergency work program to provide jobs for one million of the unemployed "at the earliest possible moment."

Milwaukee Night Club Owner Sentenced for $20,000 Tax Evasion

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Milwaukee nightclub operator Frank P. Balistrieri, 49, was sentenced to two years in prison and fined $10,000 Monday in federal court here, after being convicted of income tax evasion.

Balistrieri, who posted $15,000 bond pending appeal, was found guilty by a jury last Mar. 23 of evading $8,828 in taxes for 1959 and $11,752 for 1960.

Pathet Lao Reported Drafting Women, Monks for Fighting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Refugees from a Communist controlled province say the Pathet Lao guerrillas are ordering Buddhist monks to military duty and drafting women to fight in the front lines, reliable sources report.

If the reports are true, it would be a major shift in Pathet Lao policy. Communist-leaning Prince Souphanouvong always has made it a point to be lenient with monks and previously there had been few verified reports of Pathet Lao women rifle carriers.

The sources said refugees from Xieng Khouang Province in north-central Laos told them women, as well as men, aged 15 to 40 are liable to be drafted for combat duty.

Two 14-year-old girls were quoted as saying they fled when told they would become front line rifle carriers rather than rice and ammunition bearers, as they had been told when recruited. They also said they had seen one entire company of women soldiers.

A royal Laotian army officer said, however, the girls might have seen North Vietnamese or Viet Cong women troops, long used in Vietnam combat, moving down the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos.

Reports from the refugees said that not only do the unwarlike monks face the draft, but they also have been banned from their ancient customs of early morning rice begging and saying morning prayers.

One monk was quoted as saying he left Red-held territory because he feared conscription and punishment for draft dodging was "very severe." He said he expected a major recruitment drive would reach its peak by late September.

Debate Precedes Vote

Kaukauna Council Approves $10 Car Allowance for City Clerk

KAUKAUNA — A finance committee recommendation to continue the city clerk's $10 per month car allowance, which has been granted since February, caused considerable council debate Tuesday night before being approved.

Ald. William Rogers (5th) and Russel Dix (4th) fought against the allowance, both indicating it should be considered by the finance committee at budget time for inclusion in 1968. Ald. Jerry Klarer (4th) felt the clerk should be granted a 10-cents per mile allowance for using his private car on city business, as is granted other officials, but agreed with Rogers and Dix for delay of the flat rate until the 1968 budget.

Karl E Marzahl, city clerk, said the clerk always has had a car allowance and pointed out that other city officials also were granted car allowances for use of private vehicles.

Approve Report

With Dix and Rogers jumping to be heard, Ald. George Simon (3rd) asked Mayor Gilbert Anderson to enforce the council rule which prevents an alderman speaking twice on the issue without approval of the entire council. Ruling, enough had been said, the mayor asked for a vote on delaying a decision on the clerk's car allowance until the finance committee studied the 1968 budget.

Voting for the motion were Dix, Rogers, Klarer and Robert Vondracek (1st) and opposing were Ald. Clayton Blumreich (1st); Richard Gerrits and Lloyd Kloehn (2nd); Simon; James McDaniel (3rd), and Carl Engerson (5th). McDaniel pointed out, if a taxi was called every time the clerk was needed outside the office, it would cost the city much more than $10 per month.

A roll call vote of the finance committee report passed 6-4. The report also authorized the auditing of city books, and attendance of the city attorney at a Detroit convention Oct. 8-12.

Village Chief Urges Caution For School Bus

LITTLE CHUTE — Robert Nechodom, chief of p... has asked motorists to u... me caution when approachin... ool buses stopped to pick up or discharge youngsters within the village limits.

Kindergarten youngsters are being picked up and discharged Monday thrugh Friday from 8:15 to 9 a.m. and 12:30 to 1.15 p.m. at various points in the village. Buses are not permitted to use the flashing warning lights within the village and drivers are not required to stop for the loading or unloading of passengers, said the chief.

Extreme caution is urged by Nechodom since the very young, enthusiastic children are involved in the transportation.

No Decision on Thursday Night Hours in Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The Chamber of Commerce reached no decision on evening shopping hours Monday night, but decided to make a city-wide survey of all merchants, whether Chamber of Commerce members or not, to determine feelings on the subject.

Ballots were to be mailed today together with material explaining advantages of Thursday rather than Friday night shopping hours. Retail merchants are asked to state their preference and return ballots by mail or bring them to a 6:30 p.m. Monday meeting at the Hyland House at which time tabulating will take place and a decision reached.

The change in evening hours would be tried on a temporary basis until merchants can tell whether shopping response was improved or disrupted by the change.

Twin Cities Spokesman

Peter Bylow, representative of a Neenah bank who was in charge of the retail hours in that community, was on hand to answer questions concerning reaction of merchants of the Twin Cities to the change.

Thursday night is being considered for shopping since it is pay day for the majority of area industries, it prevents conflicts with high school athletic events or other school activities, it is the night used by many food chains to run store specials and it would permit shopping by persons who leave the community after work Friday evenings for a long weekend of camping or staying at a cottage.

The retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce indicated it would set hours favored by the majority of merchants voting.

Alderman Wants Approval of Fast Fixing of Flats

KAUKAUNA - Ald Russel Dix (4th) failed to get a second to his motion to hold up payment on a $15 expenditure by the police department to replace a faulty tire on the police car.

Dix felt the purchasing committee should have been contacted before the tire was replaced, but Ald. Lloyd Kloehn (2nd) argued Dix was in error, as it was the duty of the chief of police to see that vehicles were kept in order. Kloehn felt Chief Harold Engerson should not be expected to call a purchasing committee meeting for every incidental item that came up.

Mayor Anderson agreed to furnish Dix with a written report of the duties of the council purchasing committee.

Nelson Wants Milk Price Increase

Special to The Post-Crescent

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A strong appeal for better milk prices for the nation's dairy farmers was made Wednesday by Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.).

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Nelson urged restoration of the support price for manufacturing milk to 90 per cent of parity and called for national hearings to consider raising fluid milk prices.

The Wisconsin senator noted that prices for manufacturing milk, used for cheese, butter and dried milk, have lingered below $4.00 per hundred pounds for several months. At 90 per cent of parity, farmers would receive approximately $4.25 or 9 cents per quart. Fluid milk is earmarked for bottled milk.

"Every available economic indicator points to the critical need for improving milk prices for our dairy farmers," Nelson said.

"This month Wisconsin dairy farmers are receiving 25 cents less than they did a year ago for a hundred pounds of milk," he said. "The national combined price for all grades of milk has tumbled 72 cents from $5.40 last October to a low of $4.68 in June."

Appleton Man Jailed, Fails to Pay $20 Fine

LITTLE CHUTE — Craig A Rogers, 34, 521 S Story St., Appleton, was picked up at his home Monday at the request of Little Chute police and confined to the Outagamie County jail for 15 days or until he pays a fine of $20 for making an unlawful right turn.

Rogers pleaded guilty to the traffic violation Sept. 11 and was given a week to pay the fine. When he did not appear before Municipal Justice, Raymond Sanders, Monday, the commitment order was given. He was arrested after a Sept. 16 accident.

Man Forfeits Bond of $245 in Village Court

LITTLE CHUTE — Joseph A Maxwell, 64, Milwaukee, forfeited bond of $245 on a charge of reckless driving reduced from operating a vehicle while intoxicated at the recommendation of the village attorney.

Maxwell was arrested Sept. 1, 1966 and had pleaded not guilty to the original charge. Since the arresting officer is no longer on the force, the reduced charge was recommended and accepted by Municipal Justice, Raymond Sanders.

Driver Uninjured, Car Demolished in Crash

CLINTONVILLE — The driver of a car in an accident at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, 2½ miles south of here on U.S. 45 escaped injury but his car was demolished.

Waupaca County police said Anthony M Nelson, 21, E Madison Apts., Clintonville, was going south and when he reached up to remove a moth from the visor, lost control of his car. The vehicle hit a mailbox, flipped off a telephone pole, hit the fence and a tree.

Illegal Turn, Mishap Results in $10 Fine

LITTLE CHUTE — Jerry A. Maalkens, 20, route 1, Argonne, pleaded guilty to making an illegal right turn resulting in an accident and was fined $10 when arraigned before Municipal Justice Raymond Sanders Monday night.

Minor damage resulted in the two car mishap.

2 Eau Claire Women Hurt in Accident East of Black Creek

Two Eau Claire women were injured about 1:30 p.m. Tuesday when their car ran into an embankment along State 54, 2½ miles east of Black Creek after the driver swerved to avoid a runaway tractor wheel.

Christine J. Nelson, driver of the 1965 station wagon, suffered bumps and bruises and her sister-in-law, Lillian Nelson, suffered head lacerations, bumps and bruises. They were taken by ambulance to Bellin Memorial Hospital.

Outagamie County Police said Christine Nelson was eastbound on State 54 when she swerved to the right to avoid the left front wheel that broke off a tractor being driven by Herman Sajka, Pulaski, who was westbound on State 54.

The woman said she swerved, but got her car back onto the roadway when her sister-in-law grabbed the wheel and pulled it to the right, causing the vehicle to strike the embankment. Damage was estimated at $1,300.

Giant Dog Stuck In Coffee Pot

PORTLAND, Ore (AP) — Sheriff's Deputy Loren Caddy had his hands full the other day when he was asked to rescue a dog from a coffee pot.

Elsie McGarry reported that a huge dog—a cross between a Labrador retriever and a German shepherd—had gotten stuck in a 50-cup coffee maker that had been left in a junk pile in her yard.

Caddy doused the dog with liquid detergent and pulled him out of the pot a little at a time.

"We tried to give him some water afterwards," said Mrs. McGarry, "but he didn't want anything to do with it."

75 Miles of Subway

Moles Dig Tubes For San Francisco

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two mechanical moles are burrowing quietly under Mission Street for San Francisco's first subway.

From the days of horse-drawn street cars, San Franciscans have traveled on the surface—except for tunnels through Twin Peaks. It's been by cable car, streetcar, trackless trolley or bus, linking with ferry boats or bridges.

Subway tubes, scheduled for completion in 1969, will be part of the 75 miles of the $1 billion San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District. The system will tie three counties together with 75 miles of subway, surface, elevated and underwater high-speed rail lines.

It includes five miles of twin and four-bore tubes under San Francisco.

The first of 18 tunneling machines and shields that will operate under San Francisco's streets began boring in mid-July.

Cut Twin Bores

Its 93-ton twin was lowered in September to the mud-splattered bottom of a four-story hole that marks their starting point at 15th and Mission streets. It will trail a safe 150 feet behind its companion as they cut mile-long twin bores to 8th and Market streets near the Civic Center.

The rest of the San Francisco tunneling will be carried out under eight other contracts. No other has begun. Some are still to be let. Stations, all to be built by cut and cover operations, involve still other contracts.

Two blocks from the start of the first tunneling operation doctors are examining prospective sandhogs in the still uncompleted Transit Compressed Air Medical Center.

Roughly 12 per cent of prospective underground workers have failed to pass the rigid physical examinations.

Tunnel Work

Most of the tunnel work, from 40 to 90 feet underground, will be done under compressed air with separate air locks for workmen and for the muck removed.

"The increased pressure is not in itself dangerous and presents no risk to the work," labor union representatives were told when sandhogging was brought to San Francisco. "However, after a man has worked in an environment of increased pressure for a time, it is necessary to reduce air pressure about him slowly.

"It is this decompression which presents some hazards."

The medical center will be equipped with a decompression chamber, just in case any of the sandhogs get the bends.

Medical examiners look askance on men over 40, or men more than 20 per cent overweight unless they are the unusually muscular he-man type.

Compressed Air

The man-locks and muck-locks for work under compressed air won't be installed until the machine has tunneled around 300 feet. Then work under compressed air will begin.

"Underground work isn't dangerous any more," says Bob McKaig, 56-year-old veteran who is "superintendent of the moles" for the project.

"You are carrying steel right with you. It's not like the old sandhog days."

The machine helps—from its solid steel boring front to its erector arms in back which swing steel lining into place.

The Mission Street pair was built in Racine, Wis., at $850,000 apiece.

The face of the machine is an 18 foot circular shield. It has three hydraulically actuated doors, each fitted with special dirt-cutting teeth. The wheel is turned by 20 hydraulic motors producing 1,500 horsepower. It is driven forward by 29 125-ton hydraulic jacks.

Place Liner

Every 30 inches the machine stops. Its erector arms then go to work. They swing into place a protective steel liner, divided into six segments. Men bolt these into place. Grout is poured back of the liner to seal out the water.

Then the machine again moves forward, the hydraulic jacks pushing from the newly installed liner.

Muck pours through the rear of the tunnel machine head onto a conveyor belt, into little rail cars which are hauled to the open hole and lifted to the surface to be dumped.

When fully assembled the mechanical operation stretches over 160 feet from the shield to the end of the conveyor belt. Altogether it weighs 200 tons.

This particular $17.7 million contract is for the longest of the tunneling jobs in San Francisco and is the only one under way.

Property Worth $766,853,460

Equalized Value Hike Placed at $40 Million For Outagamie County

Paced by gains in Kaukauna, Appleton, and The Town of Grand Chute, equalized valuation of all property in Outagamie County increased by nearly $40 million in 1967.

County supervisors, at a committee of the whole meeting this morning, approved property value of $766,853,460, which was the recommended value set by the Wisconsin Department of Taxation. The 1966 figure was $728,878,130.

Robert Vosen of Fond du Lac, supervisor of assessments for the state agency, told supervisors that although the rise in valuation over 1966 was "about average for Outagamie County," it was "above average" for the 14 counties in his eastern and central Wisconsin district.

Construction Hike

Vosen said that most of the increase (about $27 million) was due to new construction. Equalized valuation figures are used to determine apportionment of the total county budget among the 31 municipalities.

Supervisors were told that a 4.27 per cent increase in real estate valuation was included in the overall property increase this year. Total value of real estate, in the report, was $666,935,400, compared with $639,650,500 last year.

Appleton led the way in increases in equalized valuation on all properties, with a hike of about $18 million over the 1966 figure of $340,634,200.

Valuations Jump

Kaukauna's valuation jumped from $78.3 million in 1966 to $85 million this year. The cities of New London and Seymour showed smaller increases. The villages of Combined Locks and Kimberly showed increases of nearly $2 million each. Valuation of all Combined Locks properties rose from $19.9 million last year to $21.8 this year, while

Old Arguments Rehashed On UW-GB Site Dispute

Bill Goes Into Senate Deliberation

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Rogers bill to change the site of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay received its final legislative hearing Tuesday as the state Senate started its deliberations on the controversial measure to the accompaniment of arguments over the contested campus which have echoed through statehouse halls for the past 18 months.

The Senate Education Committee became the seventh state body to review the selection of the Shorewood site, located on Green Bay's northeast side, in the drive to shift the school to the opposite edge of the city.

The hearing was an orderly replay of sessions which have run since the site was selected in February, 1966 — a decision which has given rise to a court case which has reached the State Supreme Court even before it has come to trial

Delay Until 1970

The bill, authored by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, would move the new school to the Larsen Farms site on the city's west side, and probably delay opening of the school until at least 1970

It narrowly passed the Assembly just before adjournment early last summer, after being strenuously pushed by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton.

Froehlich Tuesday termed the site selection process "a very shoddy operation?" and charged that Green Bay backers of the new school were fighting to maintain the Shorewood site because it will require massive

County Board OK's Hiring of Process Server

42-3 Vote Today Ends Dispute; Salary Is $5,500

Outagamie County supervisors, by a vote of 42-3, this morning approved the hiring of a full time process server to work out of the sheriff's department.

Adoption of a resolution submitted by the board's executive committee apparently ends a dispute that has come up at several recent county board meetings. Voting against the proposal were Supervisors Norman Austin of Oneida, Stanley Perkins of Medina, and Chris Roepcke of rural Seymour.

According to terms of this morning's resolution, prepared jointly by the executive and the law enforcement committees, the process server will be hired under a two-year contract at an annual salary of $5,500. He also will be furnished a county-owned car for business purposes.

Review Revision

There is a provision for review and possible revision of his contract after six months. The law enforcement committee will contract to fill the new position. Steps will be taken immediately to hire a process server.

Formerly the undersheriff used to serve the legal papers, but the job was taken from him earlier this year and the undersheriff has since been given investigative duties Both on and off-duty county policemen have been serving the papers.

On a question from the floor today, Supv. Eugene Kloes of Appleton said that the process server will be deputized and could conceivably help with other law enforcement duties when asked by the sheriff.

Privately-Employed

Kloes said there has been a need for a fulltime man in the process serving post for some time, saying that an average of 10 papers a day are served through the sheriff's department. There also is one person privately employed serving papers full time, Kloes said. The

State Claims Avenue Is on FAS System

Statement Differs From View Given by County Chairman

Appleton's reconstructed College Avenue is on the Federal Aid System (FAS) for highways and entitled to outside funds, the board of public works was told Tuesday.

This is a direct contradiction to a recent statement by Outagamie County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler on behalf of the County Highway Committee.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler and Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the council's street sanitation committee, informed the board they obtained their information from the State Highway Commission.

"We hope to appear before the county board Wednesday (today) or Thursday to explain this and request that the county allocate $100,000 toward the cost of repaving College Avenue," Pointer declared.

Pointer and other city officials felt the county board should be given an opportunity to vote on the city's request.

Some time ago, Esler and a group of other county officials promised a city delegation (Esler denies this) Appleton would recevie the $100,000. Payment was supposed to be made in June.

Esler recently sent a letter to city hall saying the county could not participate because the avenue was not on the FAS system.

What has perturbed city officials is that the official request for county assistance has never been before the board for a vote.

"If the county turns us down, then we will have to seek other remedies," Pointer said.

"However, all the members of the county board are entitled to hear our story. We are not hostile but believe we have a point," he added.

Members of the board of public works agreed.

Neighbors See Lights In Unoccupied House, Summon City Police

Appleton police were called to 531 N. Story Street, about 1:30 a.m. today when neighbors reported lights burning in the unoccupied house.

Police said the lights were on when they arrived. Owner of the home, Mrs. Eugene Sedo, 1004 Oak St., Neenah, was called. She failed to find anything missing after making a quick survey of the premises. She told police her husband would make a more thorough investigation.

Police said entry was gained by breaking a basement window after the storm window had been removed.

Regional Planners Approve Appleton's Water Project

Notification Received in Letter From HUD Area Administrator

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission gave its approval today to Appleton's Lake Winnebago pipeline project and plan to construct an addition to the water plant.

It came in a letter sent to Edward Bruder, Chicago, assistant regional administrator for the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The commission's action, coupled with previous approval of the Appleton water package by state agencies and the Fox Valley Council of Governments, enhances the city's chances of obtaining further federal aid.

Review Underway

It has been estimated the pipeline and plant addition projects will cost over $4 million. Last month HUD authorized the city a grant of $793,000 for the pipeline and said a review was underway on the application for funding to help defray cost of the plant expansion.

HUD officials said before Appleton could receive additional aid, it would have to be documented by state and regional planning groups that the city's plant project was in keeping with areawide planning.

Reflected Research

The Northeastern Wisconsin Planning Commission report to federal officials, signed by William E. Morris, executive director, and Gerald L. Paul, chief hydrologist, reflected extensive research by the commission into the overall water program.

The commission recommended that while Lake Winnebago represented the logical source at this time to help solve Appleton's water problem — the ultimate source and planning toward such should be Lake Michigan.

Summing up its position, the commission said:

—The only feasible immediate-to-long range program for orderly growth should begin with the source at Lake Winnebago, including an expansion of the present treatment plant, and then focus all ultimate plans toward Lake Michigan.

Future Expansion

—The length of service of the Appleton project should be set at approximately 40 to 50 years to coincide with future expansion needs of other Fox Valley communities.

—No evident reduction of local pollution will result from the construction of a water transmission line from Lake Winnebago or from an expansion of the Appleton water treatment plant.

—The Appleton project can encourage area-wide programming if the people of the area are shown why the project is a good one and how their projected problems are being solved.

City oficials said they were "well satisfied" with the commission report.

Coordinating Efforts

With regard to the pollution problem, the commission also said it is coordinating efforts of the counties and communities of the water basin in developing a comprehensive water pollution control program. Coordinated planning to accomplish the objective includes the counties surrounding Lake Winnebago, the report added.

In researching the Appleton water situation, the commission said there was no question that the city needed a better water supply than its current Fox River source.

"The Appleton water treatment plant itself faces a needed expansion in keeping with the rapid population growth of the locality, which increased 42 per cent in the decade 1950-60 — and an estimated increase of 61 per cent from 1950 to date," the commission said.

Future Projections

Population projections in the consultants' report show that water requirements for 1980 can be 10.9 million gallons a day and 19 million on a maximum or peak use day.

It said Appleton and other communities should start taking steps toward consideration of a Lake Michigan areawide utility when planning long-term water expansion programs.

It emphasized that all future expansion plans of Valley cities should coincide. Thus, when the time does come to go to Lake Michigan, various plant and pipeline facilities would be geared in that direction.

In a letter of transmittal accompanying the report — sent to city officials — Gordon Bubolz, commission chairman, and Morris, pointed out that findings of the commission ". . . are certainly indicative of the urgent need to resolve Appleton's water problems."

"The commission stands ready to lend its assistance to the City of Appleton in meeting present and future water supply needs," they said.

State PSC Reaffirms Water Plans

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) today reaffirmed its authorization of a water expansion program for Appleton.

Following a hearing earlier in the year, the PSC on Sept. 12 issued its decision granting Appleton a certificate of authority to proceed with the project.

Mayor George Buckley wrote the PSC again Sept. 1, and the reply came today from John P. Goetz, commission secretary, who said review of the file indicated no change in the commission's position.

"It is still the opinion of the commission that the city must increase its plant capacity in order to provide adequate service to its customers," Goetz said.

"It is also the opinion of the commission that while Lake Winnebago is not the best source for water, it is a far better source than the Fox River considering the bacteria count of the two sources," he concluded.

Union Accuses Board of Bias

School Convention Pay Policy Unfair, Letter Asserts

An accusation of a "biased attitude concerning teachers' conventions" has been made of the Appleton Board of Education by the Appleton Federation of Labor Unions.

In a letter dated Sept. 15, and signed by Orval Polzin, recording secretary, the federation writes, "This (biased) attitude became evident when the board of education permitted one labor organization's entire membership to attend or not attend its convention with pay and failed to permit the other organization to send four delegates with pay."

Adequate Substitutes

The letter was referred to the board's professional improvement committee.

The letter was in reference to a Sept. 11 board action, allowing the officers of the Appleton Teachers Union (ATU) to attend the Oct. 5 and 6 convention.

Firemen Check Wire Sparks Outside Home

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called at 8:05 p.m. Monday to the Bernard Schmidt Jr. residence when an outside wire leading into the home was noticed sparking.

Firemen checked the wiring and advised the owner to call the electric utility.

Park Plans Include Lights at Goodland

$617,000 Total Budget Allows $76,650 for City Baseball Park

New lights for Appleton's Goodland Field is the major item asked for in a budget request that Appleton's Park and Recreation Commission will forward to the city council's budget committee.

The new lighting system, which would cost $76,650, is part of a total budget request of $617,000.

The $617,000 is $93,000 more than the commission requested of the city council last year.

The request will be channeled through the city finance department before going to the budget committee which expects to begin work on all budgets in mid-October

Although the commission had asked for $524,000 in 1967, the council only granted it $476,220 Of this, $119,827 was met with revenue, thereby reducing the actual tax levy to $356,393. Estimated revenue this year is $105,000, which would bring the levy to $513,000.

Arthur Jones, commission president, told members Tuesday afternoon at the budget review meeting that the present wood poles at Goodland were rotting to the point that they have become unsafe to climb.

Poles Unsafe

"Park employes are hesitant about replacing burned-out bulbs," he said

The poles in Goodland were put up in 1939.

Jones explained that the proposed poles would be metal ones set in a concrete base. These would be installed beside the old ones.

According to Jones, the ground would be in condition for installation about mid-April He said this would give the crew at least a month beford the ball season opens

The light expenditure request was the only major item in the budget boost. The other $16,000 were spread over several areas

The commission studied a breakdown of its total budget which included $202,535 for the park department (general) and $123,234 for the recreation department (general).

Other items were $17,595 for weed control; $65,466, forestry division; $26,072, Erb Park pool; $28,671, Mead Park pool; $64,522, Reid Municipal Golf Course;

Students, City Youth Feud

Oshkosh Police Close Bars in Brawl Threat

OSHKOSH — About 300 Wisconsin State University students milled about in a Main Street near the campus Tuesday night and talked about a "townie" college brawl in the city's beer bars. But Oshkosh police closed the bars and the crowd dispersed.

The students were thinking about getting even with city youths after a Monday night incident at a bar and on the campus, in which city and university youths clashed

Rumors Start

An Oshkosh police officer this morning complimented the students for dispersing without carrying out their plans He said the city youths were responsible for the Monday night incident.

City police were first informed of student rumors about a brawl at 7 p m when the head resident of one of the high-rise men's dormitories called them. Police were continuously informed as the rumors developed. Various beer bars were mentioned as the scene of the confrontation.

About 8 p m. the head resident of a second high-rise dormitory said he had heard that students would converge on all of the city's beer bars.

About 8 30 p.m police began to ask the popular beer bars to close up. All agreed

Rumors continued Police heard that 100 dynamite caps stolen from an Oskosh area stone quarry over the weekend would be used in the brawl. Police also heard that two boys were driving around in a car with a wrench and a gun City youths involved in the Monday night incident were seen driving near the campus about 9 30 p m.

Call Squads

At about the same time police found the 300 youths marching down the street Police broke them up, but the students were in the streets again about 9 45 p m. All squad cars and more police were called in.

About 10 p m police talked with university officials The police were asked to leave the scene and university officials warned the students that their identification cards would be taken away if they did not break up.

Police stayed out of sight and the crowd dispersed

In another incident, Larry Krueger, a university instructor, told police three youths stopped their car as he walked along a street Monday night and asked him if he was connected with the university When he said he was, the youths got out the car and beat him. He was treated for cuts and bruises

Four city youths were in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 Tuesday morning on disorderly conduct charges as a result of the Monday night incident Police officials said the city youths claimed a university student had hit the sister of one of them

Letters to PSC, State Officials

Calumet Protests Appleton Water Plan To Take Water From Lake Winnebago

CHILTON — Protests to Appleton's plan to use Lake Winnebago as its municipal water supply were ordered Tuesday by the Calumet County Board.

Supervisors, especially board chairman G. J. Hipke, New Holstein, were miffed at not being given formal notification of the Public Service Commission (PSC) proceedings in approving the measure.

A letter of protest to the PSC, with copies to the attorney general's office and to the governor, were ordered after Hipke used a recent newspaper article to inform the board that the PSC has officially approved Appleton's water expansion program, which will, Hipke told the board, "involve the pumping of some 40 to 50 gallons of water daily from Lake Winnebago." (The figure is closer to 15 to 20 million gallons at peak, according to city estimates.)

Cites Interest

Hipke asked, "Why wasn't Calumet County notified of this action by the PSC since our county involves a great deal of population along the lake?"

He cites a personal instance when he wanted to install a 3-inch pipe for irrigation purposes on property he owned along Lake Winnebago. "Before I could go ahead with this project, I had to get PSC approval after a public hearing at the courthouse, where all property owners along the lake were notified to speak for or against the project, and that was just for a little 3-inch pipe. Here, where the City of Appleton is concerned, they are installing a 1,200-foot, 48-inch intake pipe into the lake, and pumping a great deal of water out daily."

Mrs. Dan Butler, who represents the Appleton precinct in Calumet County, referred to an "around-the-lakes" meeting she attended recently in Fond du Lac, during which flood plains and shoreline areas in the counties would be regulated as to high water levels. She said that in Menasha the crest would be 21¼ inches, and "this would be the level we would follow," according to the Great Lakes International Corp of Engineers.

Mrs. Butler asked, "what is this going to do with the water level, when all that water is pumped daily from Lake Winnebago?"

Again referring to the newspaper article, it was pointed out that Appleton mayor George Buckley disclosed that a spokesman for the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission asked that the city's case be presented to the Around-the-Lake Committee and the mayor answered, "We haven't got time to go around the lake and ask other communities what they think about our water plant addition project."

Appleton received PSC approval after an extensive study which selected Lake Winnebago as a new source to meet increased water service demands.

In its action, the PSC gave approval to the city's plans for expanding the water treatment plant, along with construction of a pipeline to Lake Winnebago

Broader Tax Base

Kimberly Urges New Source of State Revenues

MILWAUKEE — New means of bolstering the tax bases in Wisconsin without raising the property taxes were urged by a Neenah industrialist in a talk to the annual taxpayers conference Tuesday.

John R. Kimberly, board chairman of Kimberly-Clark Corporation, speaking to the group in the session sponsored by the Public Expenditures Survey of Wisconsin, suggested a half-dozen measures to increase the business climate in the state.

Kimberly pointed to four general principles which the state should adopt to ensue a "bright" economic future. They include:

—Hold state spending within the bounds of income to encourage low tax rates.

—Seek new ways to equalize the tax burden among those who profit or benefit from the use of state facilities.

—Constantly seek new ways to rebuild all state and local governments along modern, efficient lines.

—Continue to make creative use of tax revenues to build a favorable environment for industry.

"When a state can establish a pattern such as this," Kimberly remarked, "business can afford to take the risks of investment, expansion and innovation that lead to economic growth and benefits for us all."

Sales Tax

Kimberly called for a broadening of the scope of the state's retail sales tax to include some purchases not now taxed, including food and clothing. He said Wisconsin's yield is low, with the state ranking 38th in collections out of the 40 states which levied a sales tax in 1966.

He said other means of gaining revenue — through tolls and service fees and state indebtedness — should be considered. "Today, Wisconsin ranks on the bottom of the list of states in revenue from these sources," Kimberly added.

"Wisconsin also ranks 47th among the 50 states in receipt of federal aid," he noted. "One of the ways to help hold state spending in line is to continue to resist the lure of federal programs that require matching input from the states."

Kimberly pointed to the budget from the current biennium which will not create a need for a tax increase. "If we can continue to hold the level of government spending reasonably within the range that the economy will provide through expansion, we can take a major step toward curbing future tax increases."

He added, "Certainly a reduction in Wisconsin's rate of tax increase would be a most promising sign to those businesses looking for a place to locate."

Proposal for Joint Engineer Wins Menasha Favor

MENASHA — A proposal by Mayor Kenneth Holmes that the Twin Cities hire an engineer jointly to coordinate local planning won informal endorsement from the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) Tuesday.

Holmes outlined his program after MRA president Ralph M. McClone reminded the organization of a somewhat similar suggestion endorsed recently by the Redevelopment Authority of Neenah (RACON).

The chief difference between the two plans is that Holmes recommended hiring an engineer with a planning background, to work half his time in the Menasha city engineer's office and the other half in the Neenah engineering department.

The RACON proposal would have had a planner working for the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) who would devote half his time to the regional planning body and divide the rest of his time between the Twin Cities.

Neenah Police Accept Contract

NEENAH — The Neenah Professional Policeman's Association accepted a new contract Tuesday evening, calling for a 4¼ per cent boost in take home pay.

Representatives of the NPPA have been negotiating a new contract with the finance committee for the past two months. The latest offer was made at a session Thursday evening.

Complete terms of the new contract, which include fringe benefits, weren't released, pending completion of negotiations with other municipal employ groups, Clerk-Comptroller R. V. Hauser said this morning.

The NPPA opened talks with finance committee members on June 6.

Twin City Workers Still Tops in State In Take-Home Wages

NEENAH - MENASHA — The earning power of Twin City workers again led the state during August and increased its margin over Milwaukee, Wisconsin's next highest paying labor market.

According to the statistical report from the state industrial commission, Neenah-Menasha workers earned an average of $136.30 per week during August, up $2.69 over the previous month.

Trust Supervisor Named by NMB

NEENAH — The appointment of Robert E. Kay, 147 North Park Ave., Neenah, as head of the trust department of the National Manufacturers Bank of Neenah was announced today by Samuel N. Pickard, board chairman.

Kay, vice president and trust officer, joined the bank in 1957 as trust officer, was made a vice president in 1963, and had recently been appointed administrative officer of the trust department. Prior to his association with the bank, he had been in private law practice in Ripon after having completed a four-year tour of duty in the United States Navy.

Married and the father of two children, Kay is a graduate of Dartmouth College and the University of Wisconsin Law School. He is a native of Shorewood, Wis., a member of the Neenah Rotary Club, the Neenah Club and the First Presbyterian Church in Neenah.

Mrs. Thompson Will Again Head Fund Drive Division

Mrs. W. B. Thompson, the Welcome Wagon hostess, has for the second year accepted the chairmanship of the general solicitation division of the Appleton United Givers campaign.

The announcement was made jointly by Cyrus Rachie, general chairman, and F. H. Orbison, co-chairman, who said the $313,246 campaign for 19 private Red Feather services will begin Oct. 2.

A training meeting for the division is scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at the Golden Age Club, 522 N. Appleton.

Other Assistants

Assisting Mrs. Thompson as co-chairmen of the special gifts section, are Mrs Richard Dratz, 501 E. Greenfield St. and Mrs. William Haese, 1410 W. Washington St.

Mrs. W. B. Thompson

Other section leaders, who already have recruited their workers, are Mrs. Robert Barlament, 54 Bellaire Ct., Mrs. William E. Arnold, 122 E. Marquette St.; Mrs. Nick Engler, 1746 N. Drew St.; Mrs. Howard Grupe, 1229 S. Lehmann Lane; Mrs. Sam Belinke, 435 E. Grant St.; Mrs. G. E. Mueller, 507 E. Greenfield St.; and Mrs. Jerry Mendelsohn, 200 E. Pershing St.

Same As Before

Mrs. Thompson said the general division will work as they did last year. Workers will not contact residents on a house-to-house basis, but will call on persons who have given at home during past red feather campaigns. This list includes manufacturers' representatives who work mainly out of the city, retired persons, other citizens who cannot be contacted through their places of employment, and a special gifts group who have indicated a preference to give at home.

Familiar with the work of the agencies, Mrs. Thompson organized the first house-to-house drive 21 years ago. Her workers will be reminded to inform givers that seven new agencies have joined the red feather group since 1965, and that these organizations will not be having independent campaigns this year.

County Board Commits Funds To New Tower

$149,375 Approved By Disgruntled Winnebago Officials

OSHKOSH — A somewhat disgruntled Winnebago County Board agreed Tuesday to commit $149.375 in county funds for 1968 construction of a new control tower at the Winnebago County Airport. The vote was 32-9.

The funds are the county's share of the total estimated cost now set at $342.750, about $23.000 less than Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) estimated last May. The county's estimated share was reduced from $177,-450.

The present tower, opened in 1962, must be relocated because it is too far from the south end of the new north-south runway.

Supervisors were leery of accepting assurances from the FAA and State Aeronautics that the new location for the tower would be adequate for the future after hearing similar assurances at the time the present tower was constructed.

Supv. George Christoph, (Neenah 20) summed up the feelings of most board members when, with the tongue-in-cheek, he suggested that the tower be put on wheels to facilitate future moves.

Supv. Roland Kampo (Town of Menasha 7) asked if the FAA and State Aeronautics Commission would give the county a written guarantee they would pick up 100 per cent of the costs if the tower would have to be moved again.

Joseph Abernathy, chief engineer for the State Aeronautics Commission, said the assurance they could give that the new site was believed adequate was in the form of the state and federal funds allocated for the new tower.

August Parking Meter Revenue Takes Jump

August parking meter revenue showed a sharp increase as College Avenue started to return to normal after the major reconstruction.

Income from all metered sources amounted to $15.762, city treasurer Ray Feuerstein reported today. The street collections led with $5,288, followed by East Ramp revenue of $4,016.

Appleton Prefers Park As Post Office Site

City Parking Commission Feels Move Would Prompt Action on Civic Center

City officials expressed hope Tuesday that the U.S. Postal Department will build a new post office for Appleton in the vicinity of the Jones Park area.

Such a move, according to members of the city parking commission, would be the first step toward development of a civic center — a long-range project included in the community's comprehensive plan.

However, City Planner Walter Rasmussen said to his knowledge the acquisition of a site for a new postal facility here is still being deliberated by federal authorities.

"Postal officials told me they had so much money budgeted for a site and wanted to stay within that figure," Rasmussen said.

Commission members said from a planning and parking need standpoint, they would encourage location of the post office near the civic center.

It would tie in with plans for providing municipal parking in the Jones Park area to serve a proposed city, county, state and federal complex.

Also discussed by the commission was whether or not the Outagamie County Board would expand courthouse facilities near Jones Park and include parking facilities.

Appleton Told Need for Areawide Development

Plan Needed to Get Funds

If Appleton should ever decide to shun federal aids — a much heavier burden will fall on the already spiraling property tax, planners warned Tuesday.

They made their observations during a meeting of the board of public works when Eugene Franchett, executive director of the Fox Valley Council of Governments, explained the requirement for an areawide comprehensive plan.

Franchett said an urban area study would cost $231,000 with the council paying $75,000, and federal government picking up the tab for the major share.

It was emphasized that without an urban areawide plan by July of 1968, communities in the region will not be able to qualify for federal aids for public works or other major municipal improvements.

Sound Planning

"The federal government is stressing sound planning on area and local levels," Franchett declared.

He explained the $75,000 share of the cost for preparing a specific areawide plan would be shared by members of the Council, including the City of Appleton.

Ald. John Ayers (12th) questioned how Appleton would be able to carry out plans for large-scale annexations once areawide facilities are established. "They will be getting services and will not need to come into the city," Ayers said.

"If area services are rendered, just how are we going to anex?" Ayers asked Franchett.

"Political Thing"

"That is a political thing," Franchett replied, "we didn't make this federal law. Our job is to help communities in being prepared to meet requirements to be eligible for federal grants."

City Planner Walter Rasmussen told Ayers once surrounding towns have to invest in major public works facilities, it will reflect in their tax rates.

"Eventually those rates will be as high or higher than Appleton's and then residents in those areas will want to become a part of the city to receive more services," Rasmussen explained.

When town tax rates rise, then the advantage of living outside the central city disappears, according to Rasmussen.

He cited the two ways of financing public improvement projects — through rising property taxes or assistance from the federal government.

"If you turn your back on federal aid, then you will have to pile the expense of needed projects on top of the property tax," Rasmussen added.

And Franchette made the observation that, "Federal aids are here to stay whether we like it or not."

Geenen Points Out

City Atty. David Geenen, who favored the city's participating in the study, pointed out that when Appleton applied and received an $893,000 water grant it adopted a resolution committing itself to abiding by an areawide plan.

"We have to be consistent and practice what we preach," Geenen asserted.

The board said it would make a recommendation on Appleton's financial participation in the Council of Governments study at a special meeting next week. At the time the undertaking of a bridge construction study will also be considered.

In other action, the board:

—Opened bids on replacing the South Island Street bridge with Wunderlich Brothers Construction Co., Appleton, low with a $72,810 quote. However, only $55,000 was budgeted for the project.

—Claimed the asking price for a new school site near Einstein School was too high and that it would have to be negotiated.

Woman Hospitalized After Fall in Yard

Kaukauna Eyes Conference on New Sidewalk

City Also Wants County to Assure Continued Aid

KAUKAUNA — The common council Tuesday night authorized the board of public works to meet with representatives of the Outagamie County Highway Committee and land owners concerning installation of sidewalk near the County Trunk OO and Gertrude Street intersection.

Plans to install storm sewer on Dodge Street were discussed with a request that the County Highway Committee hold intact its 1967 appropriation for improvement of the street and to add funds for 1968 to permit improvement of the street from Crooks Avenue to Boyd Avenue.

The city engineer will study a proposal requiring land developers to apply a coat of road oil to streets before they would be accepted by the city The clerk was instructed to notify the Chicago and North Western Railway to place all railroad crossings in the city in good repair.

The utility commission was instructed to investigate the need of street lights at Joyce and Sunset Streets, Janet and Sunset, Janet and Idlewild, Janet and Walter and Idlewild and Walter and lay out a street light plan for the Thele Plat being developed.

Head Fund Drive

The deputy health officer was asked to find an organization to head up a fund drive for a new ambulance. The recreation director will confer with school officials to arrange additional weekly evenings for use of schools by the recreation department.

Placed on file were an offer from Mrs Charlene Collins to sell her home and property near Riverside Park to the city for $20,000 and an objection from Eugene Gassere, representative of Thilmany Pulp & Paper Company, concerning limited parking hours on a public lot on Wisconsin Avenue.

The council will confer with the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night and evening parking during the Christmas holiday season to ascertain the type of enforcement favored by merchants Aldermen approved placing a stop sign at the southeast corner of Glenview Avenue at 17th Street and decided not to restrict parking on E. Tenth Street between Boyd and Cleveland Avenues.

In other action the council purchased a $3,297 Fox sand spreader, referred vacating of the 100 block of 16th Street to the planning commission; authorized the street superintendent to attend an engineering session at Madison Oct. 17 and 18, hired Jane Seif as city stenographer at a beginning salary of $315 per month to be increased to $325 per month after a probationary period and appropriated $270 for a memorial to the late Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon.

Bush Stops Bulldozer

BEAR CREEK — The lilac bush was a fragile thing but it stopped a huge bulldozer.

It all happened Tuesday when earth moving equipment for Landwehr, Inc., a construction contractor working on the State 76 improvement project, approached the tiny bush in front of the home of Mrs. Dorothy Mackin. When the tractor neared the lilacs, destined to be removed so that the street could be widened and sidewalk installed, Mrs. Mackin bolted from her home and planted herself firmly between the blade and the bush and refused to budge.

A preplexed tractor operator summoned village Constable David Fletcher. He pleaded with her, to no avail. Fletcher called the Outagamie County Sheriff's department for advice and was told to try diplomacy, first, then "gentle force."

He returned to advise Mrs Mackin that the project had full authority to proceed. She told him where to proceed, then said she was going into the house to call her attorney and would return with a shotgun.

When she stepped into the house, Fletcher ordered the tractor operator to move ahead and the bush disappeared under the blade.

Fletcher said he stood by while the block was cleared but encountered no further difficulty.

VTE Budget Distributed

Public Libraries In Four-County Area Have Proposal

Copies of the proposed 1968 budget for the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 were placed in public libraries throughout the four-county area today.

Anyone wishing to review the budget before the public hearing scheduled at 7:30 p.m. next Monday in room 203 at the Appleton Vocational, Technical and Adult School, will find copies at the Kaukauna, Clintonville, New London, Waupaca, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh libraries.

$28 Million

A tentative budget of $2.8 million has been set by the VTE-12 board for organizing the new district administration, maintaining and developing new programs in the vocational and technical schools at Appleton, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly and Brillion

The anticipated tax revenue required in 1968 for the total program is $1,985,852, which will be levied over the total district at the rate of $1.10 per $1,000.

The equalized valuation for the 25 area school districts which make up district 12 is based on a full valuation of $1.8 billion.

Neighbors' Squawks About Pigeon Partiality Ruffle Feeder's Feathers

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Cooped up five days in jail for feeding pigeons, 70-year-old Mabel Steed is leaving her nest.

"We're going to move out I'll sell or give the house away and we'll go to Palm Springs," she chirped Tuesday when she was freed.

Mrs Steed was convicted of contempt of court for ignoring a court order not to feed the birds around her house Neighbors squawked that their numbers created a public nuisance

Mrs. Steed crowed: "I have fed pigeons all my life and I don't intend to quit now."

Old Arguments Rehashed as Rogers Bill Enters Senate

His allegations were repeated by Assemblyman Ervin Conradt, R-Shiocton.

Rogers, leading off the parade of witnesses for his bill, told the committee that the site selected is a poor one because if students in Green Bay are ignored — as they will travel anywhere in the city to get a college education — 69 per cent of prospective students live west of the Fox River, while only 31 per cent of the high school graduates reside on the eastern bank of the river.

The highway needs charges were countered by Sen. Reuben LaFave, O-Oconto, chairman of the Senate Highway Committee, and Green Bay Mayor Donald Tilleman.

Called False

Cost charges for Green Bay bridges alleged by Appleton area leaders in their fight to block campus development are false, LaFave said. Almost as many bridge needs exist in the Fox Cities portion of the Valley as in Green Bay, and all exist regardless of where the school is located, he told the committee.

Green Bay's drive to change state financing of bridge construction is not related to the new campus, he said. Wisconsin allocates only $400,000 a year for long bridge building, and has fallen $123 million behind in bridge needs throughout the state, he reported.

Tilleman pointed out that Green Bay plans for bridges in 1968 and 1973 crossing the Fox River were prepared before the Shorewood site was selected, and in the past the city has financed its bridges without state aid and will do so again if necessary, he said.

Outagamie's County's special counsel in its suit to block construction, Stewart Honeck, warned the committee that the Senate should not kill the bill and allow campus development to proceed in the face of the court fight he has waged.

Supreme Court

The battle is now before the Supreme Court, as the state has appealed the most recent of its third Circuit Court loss in attempts to kill the suit.

Honeck termed the court fight "nine-tenths won" in light of the three procedural victories. The trial has yet to start in the case.

Gerhard Willecke of Appleton, one of four citizens who brought the taxpayers suit with the county against the state following the selection, charged that previously established criteria for the selection of the campus location had been changed in secret sessions by the statutory site committee.

The state's anti-secrecy law must be upheld, Honeck said, and the decision upset by the Legislature in light of those violations.

Attorney David Suemnick of Denmark called upon the education committee to let the legal questions be settled in the courts.

Suemnick termed Appleton area arguments over bridge needs and commuting troubles "straw men" and said that they had been raised to lead the Legislature to forget the interests of education.

Rogers said that between $200,000 and $300,000 has been invested in the Shorewood site, referring to state spending on plan development.

"Minimal Costs"

Those costs, if lost, will be minimal compared to the costs of building a $40 million to $60 million university that is to last a century, he said.

Under the terms of the bill, the state will reimburse Brown County for land costs plus five per cent interest if the site is switched.

Brown County Board chairman Myron Lotto told the committee that his county has already invested $2 million in preparations for the coming of the new school.

Russell De La Hunt, Kaukauna, another of the taxpayers who joined in the suit, told the committee that the Shorewood site would benefit a minority of the people of the region and would not be accessible to the students of the Appleton area.

But John Nash, representing the cities of Two Rivers and Manitowoc and Manitowoc County, reminded the committee that adoption of the Larsen Farm location would create a campus inaccessible to his home county.

Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, who will bear the burden of pushing the bill through the upper house, again called upon the two sides to meet with Gov. Warren P. Knowles and attempt to work out a compromise that will end the political and legal fighting.

But his plea drew little response from the Green Bay opponents of the measure.

Expanded Plans

John Torinus, editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, asked the committee to consider the bill in light of what he termed expanded plans for the new school which exceed original legislative intent for the new school.

The UW is being understandably ambitious in planning the campus, he said, but doubts must be raised as to some of the programs in light of costs and state needs in elementary, secondary and technical education programs.

LaFave also warned that passage of the bill would mean a costly delay in building the campus.

"To the people of my area it is more important to get an education than who is going to cross the river," said LaFave. "We are looking for an education whether it is on the east side or the west side of the river. And more important than that, we want the university build without delay."

"This is not a game of seeing who is going to win the fight," countered Lorge. "This is a question of 100 to 150 years," he said, "of the future of the campus location and its impact on the region."

Education committee chairman Holger Rasmussen, R-Spooner, said that no action will be taken on the measure until the Legislature returns on October 17, and indicated that members may wish to tour the site before taking committee action.

Focus Near DMZ

Red Artillery Heavily Hit

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — High altitude B52 bombers and low-sweeping jets piled more than a half million pounds of explosives today on Communist artillery and mortars that wounded more than 100 Marines in 24 hours of heavy shelling near the demilitarized zone.

Military headquarters reported one Marine was killed in the firing from the big gun emplacements on sandbagged fortresses near the zone dividing the Vietnams.

The focus of the Communist attacks were the deeply entrenched Marine bastions of Con Thien and Gio Linh just below the DMZ.

Intense Shelling

Associated Press correspondent Edwin Q. White reported from Marine headquarters that shelling was so intense that road traffic to the two posts was suspended and all supplies were forced to move up on medical evacuation helicopters.

The Communist gunners used everything from light mortars inside the DMZ to long-range Soviet-built artillery placed 10 miles and more to the north. More than 300 shells have hit the two U.S. posts in the past 24 hours and every few hours there were reports of more shellings.

The giant, eight-engine B52s from Guam and Thailand swept over the battlefield three times today with each raid dropping a minimum of 150,000 pounds of explosives.

27 Missions

Marine jets flew 27 missions against the Red gun positions Tuesday and were back at it Wednesday to support their comrades taking the pounding on the ground.

"It is very difficult to find those gun positions," Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of the Air Force in Vietnam, said. He noted they are deeply dug-in, well camouflaged and scattered in jungle territory.

Although Air Force planes flew 42 missions, mostly in the area above Hanoi, weather elsewhere was so bad that three carriers in the Tonkin Gulf could not send up a combat flight the first time this has happened since carriers entered the Vietnamese fray.

Close Fight

Above Hanoi, four U.S. F105 Thunderchiefs fought a hitless cannon-fire battle with eight MIG17 interceptors at distances as close as 100 feet.

The MIGs pounced on the American fighter-bombers as they returned from a raid on North Vietnamese military barracks 17 miles north of Hanoi. So crammed was the sky with planes, that the pilots were apparently unable to use their air-to-air missiles.

The State Department said Tuesday in Washington that experienced North Korean pilots may be at the controls of the Communist jets.

"It is possible that they may be flying combat missions," said spokesman Robert J. McCloskey. "We've reason to believe they have been flying combat aircraft off of operational bases."

Other Air Force pilots, heading through broken clouds, raided North Vietnam's northeast and northwest railroad lines and a railroad bridge 25 miles from the border with Communist China. The pilots said they heavily damaged the bridge.

Mrs. Dale Phillips, Milwaukee's only Negro alderman, presents an open housing ordinance to the common council for a fifth time Tuesday. Looking on are the Rev. Milwaukee Aldermen Again Delay

Open Housing Bill Tabled

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators staged a 23rd consecutive night of marching Tuesday, after the city's lone Negro alderman offered her oft-defeated open housing measure to the Common Council for a fifth time, and it was tabled.

"I hope the city attorney's office will not just quietly hold the ordinance there until things simmer down, because things will not simmer down," said the alderman, Mrs. Dale Phillips, who four times has been on the short end of an 18-1 vote on the ordinance.

The council referred the proposal to the city attorney for an opinion on its legality and constitutionality.

City Atty. John J. Fleming has said in the past that the city was powerless to enact an open housing ordinance over and above that of the state.

Marchers, on occasion numbering more than 1,000, demonstrated 23 days in a row in favor of the open housing measure. The protests, which sometimes enter the virtually all-white South Side and have resulted in violence, are sponsored by the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

March Leaders

The marchers are usually led by the Rev. James Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest who serves as the Youth Council's adviser; Mrs. Phillips, and Negro comedian Dick Gregory.

Tuesday night's demonstration followed a rally at a Negro area Methodist church.

Mrs. Phillips told the rally there would be "many days" of marching ahead, because the council failed to pass the open housing bill.

The marchers, led by Youth Council members, confined their activities Tuesday night to the predominantly Negro near North Side and no incidents were reported.

About 200 persons jammed the Common Council chambers to watch Mrs. Phillips present her bill. The spectators included Father Groppi, about 70 Youth Council members, 15 clergymen and about 40 members of the Milwaukee Junior League.

A dozen helmeted policemen lined the room.

Mrs. Phillips' latest proposal had one major change from the previous bills. It suggested that investigative and enforcement duties be assigned to the city attorney through the county courts, instead of through the Social Development Commission.

The major provisions were unchanged. They would make discrimination in the sale, rental or lease of any housing a violation of city ordinances.

Jordan Receives $1 Million for Aid to Refugees

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordan received Tuesday the largest single private donation so far for refugees from the June Middle East war—a $1 million check from Near East Emergency Donations, (NEED), whose honorary chairman is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The check, to be given to the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Refugee Work, was presented to King Hussein by Clayton Brace, a vice president of Time, Inc.

Founded by David Rockefeller and James A. Linen of Time, NEED is conducting a campaign among American business circles to raise funds for Arab war victims.

Couple Loses Third Child by Drowning

EAST DOVER, Vt. (AP) — For the third time in 10 months, Mr. and Mrs. John Goode have lost a child by drowning.

Their 5-year-old son, James, fell into the family swimming pool Tuesday. The father found the body.

Last Dec. 1, a car driven by Mrs. Goode plunged into the West River at Dummerston and two of their children drowned. They were Robert Goode, 2, and John Goode Jr., twin brother of the boy who drowned Tuesday.

Billion Dollar Budget Hike

Funds Already Allotted For Antimissile System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government already has enough money allotted to begin deployment of the $5 billion missile defense system outlined this week by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

But officials said the decision will probably add about $1 billion to the budget President Johnson will send to Congress next January for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1968.

The Nike-X defense system is scheduled to be built over five years to ward off any low-scale nuclear attack by Red China in the 1970s.

For the current fiscal year, however, the big defense decision will have no effect on the budget which the administration is already under heavy pressure to cut.

10 Per Cent Surtax

Some members of Congress have demanded cuts in nondefense spending as the price for adoption of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes.

Government sources estimate that up to $700 million is available to the Pentagon to begin the program during the current fiscal year.

In submitting his budget to Congress last January for this fiscal year, President Johnson reserved $375 million for possible production of Nike-X.

He said at the time, however, that no action would be taken immediately to deploy a missile defense and said discussions would be initiated with the Soviet Union on limiting missile deployment.

Deployment Decision

"In the event these discussions prove unsuccessful," Johnson said, "we will reconsider our deployment decision."

When McNamara announced the go-ahead decision on the antimissile system, he appealed to the Soviet Union to negotiate an agreement to limit the nuclear arms race, and the State department underlined that appeal Tuesday.

However, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said, "We've not had much success in developing such discussions up to now. We intend to continue trying."

McCloskey added that the United States is "hopeful the new emphasis on the ABM problem will stimulate the Russians" to agree to the talks.

That decision now is based not on Soviet policy but on the potential threat from Red China.

State Bargainer Quits to Take New York Post

MADISON (AP) — Arvid Anderson Tuesday officially resigned from the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission to become head of New York City's new board of collective bargaining.

Anderson, who confirmed the change Sept. 1 but delayed formal resignation until Tuesday, will guide a seven-man labor board in New York. The board oversees relations between the city government and its 200,000 employes.

Anderson's resignation is effective Oct. 8. He will receive $35,000 a year in his new job, compared with his current annual earnings of $17,000.

The 46 - year - old Anderson served as executive director of the Wisconsin board for 13 years before becoming a commissioner six years ago.

Monroe Man Killed In Highway Accident

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's 1967 highway death toll stood at 762 today, compared with 777 on the same date a year ago.

Earl O. Wirth, 67, [illegible] Monroe, was killed in [illegible]-car Green County crash on States 1[illegible] and 81 near Juda.

Authorities said no other serious injuries resulted from the accident, which occurred on the crest of a hill.

Senate Testimony Released

Mine Haiphong Port to End War Quickly, Admiral Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disputing gloomy forecasts that the costly Vietnam war could run on another several years, Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp says the quickest way to end it is to close North Vietnam's main port of Haiphong by mining it.

Sharp, U.S. commander in the Pacific, told senators he has recommended this frequenly to "higher authority" in Washington.

"Mining is completely feasible and a very simple operation," the admiral told the Senate preparedness subcommittee Aug. 9. The 121 pages of closed testimony was made public today after hundreds of deletions by Pentagon censors. The gist of Sharp's testimony had become known last month.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., and the other seven senators on the subcommittee already have unanimously recommended a step-up of the air war against North Vietnam as a result of testimony by Sharp and other top military leaders.

Sharp said he heard another halt in U.S. bombing had been considered as a means of encouraging a negotiated settlement.

"It generally would be a disaster to the United States in my opinion," Sharp said of such a bombing pause.

He said North Vietnam would rush supplies into South Vietnam because 500,000 to 600,000 North Vietnamese are occupied rebuilding and guarding against

U.E. Bombing Strikes

The admiral confirmed he had been denied authority to bomb 105 "lucrative military targets" in North Vietnam but also disclosed that 16 of the targets had been approved by authorities in Washington the night before his Aug. 9 testimony. Sharp said Haiphong is the center through which most of the military hardware from the Soviet Union and other Communist nations pour into enemy hands.

He also testified that Washington officials drew protective circles about Haiphong, Hanoi and the buffer zone between Vietnam and Red China and banned any bombing there without specific prior approval.

Rate Increase Expected

Medicare Decision Might be Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's elderly are supposed to find out by Oct. 1 whether the $3 a month they now pay for doctor-bill insurance under medicare will be increased for the coming two years, but the announcement may be delayed.

It was learned the administration is considering asking Congress to extend the date by which John W. Gardner, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is required to announce the new rate.

Sources said department officials would like to see the date extended until Congress has completed action on medicare provisions in the Social Security bill—probably not until November.

Department officials say many pending medicare proposals could require a rate increase above whatever increase the department might now find necessary.

One proposal, now being hotly debated, would add the cost of prescription drugs to medicare benefits. Administration officials have said this would mean raising the rate by 50 cents to $1. The government contributes an equal amount.

Gardner said last week he is against adding drugs to medicare before he gets a final task force report on the issue next June 1.

The Social Security package, including medicare, has passed the House and now is in the Senate.

HEW officials say an extension of the Oct. 1 date might save a lot of administrative confusion.

An "open enrollment" period of three months is supposed to begin Oct. 1 for elderly persons to join the voluntary doctor-bill insurance plan. But the period would have to be reopened if no extension were provided and the rate had to be changed because of congressional action.

Open Housing Stand Expected

Alliance Converges For Appleton Meeting

The vanguard of the officials who will attend the Alliance of Cities meeting started arriving in Appleton this afternoon to prepare the agenda for the daylong conference Thursday at the Conway Motor Hotel.

Representatives of more than 20 Wisconsin cities will vote on resolutions calling for:

—An early fall session of the Wisconsin Legislature to consider pending bills to help solve problems of urban areas.

—Passage of a statewide fair housing law by the legislature.

—Expedition of a report of changing state-shared tax formulas which is zeing studied by a task force headed by Dr. Curtis Tarr, president of Lawrence University.

Revise Annexation Laws

—Immediate legislation to revise the state's outmoded annexation laws.

Several other matters will come before the mayors, city managers and other city officials.

Statewide attention is being focused on what position the Alliance — the political muscle of Wisconsin's more populated cites — will take on open housing.

Mayor Otto Festge, Madison, Alliance president, has announced he will submit the resolution calling for the legislature to immediately pass such a law.

Mayors Support Open Housing

Several Fox Valley mayors, including George Buckley of Appleton, have indicated they would support the resolution.

Buckley and others have taken the position if there is to be a complete fair housing law, it should be applicable statewide, rather than let individual communities or counties pass their own versions.

Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee, one of the Alliance founders, may not be able to attend but is sending a delegation of staff members.

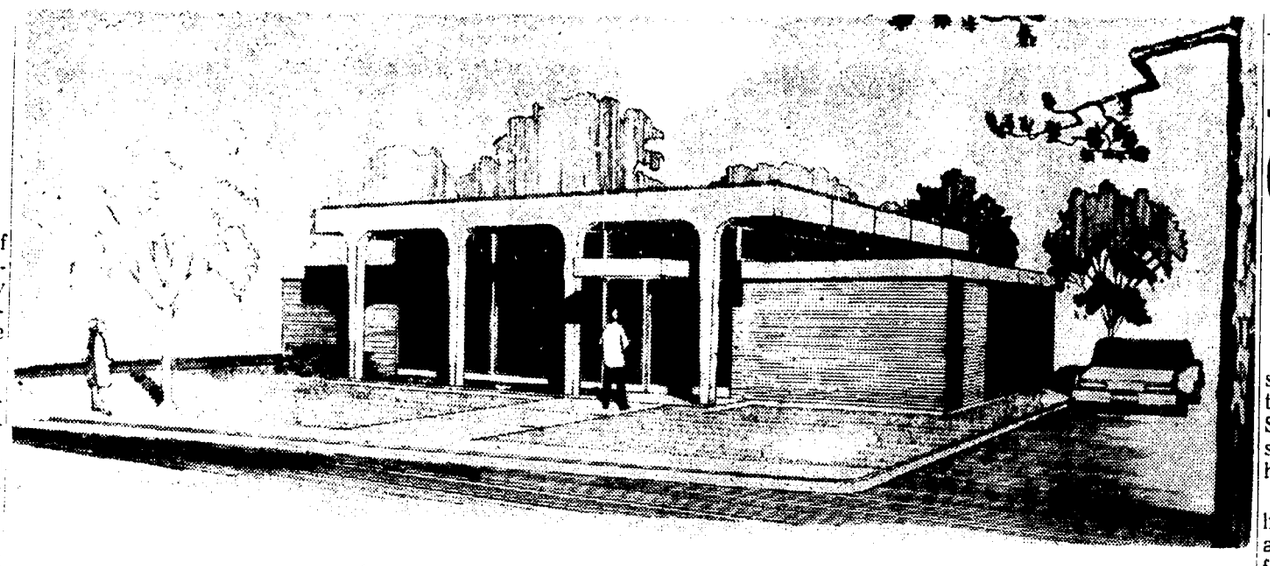
Maier, it was learned today, has received a request from Gov. George Romney of Michigan to meet with him when he visits Milwaukee tomorrow. Maier is also slated to give the keynoting address at the opening session of the Iowa League of Municipalities.

League Backs Open Housing

The Appleton League of Woman Voters today threw its support behind the Alliance resolution calling for a strong statewide open housing law.

In a letter to Mayor George Buckley, the League said it has studied the problems of discrimination in housing throughout the state, with particular emphasis on urban areas.

"...It is encouraging to know that you and other mayors throughout the state are also concerned with this problem, and will be urging the legislature to strengthen our existing laws," the League said



Architect's Concept of New Hortonville Bank

On Main Street

Plans Announced for New Hortonville Bank

HORTONVILLE — Construction plans of a new bank building for the Hortonville branch of the Appleton State Bank have been announced by Gus A. Zuelke, bank president.

The new building will be built several blocks east of the present site. The branch has operated here since 1938.

Exterior Plans

The one-story building, at 132 E. Main St., will provide 2,500 square feet of space. Interior plans include a customer service area, four full service teller stations, vault with all-new safe deposit boxes, drive-up window, night depository, two conference rooms, workroom, executive offices and customer lounge.

The exterior of the building will be red face brick and double glass curtain wall. here will be two customer entrances to the bank.

The customer service area and offices will be carpeted. Fluorescent lighting will be utilized throughout. Regularly finished inside walls will be relieved by paneled and face brick areas. The building will be air-conditioned.

Parking Access

Access to the drive-up facilities and parking area at the rear will be provided by a roadway on the east side of the building. The parking area will accommodate 23 cars. The property extends from Main Street to Black Otter Lake. The area between the bank and the lake shore will be landscaped.

Completion is scheduled for early 1968.

Architects are Zwack and Peeples of Appleton. Oudenhoven Company, Inc. is general contractor. Milar R. Sousek is the manager of the branch.

Juries to Sit On Two Cases

Nick Schaefer Asks For 12-Man Panels For Traffic Trials

For the first time in his nearly seven years as Outagamie County District Attorney, Nick F. Schaefer has asked for juries to sit on two traffic trials in which he is representing the state.

Schaefer said this morning he has requested 12-man juries for an axle-overload case scheduled for trial Dec. 15 and a speeding trial set for Dec. 13.

Both trials will be before Outagamie County Judge Urban P. VanSusteren who received jurisdiction after affidvaits of prejudice were filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Warrant Juries

Normally, a jury is requested by the defense. However, Schaefer explained he has the power to request a jury under state statutes. Schaefer said he believed these cases warranted his asking for juries.

The axle-overload case had been scheduled for today. State inspectors issued a citation to Foreway Express Company, Wausau, last Nov. 8 alleging that one of its tandem trucks had a 7,020 pound overload.

The truck was stopped at W. 8th Street and Linwood Avenue in Appleton. The company pleaded innocent Nov. 29 and the case was to have gone before Van Susteren for trial without a jury.

The other case involved a speeding charge against Richard L. Bartell, 30, of Genessee Depot. State police alleged he drove 69 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone on U.S. 41 near State 47 the night of May 14.

Commission members also discussed the need for changes to increase the use of the southern end of Erb Park. Ald. Orville A. Strutz (17th) told them that a traffic problem was created at the intersection of Glendale and Bruce streets because of the extensive use of the north end of the park.

Commission members agreed on the need for more proportionate use of the park and decided that study of the needs of Erb should be studied for recommendations in the future.

County Board OK's Hiring of Process Server

hiring of the man on the county level will not affect the self-employed person, Kloes said.

In further citing the need for a fulltime county man, Kloes said that a recent case showed that a patrolman hired part-time at $2.70 per hour took five hours to track down his subject and serve the legal papers near Seymour. That did not include the cost of operating the county-owned car, Kloes explained.

"You could go on forever with a part-time process server and never know what it's costing," Kloes said.

He explained that the alternative would be hiring another investigator for the sheriff — a move that would cost considerably more than the $5,500 being paid for the process server.

Union Accuses Board of Bias

without pay, if adequate substitutes could be found.

Members of the Appleton Education Association (AEA), the official bargaining union for the teachers as determined by an election in 1965, will be allowed to attend their November convention with pay.

The problem cropped up last year when, for the first time, the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers (WFT), of which ATU is a member, changed the dates of its convention after the school calendar had been set up.

In past years both unions had held their conventions at the same time.

"Discriminatory"

The board, along with other school systems in the state, refused to pay those attending the convention and was accused of the same discriminatory practices by WFT. This summer the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board ruled that the board had acted fairly.

"We ask you, on behalf of Appleton labor, to reconsider your decision at your next board meeting Sept. 18," the labor union letter concludes.

Little Chute Resident Hospitalized After Fall

Kimberly jumped from $46.9 to $48.3 million.

Total valuation of the four cities is $462.2 million and the seven villages show a combined valuation of $107.5 million

Grand Chute led the towns in valuation increase with a hike of nearly $4 million — from $63.5 million in 1966 to $67.4 this year.

Valuation in most of the other 19 towns remained fairly stable, although all showed increases over the past year. Among the major gainers were Buchanan, which jumped from about $11 million last year to $11.8 million this year, and Greenville, which jumped from $12.3 to $13.6.

Percentage Increase

Kaukauna also led in real estate value percentage increases. Kaukauna jumped from $67.2 million last year to $73.5 this year, an increase of $6.3 million or 9.35 per cent.

All municipalities showed real estate gains. Appleton real estate valuation increased 3.62 per cent from the $302.9 million of last year, while New London increased 6.69 per cent to a total of $6.2 million. Seymour showed a 2.87 per cent gain over the $10 million figure of 1966.

Two villages showing major real estate valuation gains were Combined Locks, 6.54 per cent over the $18.2 million figure of 1966, and Hortonville, which has a 1967 figure of $6.1 million, a 6.53 per cent increase over last year.

Real Estate Up

Equalized real estate valuation in Grand Chute rose by $2.7 million over the 1966 figure of $53.8 million, for a 4.99 per cent hike. Other major increases, in terms of percentages, included the Town of Buchanan, 5.06; Greenville, 7.84; Hortonia, 4.99; and Vandenbroek, 5.10.

Vosen told supervisors this morning that $11.8 million of Appleton's increased assessed valuation was due to new construction. He said another $174,800 was gained through annexations, and $193,000 was added from property that had formerly been tax exempt.

About $1 million was dropped from the valuation because of a new state law which exempts water pollution abatement equipment operated by industrial firms. The major share of the $1 million was accounted for by a new processing plant constructed by Consolidated Papers, Inc., of Appleton, Vosen said.

FREEZE NOW...FEAST LATER

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

The freezer can be the homemaker's best friend without a doubt. It can beat the budget . . . or at least whack it down a little . . . nourishing foods and ready-made dishes can be all ready to pop into the oven on those hectic days of committee meetings or red letter programs at church and club that just can't be skipped.

When community chores, civic duties and just plain shopping trips start squeezing the days, it's always good to know that there's food ready and waiting for lunch or supper. Not to mention the fun days of hostessing with treats tucked away for just such occasions.

Home economists who have studied the fine points of freezer foods and their possibilities give these timely pointers. Make your freezer a servant, make it work for you. Freeze with the season . . . freeze with the bargains (be sure they are bargains) . . . freeze with the weekend coming up in mind . . . or against the day when there seem to be no less than a million errands to do and not enough time to do them.

With a modern freezer, the homemaker can prepare casseroles or other main dish foods for the family and make a batch for freezing. Individual casseroles for the freezer are an excellent idea for the days when mom's downtown and the children are preparing their own lunch on Saturday.

If the family is lucky enough to have fishermen for friends, or an avid angler right in the group, then the bonus is a delicious one. Preparation for the freezer is no problem if a few basic rules are followed.

A dip in brine solution (¼-cup salt dissolved in one quart of cool water) for 20 seconds will help keep lean fish such as perch, halibut and flounder firm. This treatment also reduces drip when the fish is thawed

All fish for freezing, of course, are scaled and cleaned Leave whole . with heads on if desired . for stuffing and fileted if this is preferred.

Fat fish, such as lake trout, pink salmon or mackerel fare better in a one-minute rinse in ascorbic acid solution (two tablespoons ascorbic acid in one quart cool water) This lengthens the time fish may be kept frozen before using.

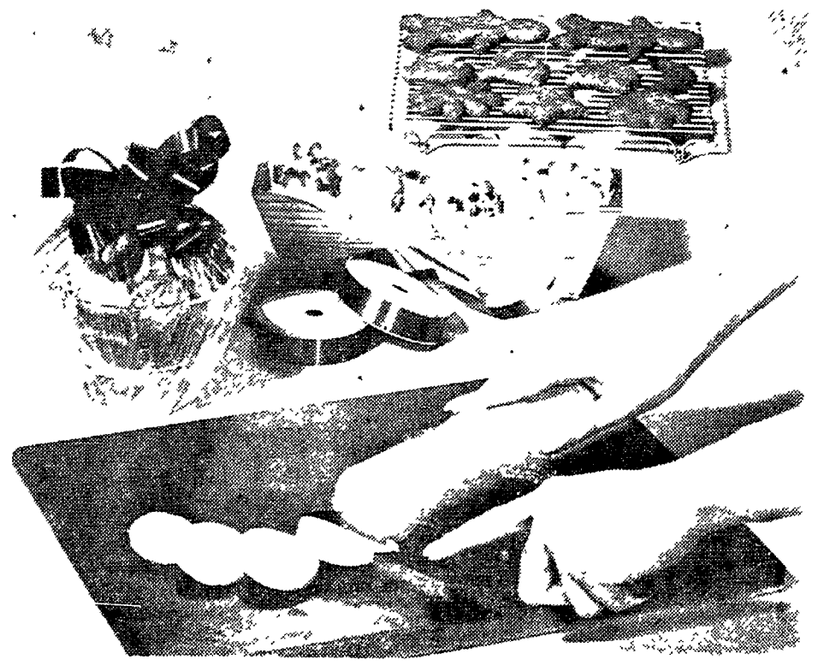
Two flavorful casseroles, above, left, lend themselves to freezing. It's a good rule to season prepared dishes lightly when freezing because seasonings tend to become stronger during prolonged storage. Add such things as potatoes and onions when dish is being reheated.

At the left are the makings of a party with pinwheel sandwiches and iced cupcakes from the freezer and a beautifully frosted, olive decorated ribbon sandwich loaf from the refrigerator.

At the upper far right, baked fish with Citrus Stuffing is served with a salad and fresh fruit segments for an impressive entree at a company dinner. The cookies at the right come from the freezer ready for baking in dough form or already baked and ready to eat as soon as they are thawed. These particular cookies are Orange Peanut variety.



GOP Women Set Up Tour

Oneidas Making Positive Try At Solving Problems of Tribe

"They're scrambling to take advantage of every opportunity to improve their lives, to get ahead, to become better educated," agreed Mrs Harley Splitt of the Fox Valley Human Rights Council and Mrs. William Boettge, president of the Outagamie County Federation of Republican Women, after their Monday trip to the Oneida Indian community. The Indians see this as a new day for themselves, with the future unlimited, and they want every chance possible.

The two felt the attitude was a more positive statement than marching and confrontations, and a constructive search for ways to fight poverty, lack of education and separateness.

The trip to Oneida was planned by the GOP Women, who, in an off-year for elections, undertook a community service project. It's the first time they've done something besides politicking and they've developed a very real concern for the Oneida, who takes great pride in his tradition and his contribution to America The women have supported their needs in the Indian Claims Bureau, sold stationery made by the tribe and is telling whenever possible of the very real need for a recreation center for the Oneidas.

Has Changed

The 30 women who took the bus trip to the Oneida community Monday noted how mistaken their own concepts of the Indian had been—how years ago they had gone there only to take the children to orphanages or their troubled youth to the reformatory. It's changed, they agreed, largely through the effort of the Indians themselves, who are making strong efforts to keep their young people in school and out of the mischief idleness can bring.

Community action programs, many sponsored under the Office of Economic Opportunity, have given the Indian a tremendous boost, the women say. They note, among them, Head Start, new housing units for low income families, adult education carried out through the University of Wisconsin Extension Division, and a recently completed Red Cross home nursing course for the women.

Can Earn Way

The youth program under which young people can earn money helping clear the land has given the young a sense of worth and purpose. Needed badly are programs for the aged, who sit with nothing to do. They would be excellent at crafts, but cannot afford to even buy yarn Next year, said Mrs. Cornelius Baird, who told the combined group of the community action program, they hope for elderly VISTA people who will concentrate on the aged and their needs.

One of the major problems is lack of communication between the Indians and the white race, members of the groups learned from Mrs. Baird and Oscar Archiquette, former Oneida tribal chairman The two discussed both the history of the tribe and the present directions being taken in community action.

Especially important now is the need for playground equipment for the children, such basic items as slides and swings, to keep the youngsters in their home neighborhoods. A dance planned by the Oneidas for Nov. 3 will attempt to raise money for this purpose. Equipment is needed both at the nw Memorial Park and at the housing development.

Some in Both

There was some overlapping of membership in the two groups of women who joined for the day and had lunch at the Episcopal Church Hall at Oneida The Human Rights Council has an obvious interest in the Oneidas, and several members have had personal contact with Oneida representatives, but it was the first time women in the council had visited there to get acquainted as individuals. It was also a first for many of the GOP women.

Both groups expressed the hope that it was only the beginning of widening interest in helping people who are trying to help themselves.

Couple Marks 50th Wedding Anniversary

CHARLESBURG — Mr and Mrs. Joseph Steiner marked their 50th wedding anniversary at a 1 p m. Sunday high mass at St. Charles Catholic Church. The Rev Carl E. Steiner, Sacred Heart Seminary, Oneida, a nephew of the couple, was celebrant.

A reception and supper were held in the church hall.

The Steiners are parents of three sons, Melvin, Ralph and Alphonse, all of the Town of New Holstein. There are 21 grandchildren.

The couple was married Sept 18, 1917, and farmed in the Town of New Holstein until their retirement in 1958.

Registration may be made at the recreation office, 1205 W. Prospect Ave. A small fee will be charged

Mrs. H. J. Weller will be the instructor.

Wrapping Important Step in Preparing Foods for Freezing

Proper wrapping is the most important thing to remember when preparing any food for home freezing

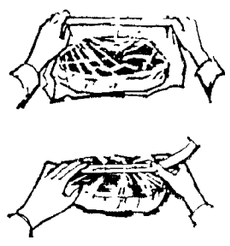
For best results in preserving pure flavors, the freezer should keep natural moisture in and drying freezer air out Because pliofilm Saran food wrap is both moisture and vapor proof it is excellent for these purposes. A good freezer tape seal on each package doubles as a labeling area for date, weight and the number of servings.

Two wrapping styles are most suitable for either family-size or individual servings and are the best flavor-sealers for frozen foods.

BUTCHER WRAP

When wrapping several patties or small steaks, place squares of film between them for easier separation later.

Turn the stack on its side, placing it diagonally on large square of wrap. Bring back corner forward, pressing snugly against meat. Fold in from each side, pressing out as much air as possible on each fold



Pull up the remaining side of film Seal the package with freezer tape and label

DRUG STORE WRAP

Place food in the center of a piece of wrap Bring the front and back edges together, pulling tightly Turn edges under, making an inch fold

Continue folding until wrap adheres snugly to food Then smooth with hand to press out air

Fold ends into triangles, again pressing out air Bring triangles to the center

AMERICA'S CHOICE FOR OVER 100 YEARS

Vegetables Ideal First Course

VEGETABLES MAKE IDEAL FIRST COURSE

In France and other European countries, the first course of a luncheon or dinner menu often is a cooked marinated vegetables such as artichokes or asparagus vinaigrette Also frequently served, both at home and in restaurants, is a tremendous variety of cold hors d'oeuvres based largely on cooked marinated vegetables

Convenient, ready-to-cook frozen vegetables make it a simple matter for Americans to adapt the French hors d'oeuvres idea of offering either a single marinated vegetable or a selection of them Frozen vegetables also assure appetizers that are colorful and flavorful because the vegetables are quick frozen at the peak of perfection at modern plants located near the farms where the vegetables are grown.

Marinated frozen vegetables can be served as cocktail appetizers, the first course at a sit-down meal or as the salad accompaniment for a main dish A vinaigrette dressing (see Artichokes Vinaigrette recipe) blends with most vegetables, but the usual popular choices are asparagus spears and whole green beans in addition to artichoke hearts

For best flavor, add the dressing to the vegetables while they are still warm Ideally, they should not be served directly from the refrigerator since allowing them to warm to room temperature brings out their flavors

ARTICHOKES VINAIGRETTE

- 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen artichoke hearts
- 1 can (4 ounces) pimiento, drained and chopped
- ½ cup olive oil
- ½ cup white wine vinegar (or half vinegar and half dry white wine)
- 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
- 1 tablespoon sweet pickle liquid
- ½ teaspoon crumbled oregano
- ½ teaspoon crumbled basil

Cook artichoke hearts in boiling salted water according to package directions. Drain and place in an earthenware or glass bowl Add pimiento Combine remaining ingredients in jar or bowl, shake or beat until well mixed Pour over artichoke hearts. Toss lightly to coat evenly. Let stand at room temperature at least 30 minutes, stirring occasionally Serve immediately or refrigerate until ready to serve Recipe makes eight servings.

DILLED CARROTS

- 1 package (1 pound) frozen whole baby carrots
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill or
- ¼ cup dill sprigs
- 1 clove garlic, cut ino quarters
- ⅓ cup olive oil
- ⅓ cup frozen lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Cook carrots in boiling salted water according to package directions. Drain and place in an earthenware or glass bowl. Add dill and garlic. Marketing Memo

Fresh Vegetables High on Best Buy List

Local vegetables continue as a market highlight with squash probably one of the best produce values The most economical buys for the week, says Rosemary Stare, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin

Hard shelled squash such as acorn, butternut and buttercup are very reasonable Store some in a cool, dry basement for later use, or freeze them cooked for instant meals this winter

Summer squash such as zucchini also is available and moderate in price These are so tender that skins and seeds are eaten Choose zucchini that are free from bruises or blemishes and that feel heavy They are easy to cook - just slice and pan fry in a little fat The slices may be breaded, sauced or combined with other vegetables

Cabbage and cauliflower are high on the list of economical vegetables Cabbage is best when heads are quite solid and heavy. Look for clean, compact cauliflower with white or creamy white flowerets and bright green leaves to promise freshness

Celery, cucumbers and head lettuce are expected to be higher in price this week Sweet corn is getting scarce

Rutabagas, eggplant, green peppers, tomatoes and potatoes all are on the good buy list for this week. Leafy types of lettuce should be reasonable

Apples and seedless green grapes are probably your best buys in fruit Citrus fruits are higher in price and so are peaches, plums, nectarines and cantaloupe. Concord grapes are now available in limited supply

Meat prices are about the same as a week ago Specials selections are still beef and pork and features point to the best liver, ground beef and frying chicken

Flavor comes first with Allsweet. It was that lighthearted, soft, sweet flavor that first made regular Allsweet one of America's all-time favorites. That same flavor is also available today in new Allsweet Soft. (It took two years to get the recipe just right—flavor is released faster in soft margarine, so the balance of ingredients is critical.) Which does your family prefer—soft or stick? Either way, enjoy the soft, sweet, Allsweet flavor.

Brooklyn Expert Mystifying

There's no great triumph in bamboozling a beginner, the great trick is to mystify a master Bridge players still chuckle when they recall George Kennedy's feat in New York's famous Mayfair Bridge Club many years ago

Declarer, a well known expert, won the heart opening lead with dummy's king and planned the play He needed five tricks in clubs and diamonds combined and might get them all in clubs if he could find the queen and run the suit

Still there was no need to reply on clubs alone With good luck in diamonds he could make do with just two club tricks, and if the diamonds turned sour, he would still have time to switch to clubs

After this accurate analysis South got to his hand with the ace of spades and led the eight of diamonds for a finesse This rode around to East, who made his play very normally — not too quickly and not too slowly

Sees Menace

George Kennedy could see the menacing clubs in the dummy and felt sure that South could run the suit if he tried Kennedy s only weapon was the magician s device of misdirection, and he trotted this out by winning the first diamond with the ace

South s face lit up as he won the heart return He was going to win four diamond tricks and therefore didn't have to rely on luck in clubs

Declarer therefore led another diamond from his hand to take the proven" finesse with dummy's nine Kennedy fumbled in his hand muttering "I can follow suit to that one," and produced the queen of diamonds

Now it was South's turn to do the muttering as his opponents rattled off three heart tricks to defeat the contract

Exposition Gates To Open Earlier On Saturday

MADISON — Secret Service men and White House representatives scouting the huge crowd attending the World Food Exposition here today requested that gates be open at least one-half hour earlier for the World Youth Forum Saturday, to be lead by Mrs Lyndon B Johnson and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman Mrs Johnson's talk is entitled "Seekers & Builders" Mrs Hubert Humphrey wife of the Vice President is also expected as a guest of the Exposition

Concern was expressed that a bottleneck of buses and cars at the gates be eliminated The early opening it is hoped will eliminate confusion and delay in seating the large crowd in the Memorial Coliseum for the "Youth in a World Beautiful" Forum which will convene promptly at 10 a m

Those looking for seating should arrive one half hour earlier it was suggested by Exposition officers Up to 10,000 or more young people, parents, teachers, and club leaders are expected

A World Youth Panel including Nadine Meier, 19, Kenosha, Jane Marcotte Marshall, Minnesota, Ruth Anderson, Cedarburg Clarence Sherrod, Milwaukee and Sharon Vangren, Ferryville, will explore with Mrs Johnson and Secretary Freeman ways in which youth can serve in expanding world food resources and conserving natural beauty

Your Problems

Parents Wish Teen Son Would Brush Hair as Well as Teeth

DEAR ANN LANDERS We have a 15-year-old son who is driving us crazy It is his teeth and his nair He ties up the family bathroom for one hour every morning while he brushes his teeth But he flatly refuses to put a comb through his hair

Landers

Here is his routine He gets up, brushes his teeth for 20 minutes, eats breakfast, goes back to the bathroom and brushes his teeth again Then he gets dressed Before he leaves the house he returns to the bathroom a third time and brushes his teeth once more

All the while his hair is matted and straggly and he says it doesn t bother him because 'nobody brushes their hair anymore"

What is wrong with this boy? Do you think he will ever grow up and act like a civilized human? — We'd Like the Bathroom

Dear W L.T.B.: Yes. He'll probably meet a girl one of these days and then he'll tie up the bathroom for two hours

In the meantime, for those second third brushings, provide him with a jug of water and a basin and free up the bathroom for other members of the family.

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am an unwed mother who wrote to you two weeks ago and asked what I could do to get support money for my child I am only 16 and I can't get a job

Well, the situation has changed since I wrote The father got married three days ago, but not to me I went to the welfare agency as you suggested and they told me I could not get any support money out of Barney unless I can prove he is the father If I say he is the father and he says he isn't the father, whose word are they going to take?

By the way, Barney just got out of the service and he doesn't have a job The baby will be a year old next week and Barney hasn't given me one dime What do I do now? — Confused

Dear Confused: Since you are in touch with the welfare people, I suggest that you do as they tell you.

I wish I could be more optimistic about your chances but you've got a tough battle on your hands if Barney is denying paternity. It may be that the best you can get, if you win, is to put him in jail. And what good would that do you?

DEAR ANN LANDERS This letter is to say "Amen" to the appeal made by "Voice of America' to the country's dress designers May I add a word?

I understand that half the adult population of the United States is over 26 years of age This is the half incidentally that pays most of the bills

I can tell you from experience that it is darned near impossible for a 40-year-old woman who is five feet seven inches tall to find anything decent to wear, at any price If her bust is larger than 32 she can forget it I haven't bought a new outfit in two years, and I feel positively seedy, but I refuse to wear a dress that fits like sausage casing, or, heaven forbid, the tent style monstrosities which make every woman look pregnant

Please tell me how the manufacturers can afford to ignore a large segment of their best customers — Prospective Nudist

Dear Pro: The manufacturers say business is good. So someone is buying the nutty styles, even though you aren't. And, P S , Sister — neither am I

when prepared include two tempting casseroles, baked fish with citrus stuffing (this stuffing is good for any fish although frozen mackerel is suggested in the recipe), pinwheel sandwiches for a tea, luncheon or party along with an excellent recipe for Orange Peanut Refrigerator cookies, which may be frozen as rolled dough or stored in the freezer after being completely baked.

One added recipe is for a delightful ribbon sandwich loaf, made for refrigerating overnight but not for freezing. It is pictured with the party roll-up sandwiches and cupcakes, both of which take to freezer technique with ease.

HAM AND NOODLE CASSEROLE

- 4 ounces green egg noodles (2 cups cooked)
- ¾ cup butter
- ⅓ cup chopped onion
- ⅓ cup chopped green pepper
- ½ pound mushrooms, sliced
- ¾ cup flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 quart milk
- 1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 3 cups diced cooked ham

Cook noodles according to package directions. Heat butter in large, deep skillet. Add onion, green pepper and mushrooms. Saute about five minutes. Add flour and seasonings and stir until blended. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.

Remove from heat and stir in cheese until melted and smooth. Add noodles and ham and stir well to combine ingredients.

Recipe makes two quarts, about six servings; one cup individual casseroles for freezing at this point.

To prepare for freezing, line casserole or other freezer dish with pliofilm wrap, allowing enough wrap to fold over and seal. Fill to within ¼-inch space at top. Fold over pliofilm wrap in double fold; seal with freezer tape, label and date. Freeze overnight; in morning the frozen food may be taken from casserole, if used, then packet returned to freezer so dish may be used again.

There are, however, many sizes of aluminum foil freezer dishes on the market that are excellent for this use so that food may be packed in these dishes, then go to the freezer.

To reheat, remove frozen food from container and its wrap; place in baking dish or casserole. Bake in 375-degree heat until hot, about 35 to 40 minutes.

If the casserole is to be eaten immediately, without freezing, bake in 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes, or until hot.

BEEF AND KIDNEY PIE

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 2½ pounds beef round, cut into ¾-inch cubes
- 3 veal kidneys, sliced, fat and membrane removed
- ½ pound mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 cans (10½ ounces each) beef bouillon
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup flour
- ¼ cup water
- Pastry for one 8-inch crust

Heat butter in large heavy skillet or kettle. Saute beef until lightly browned. Add kidneys, mushrooms and onion. Saute about five minutes. Add one can bouillon undiluted; the other can diluted with one can water, Worcestershire sauce, Tabasco and salt.

Cover and simmer until tender, about 1½ hours.

Mix flour and water together until smooth and stir into beef and kidney mixture. Cook over low heat until thickened.

Recipe makes about six servings, ready for freezing.

For immediate use, place about 5½ cups mixture in 1½-quart casserole. Top with pastry making a few slits for steam to escape. Flute or fork edge of pastry. Bake in 450 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes or until crust is well browned.

The Beef and Kidney Pie may be frozen before adding the pastry, putting the crust on just before reheating in the oven. Remember that frozen foods take a little longer to heat, about 35 to 40 minutes in this case.

Some cooks prepare casseroles completely, including baking, and then freeze, but we advise leaving the baking for just before serving time. This way, pastry tops never get soggy and since the food is cooked, completing the baking process is a waste of time and heat.

MACKEREL WITH CITRUS STUFFING

- 2 medium mackerel, cleaned, split and thawed
- salt
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 2 oranges, sectioned

Sprinkle fish with salt.

Heat butter in skillet; add onion, celery and ½ teaspoon salt. Cook, stirring occasionally, until onion and celery are tender. Remove from heat; stir in rice and orange sections.

Stuff fish. Close opening with wooden picks placed vertically across opening. Place in shallow, oiled baking dish. Brush fish with salad oil.

CURRY SAUCE

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 2 cups milk
- ½ cup flaked coconut
- 1 grapefruit, sectioned

Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and curry powder and cook until onion is tender, but not brown. Blend in flour, salt and ginger. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in coconut and grapefruit sections. Serve with baked fish.

TO SECTION FRUIT

To section oranges and grapefruit, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough ro remove white membrane. Then cut slice from bottom. Or cut off peel round and round spiral fashion. Go over fruit again removing any remaining white membrane. Remove section by section over bowl to retain juice from fruit.

SPINACH SALAD ORIENTAL

- 6 cups torn spinach leaves
- 1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 2 grapefruit, peeled, sectioned and cut in pieces
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 t a b l espoons grapefruit juice
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Put spinach into large salad bowl. Add water chestnuts and cut grapefruit sections.

Mix oil, vinegar, grape fruit juice, soy sauce, Tabasco, salt and dry mustard; shake or beat well. Toss with spinach mixture. Recipe makes six servings.

PINWHEEL SANDWICHES

- 1½ pounds liverwurst
- 4 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco Sauce
- 1 teaspoon onion juice
- 1 loaf unsliced bread (1¼-pound loaf)

Remove casing from liverwurst; mash liverwurst with remaining ingredients.

With sharp knife, trim crust from all sides of a very fresh 1¼-pound unsliced loaf of bread.

Carefully cut bread into six lengthwise slices; cut each slice in half. Flatten bread slices with a rolling pin; roll from narrow end to prevent cracking.

Spread with filling; roll up each slice from the narrow end. Wrap in pliofilm wrap, allowing several inches on each end of roll to twist and seal. Freeze.

Before serving, thaw one hour at room temperature. Trim ends; cut rolls into ¼-inch slices. Arrange slices on serving plate. Cover until serving time to preserve moisture.

ORANGE PEANUT REFRIGERATOR COOKIE

- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup packed light brown sugar
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg, unbeaten
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup chopped peanuts or walnuts, optional

Sift together flour, baking soda and salt. Cream butter. Add sugars gradually, creaming thoroughly until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Mix in orange concentrate and rind. Stir in flour mixture and blend well. Mix in chopped peanuts.

Chill dough and refrigerate about one hour and then shape into two rolls (2 inches in diameter). Wrap in pliofilm wrap, allowing several inches on each end of roll to twist and seal. Chill overnight in refrigerator or in freezer for several hours. The cookie rolls are frozen at this point.

Cut cookie rolls into ¼-inch slices with sharp knife. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in 400-degree oven about eight minutes or until delicately browned. Recipe makes 48 cookies.

Note: Cookie rolls may be frozen for a period of six to eight months. Seal well with freezer tape. When ready to bake, remove film wrap and let stand a few minutes before slicing. Don't let dough get too soft or it will be hard to slice.

Below is the Sandwich Loaf recipe which should be made the day before using rather than being frozen. It's great for a party.

SANDWICH LOAF

- 1 loaf unsliced white bread (1-pound loaf)
- Sliced ripe olives

* * *

- 1 can deviled ham (4½ ounces)
- 2 tablespoons chopped dill pickle
- ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard

- 1 cup finely diced cooked chicken
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise

* * *

- ½ cup finely chopped ripe olives
- 2 tablespoons shredded sharp cheese
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
- 1 teaspoon mayonnaise

* * *

- 11 ounces cream cheese
- ¼ cup milk

With sharp knife, trim crusts from all sides of sandwich loaf, slice lengthwise into four long sections. The ripe olives may be left until just before serving time, since they are used for decoration.

Make the various sandwich fillings, each in a separate bowl. Cover with plastic film wrap until ready to assemble sandwich loaf. Be sure each filling is thoroughly blended; if there is time, refrigerate for a few hours before spreading on loaf.

Spread first slice with deviled ham filling. Cover with second slice; spread second slice with chicken filling; place third slice on loaf and spread with olive and cheese filing. Top with fourth slice.

At this point, wrap in pliofilm wrap. Refrigerate overnight and frost and decorate the next day.

To make the frosting, allow the cream cheese to warm to room temperature. At medium speed on electric mixer, beat cheese until light and fluffy. Gradually add milk, beating well after each addition. Frost entire surface of loaf and decorate with sliced olives. Sandwich loaf serves about eight persons.

Cabaret Club Schedules Dance

KAUKAUNA — 'Come to the Cabaret' is the theme of the Cabaret Club's informal dance set Saturday evening in the Red Room of Oakwood Hills Supper Club.

Cocktail parties scheduled at 7:30 p.m., will be held at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kloehn, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thiel, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kilgas, Mr. and Mrs. George Simon, Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Gast, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giordana and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Haessly.

The dance will begin at 9 a.m. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Winn and Mr. and Mrs. Russel Hacker, cochairmen, will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Vanevenhoven, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deering, Mr. and Mrs. David Kilgas, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merckx, and Mr. and Mrs. Alois Hooyman.

Decorate Rods

To give windows an elegant and coordinated decor look cover curtain rods with the same fabric that is used for draperies.

Choose a sturdy firmly-woven cotton for both rods and drapeies. For rods, use the heavy wooden poles that are so popular for window decorating. Staple or glue the cotton fabric around poles.

Accessory Show Planned

In a fashion season when accessories take a large share of the spotlight, knowing what and how becomes all-important. To help women learn 'How to Accessorize' the H. C. Prange Co. and Leather Industries of America will present an informal style show at 2 p.m. Thursday in the second floor Crystal Room.

A Leather Industries consultant, Mrs. Mary Ann Healy, will show how to coordinate accessories with a number of fashion outfits. There will be no admission charge.

Putting Your Best Food Forward

A Football-Shaped Appetizer is shown at the right, to be served after the game with mugs of mulled cider Above are the delightful makings of a buffet on the football theme Here crispy chicken is served with hot rolls in the shape of footballs and the dessert or salad looks like a collection of pompons The nippy punch, hot and fragrant has a creamy texture

When the frost is on the pumpkin, it's football time Put your best foot forward as an after-game hostess with a spectacular chicken casserole decorated with biscuit "footballs"

Whether or not you are on a diet, a creamy chicken-pie kind of dish is just the ticket for a nippy autumn evening The Kickoff Casserole is composed of succulent, meaty pieces of chicken cooked with tiny whole onions and peas

The dish takes less than an hour to make, the football biscuits are made with packaged biscuit mix To implement the stadium theme, offer Pom Pon Salad with the chicken The salad, composed of mounds of cottage cheese covered with "leaves" of shredded carrot and a center of sieved hard-cooked egg yolk, resembles a chrysanthemum corsage

Serve the football supper with a mulled fruit punch — and await cheers from your guests

For the school crowd, or any gathering of friends after the first football game of the season, an appetizer with cold or hot drinks gets the conversation going and the fun begins Try this new one that features apples and Wisconsin cheese Shape it like a football Serve hot coffee, or fresh cider or pour tea from a prettily decorated football table

KICKOFF CASSEROLE

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
3½ cups water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
½ cup chopped celery
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
12 small white onions
5 tablespoons flour
5 tablespoons water
Strips of pimiento

Place chicken in deep saucepan with water Add salt monosodium glutamate pepper, bay leaf and celery Cover and cook 15 minutes Add vegetables cook 15 minutes longer

Blend flour and five tablespoons water to a smooth paste, blend in small amount of hot broth Return to broth in kettle Bring to a boil, stirring constantly Turn mixture into two-quart oblong casserole Top with Football Biscuits Bake in 425 degree oven 20 minutes Place pimiento on top of "footballs" Recipe makes six servings

FOOTBALL BISCUITS

⅓ cup evaporated milk
⅓ cup water
2 cups packaged biscuit mix

Combine evaporated milk and water Add to biscuit mix Stir with fork beat 15 strokes Knead gently on lightly floured board or pastry cloth Divide dough into six parts, shape into ovals Make "laces" by dipping tip of spoon into evaporated milk and making indentations in each biscuit

Market Regains Steady Pace

Prices Drop at Opening, Return Quickly to Normal

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market shaved an early loss and was on virtually an even keel in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Prices sank at the opening in continuation of Tuesday's sharp decline which interrupted an extended advance that had taken the market to a new 1967 high.

The New York Stock Exchange halted trading in Bethlehem Steel and Cerro when the companies announced they were discussing a $330 million merger. At the time Bethlehem was up ⅛ at 37⅞ and Cerro was up 1¼ at 47¼. When trading in Bethlehem resumed it was quoted 37⅞, up ⅝.

Rheem Down

Rheem fell more than 2 points after announcement that its merger talks with Bethlehem were terminated.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up .06 at 930.13 after having been down more than 2 points early in the session.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon showed a loss of .7 at 340.1 with industrials off 1.3, rails off .2 and utilities unchanged.

United Aircraft was down more than a point and Boeing and General Dynamics off half a point.

General Motors fell half a point and Ford and Chrysler were unchanged.

Airlines were strong, Eastern gaining 2 points and United adding more than 1.

Control Data climbed nearly 5 points and Xerox was up more than 2.

Soldier Overseas Asks About Establishing Credit on Return

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant In Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley
I am a serviceman here in Vietnam My problem is that I would like to know how to establish a credit rating I plan to be married fairly soon and would like to have credit established in some of the stores in the neighborhood back home where my wife and I intend to live

Thank you very much for any suggestions

H G , Vietnam

Dear H G

About the only way a man can establish credit is by using it. What a creditor really wants to know is, can you pay your bills? What can you tell him in advance? Did you have credit extended to you before you went into the service — perhaps for car payments, clothing, drug store bills? If so, your credit rating can easily be checked through the couple of thousand credit bureaus around the country. Do you have a bank account, checking or savings? Can you tell a prospective creditor you have a job to come back to — a job that is certain?

The fact that you're thinking about this now indicates a sense of responsibility every young man about to be married doesn't have. And this alone would tend to make a good first impression on any credit manager or lender. But I think you're going to have to wait till you get back and talk it over in person -- unless you have some hard-headed financial evidence to show. If you know the names of specific stores or lenders you hope to deal with, you can write to them, of course. But I suspect they'd still say "Come in when you can and let's talk about it."

Dear Miss Feeley
My husband's take-home pay is $570 monthly, minus $40 which goes automatically into a credit union At present, our monthly budget allows us to put $75 in the bank regularly

I would like to know if this sounds reasonable — or if people with this income save more than we do Will you please answer?

Betty L , New York City

Dear Betty

You're right up close to the top. National averages, as cited by the American Bankers Association, indicate that the general range for savings is from 5 per cent to 15 per cent of net earnings. You're averaging better than 13 per cent.

And since you're putting $40 monthly into a credit union, your percentage of savings is actually higher, considering interest earned and your potential borrowing power in an emergency.

Dear Miss Feeley
I have a partially-handicapped son who will be 20 in November His mother died on our 35th anniversary, and I've been keeping house for my boy now that I'm retired — after a couple of heart attacks I was told long ago that if I had a million bucks I couldn't educate him because of his poor memory retention He has been working three days a week — a work study" program conducted by our State people who've been swell

My son now has started full time work at the same place, and he agrees he should pay room and board My retirement income is about $150 weekly and my house is paid for Nevertheless, I always had to pay my way and I think he should also But how much should he pay?

I want to do exactly right He has a bank account already started Would it be possible to figure a fair price for the use of the house and his food?

C H K , West Caldwell, N J

Dear C H K

I go along with your thinking on this. Paying his own way is a man's privilege. Maybe you'll both agree on what seems fair to me — one-fourth of his net income for room and board. And maybe you'll want to put the money into his savings account, since you don't really need it.

KHS Students to Sign by Friday For PSA Tests

KAUKAUNA — Juniors or seniors planning to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, to be given Oct 14, have until Friday to register with Fred Barribeau, guidance director at Kaukauna High School The test is scheduled to get underway at 8 a m in the East and West study halls The test is designed to predict the ability of the student to handle college work, especially as it relates to the selection of a particular school

A 50 cent registration fee must be paid at the time of registration The test helps prepare students for the scholastic aptitude test and college board examinations, according to Barribeau Test scores are reported back to the school and are forwarded to the scholarship committee for scholarship applicants

Walter Heller Still Advises On Economics

Retired Chairman Of Presidential Council Asks Surtax

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter W. Heller retired in 1964 as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers but his advice has continued to flow as if he had an open conduit to Washington.

From Minneapolis, where he is a professor and a banker, Heller has continued to influence public matters, bringing some fame to his bank and school and, it is assumed, wisdom to those who listen to his advice.

In the opinion of some New Frontiersmen, at least, Heller has a legitimate claim to the status of oracle, for he was chief economist when the Kennedy administration challenged some conventional views on taxes.

Vietnam Costs

In the early years of this decade Heller recommended a tax cut although the budget was glowing red, the economy was already fairly prosperous and a conflict in Vietnam was burning up more and more money.

Heller believed then that the economy was capable of still more capacity if freed from the rein of restrictive taxes. As a result, taxes in 1964 and 1965 were cut by about $20 billion.

As forecast, the demand for goods rose, production expanded, and more rather than less tax revenue poured in. The tax base had grown.

This was not unique, for taxes had been cut several times before to spur an economy capable of noninflationary expansion. But for various reasons the 1964 tax cut was the most dramatic use of the concept.

Family Needs

Unfortunately, Heller could not spur his own economy. He resigned in 1964, claiming that in order to advise the federal government on finances he had to borrow $16,000 in three years to feed his family.

This week Heller, the man who cut taxes, came out with some strong words in favor of raising taxes.

In his role as economist with the National City Bank he urged that: "If Congress fails to enact the surtax, brisk expansion threatens to turn into a galloping advance that would make a 3 per cent rise Consumer Price Index the very least we could expect in 1968."

"If Congress prudently passes the 10 per cent surtax, it will sharply improve 1968 prospects by:

Expansion Rate

"—Bringing the expansion of demand back to a sustainable rate;

"—Opening up enough breathing space for monetary policy to operate effectively without a drastic new credit squeeze;

"—Providing more elbow room for the most urgent domestic problems."

Heller has held some of these views on the present economy for many months. Even before the Johnson administration suggested a surtax last January, Heller had been recommending the same thing.

Heller is saying, in effect, that to attempt to spur more output from the present economy might produce only inflation instead.

Nevertheless, he feels, the federal government needs a surtax to fight "the good fight against inflation and ghettos, side by side with war in Vietnam."

Different Look

He concedes that Congress may look at events differently, but he ignored the vastly changed political climate when he observes:

"One wonders why Congress, which had the gumption to enact some $15 billion of tax increases in 1950-1951 to finance the Korean conflict, should now balk at a much more modest increase."

These then are some of the arguments for a tax increase by the man who built a big reputation on a big tax cut—who perhaps helped to produce the boom now forecast, a boom the administration feels can become inflated and perhaps burst.

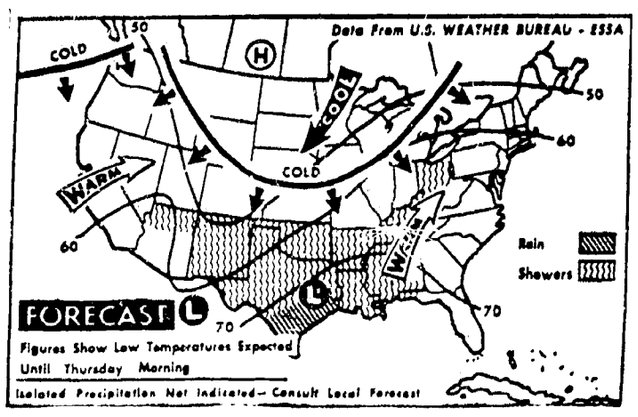
Workers Elect To Join Unions

Unions were successful in representation elections held at Appleton firms Monday and today.

A work unit at the W. S. Patterson Co. voted 7 to 5 today to have Teamsters Local 563 be its bargaining representative.

And at Structo, Inc., earlier in the week the Teamsters won the right to represent two drivers, and the Carpenters and Joiners Union, AFL-CIO, picked up a work unit on a 3-0 vote.

In both National Labor Relations Board-sponsored elections, employees had their choice of having a union or not.



Rain Is Due to Spread Inland along the Texas coast tonight, and showers are expected from the lower Mississippi Valley through the Ohio Valley and from the southern Plains into the southern Plateau region. It will be cooler in the northern Plains and warmer in the central Rockies, the Great Basin area and in central California. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Your Money's Worth

Inflation Increasing —And That Is That

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The cost of mailing a letter or a postcard is going up to the highest level ever in response to the unrelenting Post Office deficit Neither an increase in your income taxes nor a brake on your borrowing will alter this outlook. there is no direct relationship between postal rates and income taxes or credit ease Postal costs will go up — and that's that

The cost of medical services is going up to the highest level ever in response to the surging demand for medical services, long-term shortages of medical personnel and inadequate medical facilities Neither a slash in federal spending nor a hike in income taxes nor a squeeze on credit will alter this outlook Medical service costs will go up — and that's that

The cost of food is going up to the highest level ever in response to basic farm policies, farm price trends and rising costs of food production, processing, packaging and shipping Again, neither a hike in your income taxes nor a squeeze on credit will switch this trend Rising freight rates will be reflected in higher food prices, renewed administration stockpiling of specific foods will bolster farm prices, smaller production of livestock will strengthen meat prices Food costs will go up — and that's that

Porter

So it goes on and on through a long and lengthening list of services, durable and non-durable goods, necessities and luxuries The movement toward a significantly higher cost of living in this country is firmly under way and accelerating

Many costs which are now climbing are fundamental to the entire structure and will have an effect rippling out through the economy for months (for instance, higher freight charges which will be added on to the prices of thousands of goods)

Services have been in a powerful uptrend all along and still are Now the movement is quickening in goods too

Rising wage costs are pushing up prices (cost push inflation) while rising demands are pulling up prices (demand-pull inflation) The overall cost of living increased 3 3 per cent last year and this year's increase could approach or match 1966's

Against this background and in view of the tax debate going on in Washington, you well might ask such questions as

Q Can't this inflation be stopped?

A Yes, it could be stopped by strong measures, a slash in federal spending, big increases in income taxes, a severe squeeze on credit It won't be stopped by these strong measures though, because these steps also would send the economy into a downturn, increase unemployment, reduce profits and paychecks etc

This "price" for stopping inflation our country is not willing to pay Any federal spending cuts on the horizon will do no more than slow the rate of increase in spending any tax increase noted will be only a moderate surtax and be no more than a mild restraint

Q What good would an income tax increase do?

A A tax increase could drain enough buying power to curb your buying a bit and thus remove some of the demand pressures It could also curb business exuberance a bit and thus curtail some price hikes Also without a tax increase the Federal Reserve System would feel it had to slam on the credit brakes to compel cutbacks in inflationary borrowing Another credit crunch similar to 1966 s brutal squeeze could then develop This would force housing into a tailspin again it would hurt smaller businessmen particularly, it would be painfully discriminatory and unfair A prime argument for the tax increase is to avert a tighter credit pinch

Q What forces will restrain wage increases?

A Only 'what the traffic will bear as of now The spiral has begun and the auto settlement will set a new target for other unions to shoot at

Q What about wage-price controls?

A Not a chance in the foreseeable future There will be government pleas for statesmanship official scolding of specific industries and some unions But direct controls? No

What s more, todaay's increases in prices and wages are being posted in an economy which still is operating below capacity This could be telegraphing a double blow when the economy tightens up — and it will tighten unless there is a de escalation in Vietnam

Dyslexia Can Result From Several Causes

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss dyslexia in highly intelligent children. What can be done for these children and where should we turn for help?

There seems to be a lack of acceptance, knowledge, advice or training for this problem in my city on the part of both educators and physicians.

It is difficult for us to decide what is best for our son, 11, now that the problem is finally diagnosed. — Mrs. F. P.

Dyslexia is an inability to read understandingly or easily. Since the problem has been diagnosed, I am surprised that appropriate referral has not been made — you live in a metropolitan area that should have suitable facilities.

Perhaps if I knew more of the

circumstances of this case I could do more to resolve the question. As it is, I must rely on conjecture. Is it possible that you have a diagnosis of dyslexia without yet having had the causes of it analyzed? This is a must.

Dyslexia, you see, is not a specific "disease" for which a specific treatment can be applied. It is, rather, a problem which may be resulting from one of a number of causes, or even from a combination of causes.

Study of the case would involve analysis of eyesight, hearing, IQ or other evaluations of intelligence, and sometimes other tests.

Since you specify dyslexia in highly intelligent children, I would take it for granted that this boy's IQ has been tested and it is high. Knowing that would limit the possibilities. Is there a physical condition involved? Tests must be made to find out.

Or, alternatively, is an emotional, neurological or "mental" condition involved? There is no reason why a person of high intelligence cannot develop an emotional illness. It happens. Psychiatric treatment is, therefore, the answer in such a case.

Either your physician or the school system should be able to make arrangements for further analysis of the boy's problem, and only after that has been done can you or anyone else know what should be done for him.

A child guidance center would be one obvious place to go for help in accomplishing such tests. It is possible that a rehabilitation institute might be equipped for a problem such as this.

You must not be satisfied to accept a "diagnosis of dyslexia," and expect treatment to follow. The cause of the dyslexia has to be discovered.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 14. My mother won't let me wash my hair the first day of my period, but my hair gets very greasy at times and my period is irregular so I can't plan in advance. Our school nurse says it is all right to wash your hair the first day. Do you agree? — B. C.

The nurse is completely right, but the folklore about not washing on the first day (or some say any time during the period) has been handed down for generations, without a particle of evidence to support the notion.

My advice is to wash your hair when it is necessary. And when you have daughters, don't keep the old nonsense going. Let them wash their hair whenever it needs it.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a woman had a disease at the time she was pregnant, would it affect the child's brain as he grew older? — C. H.

With so little information from you, all I can say is that some diseases may do so, others will not.

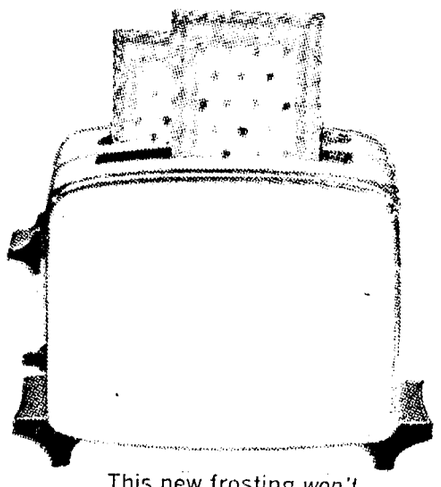
Now, you can get Kellogg's Pop-Tarts with frosting, too!



This new frosting won't melt at toaster temperatures

They said Pop-Tarts® couldn't be topped. So we frosted that idea—with white, pink, and brown-sugar icing. Same crisp, tender-sweet crust. Same luscious whole-fruit preserve fillings as in regular Pop-Tarts . . . plus a brand-new filling: Dutch Apple. Mmmm . . . old-fashioned homemade apple pie flavor with just the right touch of cinnamon.

And they won't melt in your toaster. (Honest.) It's a top-secret topping, a special tasty icing made just for toaster temperatures. But breakfast is only the beginning. Since they need no refrigeration, Frosted Pop-Tarts can go where the appetites happen. A luncheon dessert. An after-school treat. A TV snack. The Jack of all Treats from Kellogg's®.

Brillion and Hilbert Face Rugged Foes

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Brillion	3	0	Hortonville	1	2
Hilbert	3	0	Omro	1	2
Denmark	2	1	Shiocton	1	2
Wrightstown	2	1	Winneconne	1	2
Freedom	1	2	Reedsville	0	3

Friday's Games
Hortonville at Omro
Reedsville at Denmark
Wrightstown at Shiocton.
Saturday's Games.
Freedom at Hilbert
Brillion at Winneconne.

A pair of pre-season dark-horses, Brillion and Hilbert now appear to have the inside track in the race for the Little Nine Conference football title

The two teams remained the lone unbeatens in the league after posting come-from-behind victories Brillion gained its third straight win by tipping Wrightstown, 13-12, last Friday night, while Hilbert notched victory no 3 by getting past stubborn Hortonville, 12-6, Saturday

Three games are slated Friday and two Saturday The Lions will get a severe test from improved Winneconne in the Wolves' den, while Hilbert has a home test with Freedom Saturday

Action Friday will find Hortonville at Omro, Wrightstown visiting Shiocton, and Reedsville journeying to Denmark The Panthers are the only club in the circuit still without a win

Brillion spotted Wrightstown a 6-0 lead but rallied behind quarterback Russ Hansen. Hansen passed for one TD, ran for another, and kicked the only extra point of the game. The Lion defense also stopped the Tigers with just five yards rushing in the second half

Hortonville's Dick Tenny put the Polar Bears ahead, 6-0, in the first quarter, but Hilbert retaliated with a Les Hemauer-to-Dennis Hein touchdown pass in the second period and scored the clincher on John Palmbach's 16-yard scoring run

Hilbert will run up against a Freedom team that exploded for 48 points against Shiocton last weekend.

Red Sox Will Accept Series Ticket Orders

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox said Tuesday they will accept World Series ticket applications starting Thursday

Because of Fenway Park's limited seating capacity — 33,524, including 7,472 bleacher seats, under normal conditions the Red Sox set a limit of two tickets to games one and six or two tickets to games two and six.

Applications cannot be postmarked before Sept 21, and must be accompanied by a certified or bank check or money order payable to the Boston Red Sox. Personal checks will not be honored

Reserved grandstand seats will be priced at $8 each or $32 per order, with an additional $1 charge for postage and handling When reserved grandstand seats are exhausted, reserved chair pavilion seats (lower bleachers) at $6 per ticket will be substituted and a refund of $2 per ticket made.

Polar Bears Win Cross Country Meet Crown

REEDSVILLE — Winneconne's Tom Kenney beat Hortonville's Jim Cuff by four seconds for first place, but the Polar Bears easily won the team title in a triangular cross country meet Tuesday.

Hortonville finished with 27 points, host Reedsville was second with 41, and Winneconne wound up third with 68 points The winners captured six of the top 10 places

Kinney sped over the 2.2-mile Reedsville course in 12 minutes, 42 seconds, while Cuff came in at 12 46 Bill Stenzel, of Reedsville was one second back in third place, followed in order by Steve Becher, Hortonville; Jim Erdmann, Reedsville, Bob Jentz, Hortonville, Ralph Zerbe, Hortonville, Frank Schroeder, Hortonville; Gene Stelzer, Reedsville, and Mike Breitrick, Hortonville

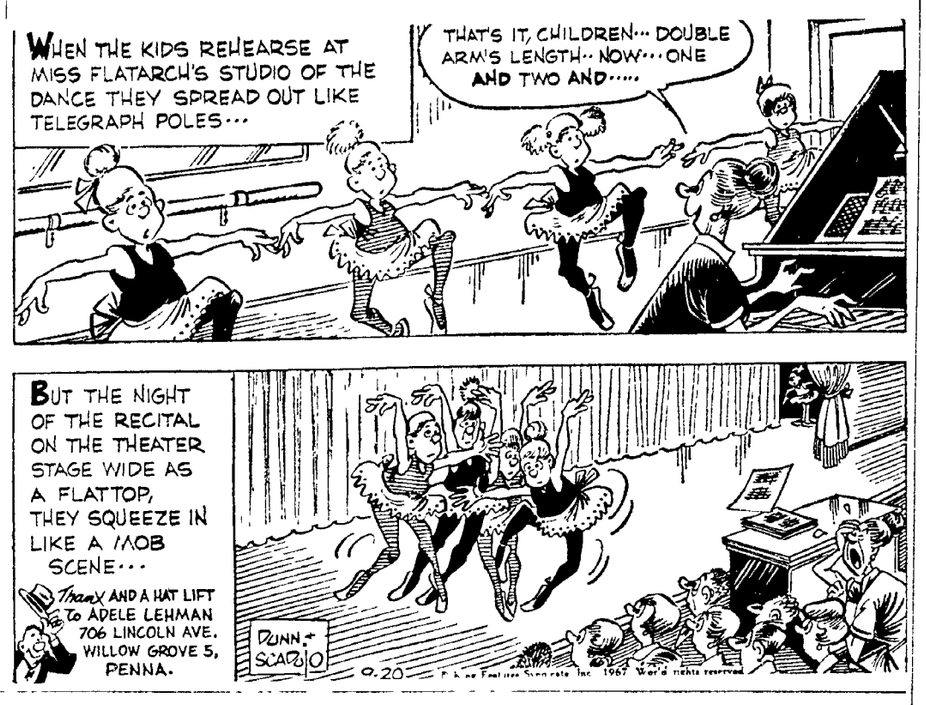
Dolphins, Raiders Top Statistics In AFL Circuit

NEW YORK (AP) — Miami and Oakland lead the American Football League offensive and defensive statistics, according to figures released by the league today.

The Dolphins are tops in total offense with 435 yards gained, in rushing offense with 202 yards and in pass defense, having allowed 29 yards.

The Raiders lead in total defense, allowing 125 yards, and in rushing defense, allowing 56 yards.

They'll Do It Every Time



Alex Named 'Defensive Player of Week'

Starr-Haunting Karras Cited

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Karras has this thing about quarterbacks, Bart Starr in particular. There is nothing personal about it Playful Alex just likes to flatten quarterbacks and Starr is supposed to be Mr Super Bowl after last season.

If Karras missed his old pass rushing partner, Roger Brown, who has been traded to Los Angeles, he didn't show it Sunday when the Detroit Lions fought Green Bay to a 17-17 tie

Karras personally threw Starr four times and the Lions' defensive unit dropped the Packer ace seven times for losses of 59 yards In addition, they intercepted Starr four times. As he had only three interceptions all last year, the performance was a shocker

Because Karras led the Lions' pass rush and kept constant pressure on Starr, the Associated Press has named the 6-foot-2 245-pound veteran the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Even Vince Lombardi, the Packer coach, called Karras' play sensational

Set for Rematch

Jerry Kramer, the Packer guard who played opposite Karras, commented, "Karras had a lovely game." All of which should make their Oct 8 rematch at Detroit a day to remember.

It was difficult to separate any of the Dallas Cowboys' front four in their superior effort at Cleveland. George Andrie, Willie Townes, Jethro Pugh and Bob Lilly all did their part in a 21-14 victory over the Browns. Linebacker Chuck Howley ran back an interception for the winning score

The Cowboy front four threw Frank Ryan four times, deflected four more passes and hit the passer seven times as he was about to throw. There were three interceptions.

Jim Nettles of Philadelphia was a demon in the Eagles' defensive backfield against Washington, swatting away several key passes. He knocked a pass off the fingers of Charley Taylor that could have been a game-turning touchdown. As it was the Eagles held on to a 35-24 victory.

Kermit Alexander of San Francisco recovered a fumble by Minnesota's Ron VanderKelen on the 49ers' two to avert a TD He also ran 48 yards with an intercepted pass to set up a field goal in San Francisco's 27-21 edge over the Vikings.

Vince Costello, the veteran linebacker recently acquired by the New York Giants from Cleveland, was outstanding in the Giants' alert defensive effort in their 37-20 upset of St. Louis. Costello intercepted a pass and directed the young defensive unit

Bobby Boyd, Baltimore's baldish cornerback, was voted the game ball after the Colts' 38-31 win over Atlanta. The 5-10 defensive captain intercepted two passes and turned one into a 30-yard touchdown

Marv Woodson did an outstanding job for Pittsburgh in the 41-14 romp over Chicago. Woodson intercepted a pass to set up the first Steeler score in the opening period and recovered a third period fumble that led to a field goal.

Chuters Open Harrier Slate

First Team in School's History Faces Premontre

LITTLE CHUTE — Fielding a cross country team for the first time in history, Little Chute St John High School will open an ambitious 9-meet schedule Thursday at Green Bay Premontre

Coach Lyle Bowers, who is working with a squad of 17 candidates, will handle the Chuter harriers.

The St. John schedule includes three home meets, and Little Chute will use the 2.2-mile Kimberly course at Sunset Point Park as its home layout.

Heading the Chuter candidates is Bob Vander Zanden, outstanding miler with the St John track team last spring. Vander Zanden's best clocking for the mile was 4 35 Vander Zanden is a senior, along with Mike Van Susteren, Chuck Jansen and Vern St Aubin

Juniors working out include Tom Hietpas, Joe McMahon, Carl Balgie and Jim Zornow Sophomore candidates are Ken DeBruin, Jim Farrell, Lyle Lamers, Rene Boer, Dick Brittnacker, Jim Siebers and Chuck Grimm Freshmen candidates include Steve Verstegen and Bob Joosten

After Thursday's meet at Premontre, the remainder of the St John schedule includes Sept 26, at Oshkosh Lourdes, Sept 28 at St Lawrence Seminary, Oct 3, quadrangular with Premontre, Lourdes, and St Nazianz Seminary at St. John, Oct. 5, at New London, Oct 9, at Kimberly, Oct 11, Freedom at St. John; Oct. 19, Premontre at St John, and Oct 21, Tri-State Invitational at Milwaukee.

401 Yards Through the Air

AP Selects Unitas as Top Offensive Player

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Atlanta game was something special to John Unitas A year ago he came out of Atlanta with a damaged right shoulder that threatened to end his career The rest of the season was an agony of pain and interceptions because John couldn't put the speed on his short passes in tight situations

Unitas tried something different this year In preseason camp of the Baltimore Colts he babied his arm, warming up only once a day and cutting down on the number of passes he threw In the preseason games he saw limited action

Last Sunday was opening day in the National Football League Unitas and the Colts faced Atlanta at Memorial Stadium They were asking the question: Is Unitas sound"

The veteran quarterback provided the answer by completing 22 of 32 passes for two touchdowns and 401 yards, his very first 400-plus game in 12 years of pro ball

"I think this was John's all-time best passing performance," said Coach Don Shula of the Colts

"John throws the ball sore arm and all, just as well as he always did," commented ex-teammate Alex Hawkins, now an Atlanta flanker. "You have to appreciate how much he did when you consider he doesn't have a running back going for him. We knew he was going to pass but we still couldn't stop him"

With testimonials like that, the Associated Press couldn't go wrong in naming Unitas the NFL Offensive Player of the Week.

Unitas hit Tom Matte over the middle on the first 1967 play from scrimmage for an 88-yard touchdown pass. Later he threw a 55-yard TD pass to Jimmy Orr and completed four straight for 51 yards in a clinching fourth quarter TD drive in a 38-31 victory.

Dean Austin Takes Job at Northland

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Ronald Adams Tuesday was appointed head basketball coach at Milwaukee Boys' Tech High School, succeeding Dean Austin, who resigned to become assistant coach at Northland College in Ashland

Austin compiled a 7-9 record in his one year as Tech's head coach Adams had been assistant coach.

Most of the faithful, employing the flashback technique in the inevitable coffee shop analysis, will date the Packers' second half renaissance against the burgeoning Detroit Lions to Donny Anderson's 43-yard punt return in the third quarter of their National Football League baptismal.

And it was, obviously, a major item. But the Pack's resurgence actually was triggered four plays earlier when Doug Hart, with a perfectly timed, last second spring, leaped to bat Anderson's punt dead on the Detroit one-yard line with a dexterous backhand flip as the ball appeared certain to bounce into the end zone.

The second such maneuver of the afternoon for Hart, who previously had downed an Anderson kick on the Detroit 3 just before the half, it left the Lion offense in an awkward position and shortly produced a return punt — the one with which Andy cantered 43 yards into scoring position at the 8.

Made Difficult Adjustment

It also was a testimonial to the competitive character of the sunny, personable Texan, who has made the difficult adjustment to a reserve role after having been a starter throughout the 1965 season.

Reflecting upon his contributions to the Packers' 17-17 deadlock against the surprisingly anti-social Lions while relaxing in his comfortable West Side home, Hart observed: "It's not hard to do when you're in the outside position."

"When you're playing end on the punting team, you don't have as many people trying to block you as the interior men have . . . I find if you can get there as fast as you can, you can get there with the ball and, if the opportunity avails itself, you can down the ball."

"Both of those Sunday actually were pretty easy for me," the 28-year-old Arlington State amnus confided, "because Donny was kicking the ball real high. That gives the coverage an extra second or second and a half to get downfield."

Has No Complaints

Although his appearances against the Lions were confied to duty on the special teams, Hart, typically, has no complaints. "Everybody wants to play, to be a starter — likewise myself. But if you're not and they give you a job to do, you do it as well as you can because a game can be decided by the kicking teams."

"The big thing in my mind was to keep the Lions down in their end of the field, because if they got field position, if they got a drive going, that meant we'd have that much less time to score ourselves."

Officially in his fourth season with the Pack (he spent a year on the cab squad before winning a berth on the roster in '64), Hart takes a commendable view of his current situation.

"Being of value to the team is of prime importance, whether as a backup man or on the teams," he says, " but of all things, I'd rather be a starter first."

He doesn't permit this last to affect his approach, however. "I don't seem to have any breakdown in attitude," Happy, as the amiable cornerback is known to his colleagues, explains, "Even in practice, I try to do the best I can on every play."

"Of course, I have our own ends mad at me all the time because of it," he chuckled.

Hart, who began his NFL career with the St. Louis Cardinals, who released him after a two-week trial because they had an abundance of defensive backs, is happy to be a Packer — in whatever role. "It's been a nice, enjoyable life up here," he noted. "I'm really glat I got the opportunity to play pro football."

After being dropped by the Cardinals, it might be added, he was convinced it would never come. "I had gone back to Arlington (Tex.) and gotten a good job," Doug reported. "I think it was on a Friday that I got cut and I went home to work. The next Wednesday, the Packers came to Dallas and Pat Peppler called my home and left a message with my mother for me to call him."

Leave of Absence

"When I went to see him at the Packers' motel, Pat said, 'Where are your clothes?' . . . We hashed it out for a while — seeing I had a good job I didn't want to give it up and get cut again — and I got a leave of absence from my job for three days so the Packers could look me over."

"Then they decided to suit me up for the game. In fact," Hart informed with a grin, "I wore Elijah Pitts' other jersey — we had two 22s in the game that night. And, as it turned out, I got in for the last three plays of the game."

"After the game," Coach Bengston (Phil) told me they wanted me to go back to Green Bay with them."

Two years later, Doug won the starting assignment at the right corner and held forth there until the morning of the championship game against the Cleveland Browns.

"I woke up with an infection in my arch," Hart said, "and I played only about three or four series. Bobby (Jeter) came in and did a fine job . . . and he's been doing a real fine job ever since."

Milwaukee and Educational Development

The recommendations of the Academy for Educational Development for the Milwaukee schools point the way for that community, and others in similar situations, to work their way out of the problems imposed by the existence of Negro ghettos and other slum areas

The Academy was given the chore of making proposals by a committee set up almost two years ago by a citizens advisory committee, The Committee of We—Milwaukeeans and the Milwaukee Board of Education. The study was opposed from almost all sides but the school board decided to go ahead with it although it took almost nine months to decide what group should proceed. Now the school board must decide what to do with the recommendations, some of which are contrary to current board policies.

Of major importance is the statement that it is part of the Board of Education's responsibility to find ways of combating de facto segregation in the schools although such segregation is the result of housing patterns and not school policies. The report, however, warned that mere integration in itself is not enough and that special educational efforts also must be made in areas of deprivation.

And it said that two things, quite hard to get, are needed to overcome the racial isolation that now exists. They are "a strong public commitment to eliminate it" and "an experimental and open-minded attitude on the part of all citizens and public policy makers." So far, the report said, there is little sense of urgency in the Milwaukee school system or much awareness that serious problems exist. And of course the recent disputes over open housing have demonstrated that a lot of citizens and some policy makers have some long-standing prejudices that stand in the way of open-minded attitudes

The second major proposal of the academy was one that has most recently been made in New York City. It is to decentralize the administration of the schools. Five districts should be created with no more than 30,000 pupils in each. A general superintendent would have overall authority but there would be a semiautonomous board and superintendent for each district, operating under general policies and financial control of the main Board of Education

This proposal seems to be in opposition to the consolidation moves in much of the country, including Wisconsin. But consolidation moves are made to combine small and financially hurting districts so that there is enough tax base to pay the bills, pupils to offer competition and a wide variety of courses. The experiences in our large cities indicate that bigness in itself is not the answer and that administrators and school boards are apt to lose touch with the problems in almost all parts of the huge systems. Thirty thousand pupils per district is, after all, not a small system itself. But breaking down the more massive one should permit individual principals and teachers to make decisions on individual problems and also contribute toward larger policies. It would also tend to shorten the time now used up in making decisions since the top administration has not been able or willing to delegate such responsibility.

The report also said that within five years the amount of money spent on Milwaukee public schools must double. Per pupil costs are down in Milwaukee and not enough of the expense is paid from state and federal funds. And "no city school system can perform its educational tasks adequately with fewer resources per child than its neighboring suburbs. Currently per pupil costs in Milwaukee are $649 while those in the suburb of Wauwatosa, for instance, are $965.

But overall, the Milwaukee schools must seek more actively to provide courses and services to meet the individual student's needs, the report stressed. This means much more creative planning and thinking, more counseling, more emphasis on determining vocational aptitudes, more opportunities for independent study, better libraries, and far more consideration of new ideas such as the educational parks now proposed for Chicago. Special education centers might be developed in such fields as art and music or science and mathematics with city-wide attendance.

Quite obviously this is a tremendous package for a city already floundering in deep racial and financial problems. But the problems of Milwaukee children also can be considered the problems of all residents of Wisconsin A rejuvenated educational system could do much to halt the immigration to the suburbs. Poorly educated youngsters are not only injured in the process but also their contributions toward their communities and nation and all of society.

The report should also be of immense interest to those of us who live in the ever-growing communities of this area. All efforts should be made to prevent the stagnation, the de facto segregation, the failure to recognize that new problems cannot always be solved with the old answers.

Wonderful Wisconsin Week

This is Wonderful Wisconsin Week, an observance started last year by the privately-financed Greater Wisconsin Foundation. Civic groups and local governments join in sponsoring components of the week-long observance. It is an opportune time to reflect upon what has made Wisconsin wonderful and what could make it even better.

The first day of the week was designated as Heritage Day, a day which should have particular meaning in this section of the state with its rich history of what was to become Wisconsin Monday was Education and Youth Day

Tuesday was Government Day, with governmental offices joining others across the state in explaining their functions to the public

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday have been designated as Wisconsin at work days to provide for planned programs to tell the success stories of state business, industry, and agriculture Area firms are planning displays of their products

The week will conclude with Hospitality Day Saturday, an opportunity for Wisconsin both to demonstrate a trait which has added to its greatness and to show off the natural resources given to it by nature and converted into one of the prime components of its economy.

The honorary chairman for Wonderful Wisconsin Week is Gov. Warren Knowles. He has described the purpose of the statewide salute to Wisconsin as being "to call attention to those qualities which have made it a desirable place in which to work, live, and vacation." At the same time, the governor said, "the program will renew and strengthen our own citizens' knowledge and appreciation of the state."

To that can only be added a citizen objective of making Wisconsin even a better place in which to live and work. Wonderful Wisconsin Week, with its attention to the state's history, educational institutions, government, industry, and agriculture, provides a solid foundation for such an objective.

Looking Backward

'Count Us Out!' Says Crescent

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 21, 1867.

Some of the Democratic papers of the State are expending sympathy over Col. John G. McMynn, who was thrown overboard at the Regency Convention in Madison

His place was given to Prof. A. J Craig, a "Hundred Day Breaker," for the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction

Please count us out, we have no tears to shed over the untimely fate of so virulent a partisan of despotism as Col McMynn

Prof. Craig, if elected, cannot be more intolerant than the present superintendent. And, if thought and reason prevail, the people will not elect Craig, either.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Sept. 16, 1942.

The U.S. Navy announced that day that the carrier Yorktown had been sunk after the Battle of Midway as a result of Japanese bombs and torpedo attacks. Loss of the vessel had been kept a naval secret.

Gov. Julius P Heil won the Republican nomination for governor and, if successful, this was to become his third term. Only 287 votes separated the Democratic candidates, both from the Fox Cities area Dr William C Sullivan, Kaukauna, was leading candidate Gustave J Keller, Appleton, by the slim margin

Mrs. Louis Wainer was elected president of the Band Boosters in New London, succeeding Mrs. Gus Hanke. Other officers were Mrs. Otto Krause, vice president, Mrs Walter Schoenrock, secretary, and Mrs Henry Miles, re-elected treasurer.

10 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Sept. 18, 1957.

Cadet Thomas Sherry, son of T J. Sherry, Hycrest Drive, had earned the right to wear the academic achievement wreath at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo., for placing in the upper 10 per cent of his ROTC classes the previous year

Appleton's golfer Syl Bayer added the Adler Brau open golf title to his 1957 Appleton City Golf championship over the weekend. He won the 36-hole medal play event with an even-par 144 on the Reid Municipal course

Student Council officers at Appleton High School that year were Dave Schuetter, president, Dave Miller, vice president; Helen Rugland, secretary-treasurer, and Jim Reeve, sergeant-at-arms.

Rockefeller Denies He's Running But No One Will Believe Him

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Here is a challenge in political strategy. Suppose you are a Man of Influence. Suppose that you assign yourself the task of ensuring that the Republican Party nominates a liberal Republican next summer in Miami Suppose you have the ear of the principal actors. To reach George Romney, Nelson Rockefeller, Charles Percy, Jacob Javits, John Chafee, William Scranton, Tom Dewey, Herbert Brownell is merely a matter of picking up the telephone What do you do?

Buckley

Do you begin by saying Dump Romney quick quick quick? It is tempting to believe that this is the first order of business.

Mr Romney's recent ineptitudes do suggest the abstract desirability of the liberals' changing their attachments, but the trouble is that if The Group decides to ditch Romney, it would prove almost impossible to bring it to reunite behind anybody else. The commitment to Romney having been made more or less explicitly, it is necessary to stay with it Dissolve that commitment and the participants grudgingly announce, each in his turn, that he, when all is said and done, is the fairest one of all.

NO LAW AGAINST IT

And besides that, just who is going to tell Mr. Romney that he may not run for President? There isn't a law against it (I am aware that he was born in Mexico, but Earl Warren and I aren't paying any attention these days to archaic constitutionalisms), and Romney is perfectly capable of simply proceeding. It is pretty heavy weather, telling a man of Mr. Romney's determination that he may not do what he has set his mind on doing.

Perhaps then the thing to do is to work very very hard to strengthen Mr. Romney. How is that done? Well, one situates one of those expensive writer to uh watch Mr. Romney's public utterances a little more carefully; one helps him where one can; and, especially, one works very very hard for him in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon.

But most important, one quashes for good and all the Rockefeller talk Mr Rockefeller recently gave an interview in which he pleaded that something had happened to him last November, which so far is very good news all by itself; that his ambition had simply dissipated. That the need for fulfillment which drove him to the bitterest ends of the road in 1964 had been sated by his victory in 1966 and that now, happy in his current position, happy with his family, he truly, really, honestly does not seek the Presidency. The trouble is that nobody believes him. Because as long as they do not believe him, it will prove difficult to galvanize a total liberal effort behind Romney.

Surely the thing for Messrs Scranton, Javits, Brownell, Percy, Romney, Chafee to say is Rockefelled cannot be nominated, and therefore it is a venture in utter futility to suppose that he is even contingently available. There is only one man in the United States who could secure the nomination for Nelson Rockefeller: and he isn't going to. That is of course Barry Goldwater Mr. Nixon couldn't deliver his delegates to Rockefeller. Because Mr. Nixon wasn't the affronted party in 1964.

ROCKEFELLER FOUGHT, LOST

But doesn't Mr. Romney suffer from the same disability? No The differences, as the professionals see them, are two. One is that Romney was himself running for re-election in 1964, and more license is given to those who are running than to those who are not — though even then, it is held. Romney made a serious mistake in refusing to back Goldwater.

But the second and most important difference is that Rockefeller fought to get the nomination for himself. It was a long hard fight and Rockefeller lost. It is his unwillingness to accept the verdict of the Republican voters that can only be expiated by an act of absolution given by Goldwater, who will not give it. Not because he is a rancorous man, but because, having observed Rockefeller at close quarters, he is convinced that the country would not be best off administered by Nelson Rockefeller. A sufficient reason, one would suppose

Get Rockefeller really and truly out of the way, and faute de mieux perhaps, the liberal Republican community will get down to thinking about the realistic alternatives. They are Romney, or Nixon. Or, if Nixon fails in the primaries, Romney or Reagan. Or, if Romney and Nixon fail in the primaries. Reagan.

Wisconsin Report

Public Defender in State Handles Cases At Appellate Level

BY ROBERT FRIEBERT

MADISON — In Douglas vs California, the United States Supreme Court abolished certain distinctions between accused rich and accused poor on appeal. The Court said: "Here the issue is whether or not an indigent shall be denied the assistance of counsel on appeal. There can be no equal justice where the kind of appeal a man enjoys 'depends on the amount of money he has.'"

Counsel must be provided on appeal.

In March, 1965, legislation creating the office of state public defender was introduced. In April, 1965, the Wisconsin Supreme Court applied for a Ford Foundation grant. The bill passed and became law on Dec 31, 1965, and a two year Ford grant in excess of $28,000 was received. As far as I know, Wisconsin was the seventh state in the country to create an appellate court public defender.

RANGE OF DUTIES

The state public defender represents accused who are convicted of a felony or gross misdemeanor in post-conviction remedies, after a determination of indigency, and after the state public defender is satisfied that there is arguable merit to the proceeding. These post-conviction remedies include appeals, writs of error and petitions for writs of habeas corpus In addition to this, the state public defender provides assistance to counsel in the trail courts and participates in the training of law students.

In the first 11 months of the office of public defender, 82 cases were assigned by the Supreme Court. Thirty of these cases were closed in this time. The public defender also received 211 other communications during this period and closed 174 of these matters. To date, the time required for each appeal averages 113 hours of work. Since the public defender is only a one man office, and due to this tremendous workload, the Supreme Court appointed other attorneys for 64 prisoners during this same period.

Robert Friebert, substitute state capital columnist, holds the newly established office of state public defender and was appointed by the state Supreme Court.

AN OLD IDEA

There are no public defenders at the trial level in Wisconsin However, the idea of a public defender has a surprisingly long history in Wisconsin. As far back as 1903, during the administration of Robert LaFollette Sr., a bill was introduced requiring the circuit courts of large counties to appoint an attorney to represent all indigents at the trial level. This attorney could take appeals. The bill did not pass.

Again, in 1905, another bill was introduced creating the office of "defender county attorney." The defender county attorney could also take appeals. The bill did not pass.

Apparently, the idea remained legislatively dormant until 1963, when a bill was introduced to allow counties or combinations of counties to appoint a "county public defender." That bill allowed the county public defender to prosecute appeals. It did not pass. Similar bills were introduced in the 1965 and 1967 sessions of the Legislature. To date, none have passed.

The new interest in public defender systems can be traced to the increased awareness of the rights of an accused and the resulting cost of proper compliance

Sloth Was Deadly Sin Among the Ancients

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A newsstand near my home is operated by a most unpleasant man. From time to time, friends of mine have complained to me about him, expecting some sort of action on my part.

There is, of course, nothing I can do Contrary to their flattering belief, publishers do not tremble when they hear my heavy tread upon their sill, nor do circulators leap to do my bidding. I am just a fellow whose stuff is put in the paper to keep the ads apart.

But the point I shall eventually get to is this. My friends, like almost everyone else in the modern world, place convenience above principle They complain privately, but they conform publicly.

I have said to them, "Why don't you walk down to the next block to buy your papers, as I do? Stop patronizing the man, and he might learn the error of his ways."

None of them, alas, has taken my advice They go right on buying and complaining. It is somehow too much trouble to go a few extra steps out of their way, even to obtain a little courtesy. They are morally lazy.

Now, what good are all the plans and programs for social reform of any kind, so long as most people continue to place their temporary comfort above their long-range interest?

In this small pattern, we can glimpse the thread of the world's problems generally. Short-range comfort guides our conduct, and principles go by the board. And when, finally, we are forced to invoke our principles, conditions have become so bad that only violence can rectify what firmness could have prevented.

The second World War began because the comfortable democracies did not use economic sanctions to break down the "rudeness" of Nazi Germany. It was too comfortable to coast along, to complain, and then to compromise — until, eventually, the Nazis' insolence provoked the catastrophe of war.

This is almost the history of the human race. And the trouble always begins with the man on the corner newsstand, who exploits the weakness we call "good nature." The ancients called it something else: sloth. And they knew it was a deadly sin.

Stores Have Right To Open on Sundays

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your Sept. 8 issue contained an article concerning the local ministers objecting to K mart being open on Sunday. It seems this is becoming Appleton's way of welcoming new discount businesses to Appleton. Last time it was Treasure Island, if I remember correctly. I suppose it will be Shopko next.

Since the flurry always seems to be when a discount store opens, one cannot help but speculate as to whose ax they are grinding. Nothing ever seems to be said about grocery stores, gas stations, restaurants and drive-ins, movies, and even some stores in a local shopping center, doing Sunday business.

These local self-righteous good men might bear several things in mind.

1. As to discounters requiring help to work on Sunday, how about the help of the above mentioned establishments, and add paper mills, telephone and power companies, police and firemen, and many others. When one accepts employment in a business, he is well aware of the conditions and hours of employment. If they are suitable he accepts the job. If they aren't, he should not. What if all telephone long distance operators wouldn't work on Sundays — and let's not have that bit about indispensable service. People lived for geneaations without telephones

2. Ministers are fortunate in that their time schedule is flexible They can shop when they want to. But many people cannot. Many salesmen and truck drivers are away from home all week. Sunday afternoon is the only time they can shop with their wives and families.

3. The constitution guarantees freedom of religion. One would assume this also infers freedom from religion. No one should object to a minister's shepherding his own flock (who have voluntarily submitted to his authority) away from shopping on Sunday, but for him to attempt to regulate others who have not, is to say the least, a bit presumptuous.

4. If a person believes it's wrong to shop on Sunday (and this point is debatable) he won't do it. The fact that Sunday openings are very successful would lead one to believe the ministers and those who agree with them form a very small minority. And where does a minority dictate to a majority? Russia is one such place.

5. And what about those whose Lord's Day is on Saturday? The ministers might have some compassion for them and press for Saturday closings too.

What we should realize is that each person should live by his own conscience. It so happens that one of my businesses is the owning and operating of a discount store. I do not believe in doing Sunday business, and I don't do any except for a minimum number of weeks before Christmas. I do not care to be open Sundays even then but do open only at the insistence of a number of regular customers whose husbands are away all week, and have only Sunday to shop as a family.

Some of my competitors also are open until 9 and 10 p.m. week nites. But I don't believe in this either, so I close earlier. But while I believe that is my right, I also believe that others have the right to stay open 24 hours a day for seven days a week if they want to, and I want to defend that right.

Mike McCormick Scores 20th Win

Giants Rally for 5 in Ninth to Tip Cubs; Hughes Hurls Shutout

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St Louis Cardinals are champions of the National League but the consolation prize for reclamation project of the year goes to Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants

McCormick became the league's first 20-game winner Tuesday when the Giants rallied for five ninth-inning runs and a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Jack Hiatt's two-run pinch double keyed San Francisco's ninth-inning uprising and helped McCormick reach the 20-victory mark for the first time

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, New York dropped Los Angeles 6-3, St Louis blanked Philadelphia 1-0 Cincinnati trimmed Atlanta 3 1 and Pittsburgh rallied for an 11-7 victory over Houston

Pays Off Investment

It took 11 years and three trades before McCormick finally paid off on the investment the Giants made on him back in 1956 when they signed him as a 17-year-old bonus baby

He was traded to Baltimore in 1963 and to Washington in 1965 before returning to San Francisco in an unheralded three-player swap last winter He's been anything but unheralded for the Giants though

"Breaks" he said "that's the big thing in this game I can look back and honestly say I pitched as well in 1960 and 1961 as I did this year But I won 15 one year and 13 another"

He got the breaks Tuesday Trailing 2-1 against Ferguson Jenkins after eight innings, McCormick departed for a pinch hitter as the Giants rallied in the ninth He was the pitcher of record when the runs scored and thus received credit for the victory

Jim Davenport's pinch single drove in the Giants' tying run and after Hiatt's hit broke the deadlock, singles by Ollie Brown and Jim Hart drove in two more runs

Rookie Bob Heise doubled two runs across and then scored a the tie-breaker on Tommy Davis' hit as the Mets rallied for three runs in the fifth inning and went on to defeat Los Angeles

Les Rohr, another rookie went six innings to gain the victory and helped the Mets tie one record and break another He was their 54th player this season—most ever for a NL club—and the 27th pitcher—tying a major league mark.

Dick Hughes won his 15th for the champion Cardinals, outpitching Jim Bunning with a five-hitter Ed Spiezio's first-inning single scored Bobby Tolan with the game's only run

Bunning, 16-14, struck out seven raising his league - leading total to 234

Leo Cardenas drove in the tie-breaking run with an eighth-inning single and then scored an insurance run on Tommy Helms' sacrifice fly as the Reds tagged the Braves with their fifth straight loss

Manny Mota delivered a pair of hits in a six-run ninth inning that carried the Pirates past Houston Mota started the rally with a pinch single and climaxed it with a two-run hit

Rookie Bob Robertson whacked a two-run homer for Pittsburgh and pitcher Bob Moose unloaded a two-run triple Aaron Pointer drove in two runs for the Astros on a single and a double

Bears Aren't Pushing the Panic Button

inauspicious beginning for the Bruins, the Bear spokesman is hardly inclined to push the panic button. "The week after we got beat so badly (66-24) by Kansas City, we came back to beat the Cardinals, 42-14," he pointed out "It's possible to come back"

Elaborating on this theme Desmond appended, "We've got personnel . . and certainly, Sayers is not going to be held to two yards rushing every Sunday"

Summing up, he declared with some fervor, "I may be naive, but I think there's such a thing as team pride When these guys get a look at themselves in the movie, if that leaves them cold . . ."

He didn't finish, but the inference was obvious

The Packers' physical exertions Tuesday — their first day on the field since Sunday's 17-17 tie with the Detroit Lions in their season opener — were confined to a 15-minute game of touch football in Lambeau Field The Pack's first "inside" practice of the season, it was preceded by a lengthy meeting and followed by a scouting report from Wally Cruice

Coatta said, is still a tossup between junior Gary Pluff and sophomore Don Murphy

Warren Dver and Gary Swalve, both veterans, will play defensive ends and Tom Domres and Don Bliss will be tackles Sophomore Len Fields will be the middle guard

At linebacker will be Lynn Buss, a starting halfback last year, and Sam Wheeler

Gary Reineck and Walt Ridlon will be corner backs and senior Tom Schinke and junior Mike Cavill will be safeties

"There isn't much depth behind that starting bunch," Coatta said "We hope we get by without any bad things happening early in the season"

"Our biggest job right now is to bring these kids up to game time ready to play the way we think they can," Coatta said

Huskies Below Expectations, Says Owens

MADISON (AP)— Washington Coach Jim Owens discounts any edge in a game's experience for his Huskies before they take on Wisconsin in the Badgers' football opener Saturday

"There is an advantage to have one game, playing under pressure. But this is offset by not having seen Wisconsin play while they've seen us," Owens said in a telephone interview with a local sports club Tuesday.

The Washington coach said the Huskies played below expectations in their 17-7 opening loss to Nebraska

"We spent too much time on defense against Nebraska," he said "Hopefully we will have the ball a little more this week But I do expect trouble from Wisconsin's experienced defense"

Washington and Wisconsin have met only once before when the Huskies won in the Rose Bowl 44-8 in 1960 Owens said this year's Huskies didn't compare to that team yet

"This team is not anywhere close right now" he said "We have a lot of maturing and hard work to do, but there is potential on this team"

Madison Opens Grid Schedule Against Einstein

Appleton Einstein a 13-8 conqueror of defending champion Kimberly in its opener a week ago goes after its second win against cross-town rival Madison Thursday afternoon in the Fox Valley Frosh League.

Madison will be making its first start after having drawn a bye last week Kaukauna (1-0) will be at Menasha (1-0) in the co-feature attraction Kimberly (0-1) is at Wilson (0-1), and Neenah Mann (0-1) at Roosevelt (0-1) Neenah Conant, a 20-12 winner over Roosevelt last week, will draw the bye.

'Big O' Now Holdout, Asks Over $100,000 From Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) The deadlock between the Cincinnati Royals and their biggest star continued today and Oscar Robertson admitted he and the National Basketball Association club remained "far apart" on his salary for the 1967-68 season

The Big O, who scores a good one-fourth of the Royals' points, confirmed Tuesday night he is asking for more than $100,000 Estimates of his salary for last season ranged from $75,000 to $95,000

Robertson became a holdout officially Tuesday for the second year in a row and his attorney, J W Brown, said he would "sign a contract with somebody" — perhaps the Indianapolis Pacers of the new American Basketball Association

Pacers' officials declined comment, but a spokesman said "If we got him we'd have some costly lawsuits on our hands"

General Manager Pepper Wilson of the Royals issued a statement blaming Brown for the breakdown Brown denied this and Robertson later told a newsman:

Not Closed

"I intend to get in touch with Pepper Nothing was ever closed to him to begin with I rejected the one offer they made me A counter-proposal was made to them They've rejected that This is where we stand right now"

"I don't think any offer is a last offer, or any counter a last counter until the parties sit down and discuss the thing," Wilson said, adding that the club has not met with Robertson and Brown since last week

Since the 6-foot-5 Robertson joined the Royals seven seasons ago, he has averaged 30 4 points a game He is picked for the All-Star Game regularly, was named Most Valuable Player twice and has been runner-up for that title on three occasions Last season he scored 2,412 of the Royals' 9,487 points

Robertson was alos named to the All-America squad three times while playing at the University of Cincinnati A native of Indianapolis, he now lives at Cincinnati

72,000 Bowmen Expected for Early Deer Hunt

MADISON (AP)— Wisconsin's bow and arrow season for deer opens Saturday at 6:15 a.m. and more than 72,000 bowmen are expected to be in the field during the early season which ends Nov. 12.

The State Conservation Department estimated the state's deer herd at 700,000.

Thick foliage is expected to be a handicap for the early hunters Leading counties for bow hunting are Waupaca, Vilas, Juneau, Shawano, Outagamie, Burnett, Wood, Waushara, and Jackson.

OHS Harriers Win Crown In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Oshkosh High School garnered the first two places and copped team honors in the Kaukauna invitational cross country meet at Oakwood Hills Tuesday afternoon.

The Indians, who scored 32 points, were led by Craig Preston, the individual winner and Gunnar Naslund, runnerup. Scott Schultz of Appleton East was third, Steve Englebert, Neenah, fourth, and Bill Francart of the Rockets, fifth.

Neenah was second in the team standings with 58 points, followed by Kaukauna 74, Menasha 126, Appleton East 148, Two Rivers 152, New London 161 and Appleton West 176.

Oshkosh also took the "B" meet with 30 points. Its Bob Bartel was the individual victor.

Kaukauna was second with 46 points, followed by Neenah 51, Menasha and Two Rivers 123, New London 161, and Appleton East 181. Appleton West didn't enter.

Purdue, Minnesota Top Rivals

Spartans Expected to Win Third Straight Undisputed Grid Title

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten launches its 72nd football season Saturday with Michigan State favored to become the first team in the venerable conference's football history to capture three successive undisputed titles.

Although Michigan State's Spartans lost a half-dozen superb 1966 performers, Duffy Daughterty's offensively-strong club was rated No. 3 in the recent Associated Press national poll and voted a cinch Big Ten winner in a poll of 34 conference skywriters.

The group which made a plane tour of Big Ten camps, in balloting announced today, ranked Michigan State first, Rose Bowl champion Purdue second and Minnesota third.

Michigan State, although missing Bubba Smith, George Webster, Clint Jones, Gene Washington, Jerry West and Charley Thornhill, received 18 first-place votes and 316 points from the skywriters.

Purdue Second

Although Minnesota's huge Golden Gophers were accorded more first-place votes, eight to six, Purdue was ranked second on point scoring based on 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. Purdue got 293 points and Minnesota 278.

Other skywriter ratings: fourth, Ohio State, 224 points; fifth, Michigan, 221; sixth, Illinois, 184; seventh, Wisconsin, 104; eighth, Indiana, 102; ninth, Northwestern, 85, and 10th, Iowa, 63.

On offense, at least, Daughterty appears to have the horses to pile up a third straight 7-0 conference record, although there is one big difference in the over-all Spartan schedule.

The fall, Michigan State must take on defending national champion Notre Dame in midseason. The past two seasons the Spartans had the conference crown wrapped up before their grand finale with the Fighting Irish.

The big national TV game Oct. 28 at South Bend, Ind., is a heralded rematch of last year's bruising 10-10 tie at East Lansing, Mich. It comes the week after Michigan State's tough test at Minnesota and a week ahead of an East Lansing invasion by rugged Ohio State.

Michigan State's conference slate also includes a Nov. 18 road game against Purdue still rated formidable despite graduation of star quarterback Bob Griese.

Most conference coaches expect a tigher race than last season with lower division clubs generally improved.

Coach Murray Warmth, whose Minnesota Gophers probably will outsize most opponents, predicted the conference champion may wind up with at least two and perhaps as many as three defeats.

Two coaches make conference debuts at their alma maters. They are Jim Valek, who replaced resigned Pete Elliott at scandal-struck Illinois, and John Coatta, succeeding Milt Bruhn at Wisconsin.

Quarterbacking is battle-tested around the conference, with exception of Purdue and Indiana who will rely on a pair of sophomores, Mike Phipps and Harry Gonso, respectively.

Veteran signal callers include Jimmy Raye of Michigan State and Ed Podolak of last-place Iowa, both exceptionally skilled pass-run performers.

Raye is expected to be the fuse of an explosive Spartan attack also featuring such free-wheeling backs as Dwight Lee, Bob Apisa, Regis Cavender and sophomore Lamarr Thomas.

Toughest Michigan State defensive assignment will be handled by veteran Jess Phillips, replacing rover back Webster. Daughtery called Webster the key to last season's impregnable Spartan defense.

If Iowa's sparsely manned Hawkeyes improve, the big reason will be Podolak, runnerup to Griese in Big Ten total offense last season.

Another fine quarterback is Michigan's Dick Vidmer, who last year pitched 10 touchdown passes to tie a Big Ten record. Also seasoned quarterbacks are Bob Naponic at Illinois, Bill Long of Ohio State, John Ryan and John Boyajian of Wisconsin, Curt Wilson of Minnesota and Bill Melzer of Northwestern.

With exception of Ohio State, which plays only nine instead of 10 allowable games, Big Ten teams will kick off the season next Saturday against nonconference foes.

counter could be a game of fireworks on offense. It was somewhat doubtful that the Rockets would be as powerful again this season, but that was virtually erased as Neenah thumped a supposedly improved Two Rivers squad, 42-0. Brian Cannon and Dan Rider were the big guns for Neenah as each scored a pair of touchdowns with Cannon rushing for 143 yards and Rider for 111.

Clintonville is paced by the aerial antics of quarterback Bill Sasse and the Truckers may have to employ the pass more than ever against the staunch Rocket defense. Sasse connected on eight passes for 230 yards and three touchdowns against Menasha last week.

In the Kaukauna-at-Two Rivers battle, the Ghosts will be trying to rebound from the surprise setback at the hands of Kimberly. Kaukauna had a tough time cracking the Papermaker front line and when the Ghosts were forced to take to the air, Kimberly defenders charged through and dropped the quarterback for repeated loses.

Accent on Blocking

Coach Harry Wilson of the Ghosts has been putting the accent on blocking and also trying to beef up the offensive attack.

The Menasha Bluejays, although being blanked by the Truckers did score a pair of touchdowns last week and are hoping that this week they can get by without costly penalties. One of the TD's was a 50-yard scamper by sophomore Tom Scovronski which was called back because of clipping and the other nullified due to illegal procedure.

New London will have Greg Wing at the quarterback spot after he was forced to miss 1½ games because of a shoulder injury. Wing's return is expected to help the Bulldog passing game.

Superior Pitching Will Give Flag to Chisox, Says Rigney

ANAHEIM (AP)—Bill Rigney, manager of the California Angels, believes Chicago is destined to win the American League championship and he says pitching is the reason the White Sox will prevail in the four-team scramble.

"I thought for a while that Boston would win it, but now it looks like Chicago, because of its pitching." That was his observation Tuesday night after Chicago right-hander Joe Horlen hurled a six-hitter to snap the Angels' four-game winning streak 3-0.

If the White Sox win the pennant, they're apt to set major league records for fewest runs scored and lowest team batting averages for any title winner. But it is also true that their pitching staff's 2.50 earned run average is the class of both leagues.

As Rigney points out, the White Sox have only nine games left in the final 12 days. It means Chicago might be able to get by with only its six best pitchers—starters Horlen, Gary Peters, Tommy John, Cisco Carlos, and relievers Hoyt Wilhelm and Bobby Locker.

The six have a combined ERA of only 2.09.

Meanwhile, the fifth-place Angels have fallen seven games off the pace and apparently would need to win all of their 11 remaining contests to have any chance in the title race.

But Rigney hasn't conceded. "We're going to have a lot to say about the pennant before it's over," he says, pointing to the fact that the Angels have one game left with Chicago, three with Minnesota, and four with Detroit.

The White Sox trail Boston and Minnesota by a half-game. Detroit is only another half-game back in the wildest race the American League has ever experienced.

WFRV's Bob Schulze Claims Packers Victim of Fast Clock

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers were the victims of a fast clock in their 17-17 tie with the Detroit Lions last Sunday, says a television sports director.

Bob Schulze, sports director of WFVR-TV, Green Bay, based his statement on a time study he made on the game film.

The study showed, said Schulze, that the final play of the game ate up not eight but 6.2 seconds.

The play, a pass from Bart Starr to Boyd Dowler, put the ball within field goal range at the Detroit 38.

The play, which began with eight seconds left on the official clock, ended with Dowler being tackled out of bounds. So did the game.

Coach Miffed

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers was miffed when the officials began walking off the field. He obviously felt there should have been time for at least one more play.

So did Schulze after his study. He counted 174 frames on the 16mm film used by the station to record the final play. The camera speed, said Schulze, was 28 frames per second.

Even allowing a margin for error of four frames, there still should have been more than a second left, Schulze said.

Schulze said his findings were only of academic interest.

"We don't want to make another Baltimore thing out of this," he said—referring to the drawn-out dispute after a controversial field goal helped sink the Colts in the 1965 Western Conference playoff at Green Bay. "This was done in the interest of science. The game is gone and we were lucky to tie."

Lombardi had no comment.

Guard Jim Cadile Hurt

Halas Declares, 'It's Murder' To Play Against the Packers

CHICAGO (AP) — Venerable George Halas, who says he can't even count the ways his Chicago Bears went wrong last Sunday, faces more trouble ahead this Sunday when he takes his team north to meet the Green Bay Packers.

"Any time you play the Packers, it's murder," said Halas, whose Bears were beaten into the ground by Pittsburgh 41-13. The Packers tied Detroit 17-17 in a game that saw Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr throw four interceptions.

"If the Packers don't want Starr, we'll take him," said Halas.

Quarterback is only one troubled spot for the Bears. Jack Concannon, the multi-muscled acquisition from Philadelphia, is bogged down with a bad arm. Rudy Bukich and Larry Rakestraw are the other quarterbacks.

"All three are on an even keel," said Halas. Neither has proved he can move the team. "Everything fell apart for us," said Halas of the Steelers' game. "Our blocking was terrible." Chicago star Gale Sayers gained only two yards from scrimmage.

Guard Jim Cadile tore a knee ligament against Pittsburgh and may need surgery. His loss poses another problem for the overburdened offense.

The Bears' defense hasn't been anything to rave about either. The Steelers gained 393 yards against Chicago.

"It's never pleasant to lose," the owner-coach said. "The only thing is to forget about Pittsburgh and start thinking about Green Bay. I think we'll be a team that will improve. We've got 14 new faces and it's quite a chore to groom them into a cohesive unit with our veterans.

Matt Snell Lost For Two Weeks

NEW YORK (AP) — Fullback Matt Snell will be lost to the New York Jets for at least two weeks, the American Football League team said Monday.

Snell, who was injured in last week's game against Buffalo, had been expected to be ready for the game at Denver Sunday.

But the Jets said it was discovered the injury to his left knee is more serious than they thought and he has been placed on the waived injured list. A team spokesman said Snell apparently suffered a small cartilage tear in the knee.

Mark Smolinski will start in Snell's spot against the Broncos, and New York activated Billy Joe from the taxi squad as a back-up man.

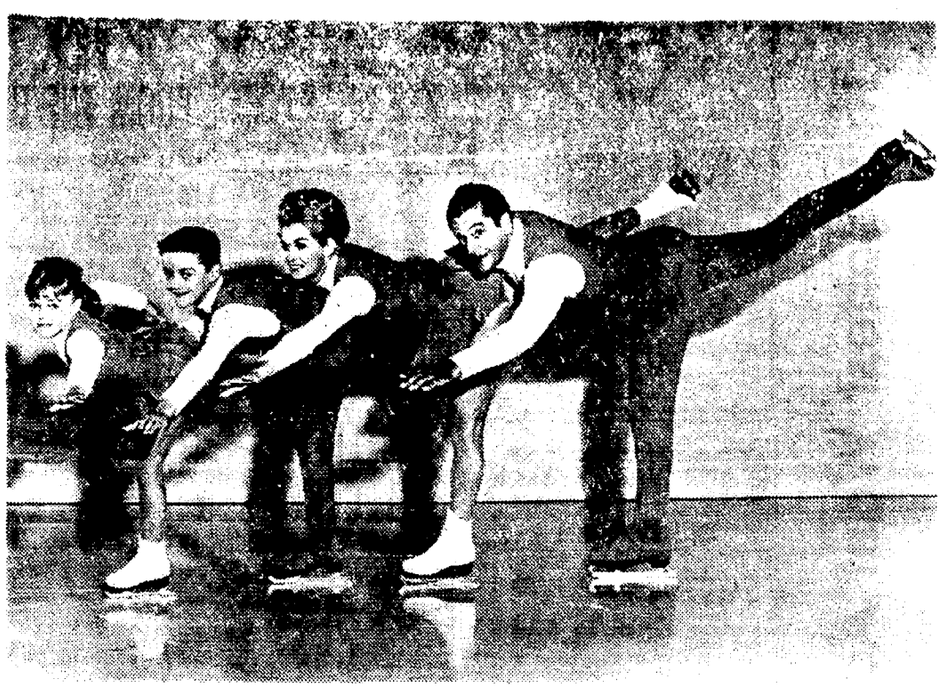
Tresh's Operation Termed Successful

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees underwent right knee surgery Tuesday. The Yankees said the operation was successful and estimated the outfielder would be hospitalized another week to 10 days.



Doing a Family Turn in the 1967-68 Holiday on Ice Show are Kathie and Jamie Beard with their parents, Margaret and Marshall Beard. The Beards once were star skaters with Holiday and Marshall also performed with the great Sonja Henie. Then they retired from show business. It was the exceptional talent of their two youngsters that brought them back. Holiday on Ice Opens Sept. 26 at the Brown County Arena, Green Bay.

Former Skating Stars Return to Holiday Show

This Time Great Marshall Beard, Wife Margaret Perform With Two Youngsters

Time was when any skater in the ice show business could qualify as a partner to Sonja Henie he had reached the pinnacle of success. The "Queen of the ice show world" demanded the best — and always got it.

One of the skaters she selected during her reign as the greatest among the great was Marshall Beard, who later became a Holiday On Ice star and skated around the globe with the five different units of the revue.

Ten years ago he retired; this year he came out of retirement and he will make his first appearance in Green Bay when the show plays the Arena from Sept. 26 through Oct. 1.

But Marshall Beard has new partners for this tour that will take him again all over the United States and back to Latin and South America. In fact, he will have three partners — his wife, Margaret, a former Holiday feature skater, and the Beard youngsters, Jamie and Kathy.

It was these youngsters who took Marshall and Margaret out of show business. Now it's the youngsters who are bringing them back.

Reason for Quitting

Marshall tells the story: "We wanted to give the kids a home; we wanted to give them an opportunity to go to school and mingle with other children. So we just quit the business and settled down in Lake Arrowhead, Calif. I went into real estate Margaret into housekeeping. But we never lost our interest in or our enthusiasm for skating. Both of us spent many hours at a nearby rink teaching figure skating."

Among their most apt students were Jamie and Kathy. The Beards produced a family foursome and the youngsters went on to perfect a brother-sister act. There still were no plans to go back to ice shows, no plans to make the youngsters 'child stars,' Marshall says.

When Holiday shows began an invasion of California cities a couple of years back, the Beards were invited by Holiday president, Morris Chalfen, to be his guests at a performance.

New Family Act

Holiday scouts had seen the Beard family on the rink; Holiday, as always, was seeking a family act. The producers had a hunch the Beards could be lured back into the spotlights and glamor of the business. It was a good hunch; the Beards signed a contract.

They will appear as a family group and the youngsters will do their pair act without assistance from their talented parents.

Holiday will stage seven performances during its six-day run at the Arena, with matinee at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, and at 5 o'clock on Sept. 30, and a 5 p.m. show Sunday, Oct. 1. Tickets are available at Look's Drug Stores in Kaukauna and Berggren Brothers Sport Shop in Appleton.

Durante and Hope Salute Vaudeville

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 Channels 4-5 — You might say that television is overworking the "good old days" of show biz, but when Bob Hope and Jimmy Durante take a crack at it, you'll have to acknowledge its appeal. The first of the season's Bob Hope Comedy Specials is titled "Shades of Vaudeville," starring Jimmy, Jack Jones, Phyllis Diller, Kaye Stevens and Rowan & Marvin. All the effects simulate the era and the acts are mainly recreations. The feature is Hope, Jones and Durante as Jimmy's original group Clayton, Jackson and Durante. They do several Durante classics but the best is Jimmy's "September Song" solo. (C)

6:30-7:30 Channels 11-6-9 — Guest star Ralph Meeker proves to be a worthy foil for Wayne Maunder's hard-bitten characterization of Custer. He plays a bad-tempered trail boss who delights in pricking the pride of the Army, and particularly that of Custer. (C)

7:30-8 Channels 2-7-12 — The Beverly Hillbillies have much more fun with their English castle than they ever had with the California mansion, and you will too. Jethro's looking for dragons while Elly Mae becomes a damsel in distress hoping for a Prince Charming to come and save her. But Granny is more level-headed trying to get medical aide for Jed's cousin "Marcus" (the Marquis).

8-10 Channels 11-6-9 — There is a token effort to get some story into "Paradise, Hawaiian Style," on The Wednesday Night Movie, but with little effect. The purpose of the picture is to get as many female forms around its star, Elvis Presley, as possible. He plays a pilot who goes home to Hawaii to get away from his romantic problems, but finds even more there. (C)

8:30-9 Channels 2-7-12 — He and She has a flavor of Jackie Gleason's "Honeymooners" tonight. Paula (Prentiss) and Dick (Benjamin) have decided it is time to make an investment and what is better than real estate? In fact, the apartment house they live in looks good to them and they put down every penny they have to buy it. Of course, their friends and neighbors are delighted, but only temporarily. They are now tenants and as such have a thing or two to complain about. (C)

9-10 Channels 2-7-12 — Unlike most television lawyers or productions, Dundee and the Culhane quickly gets away from the 100 per cent courtroom victories by showing a lost case, and a murder case at that. The defendant is a bumbling drifter who is apparently innocent but found guilty for lack of a witness. (C)

* * *

9-10 Channels 4-5 — Vera Miles is a very effective guest star on Run For Your Life which is a light, little farce and not for action fans. Fernando Lamas as the Latin gigolo and Ben Gazzara as Paul Bryan are on a Mediterranean cruise where they both go through some romantic entanglements. (C)

Red Sox Win, Share Lead With the Twins

replaced by Wilson, making his first relief appearance of the year.

After Reggie Smith sacrificed, Wilson walked pinch hitter Dalton Jones intentionally, filling the bases. The Detroit ace then wild-pitched the go-ahead run home and the Red Sox added an insurance tally on Russ Gibson's sacrifice fly.

Jim Northrup's two-run homer in the sixth had given the Tigers their one-run edge.

"Beautiful, beautiful," exclaimed Manager Dick Williams after the Red Sox' second straight comeback victory. "This team doesn't quit."

Horlen stranded Jim Fregosi after the California shortstop tripled with one out in the first inning, then limited the Angels to five singles on the way to his fifth shutout and 18th victory of the year.

The slim right-hander, who keyed the Sox' stretch drive with a no-hitter against Detroit 10 days ago, also singled to touch off a three-run flurry in the sixth against loser Jim McGlothlin. Tom McCraw's triple and singles by Tommie Agee and Ken Boyer delivered the runs and Horlen made them stand up.

champ, got off slowly with only two yards on seven rushes although he did run back a kickoff 103 yards for a TD

John Unitas of Baltimore leads the quarterbacks in the first weekly NFL statistics after throwing for 401 yards, a career high, in Baltimore's opener with Atlanta. The most surprising statistic among the passers is Green Bay's Bart Starr's four interceptions

Charley Taylor of Washington, moved from running back to wide receiver in the middle of last season, opened defense of his pass reception title by catching eight for 144 yards against Philadelphia

Billy Lothridge of Atlanta has the best punting average, 50 yards, rookie Doug Cunningham of Mississippi tops the punt return men with a 57-yard average and Savers of the Bears has the best kickoff return mark 73 5 yards

Bobby Boyd of Baltimore leads the pass defenders with two interceptions against Atlanta s Randy Johnson

ND Loses May And Sophomore Defensive Back

SOUTHBEND, Ind (AP)—Notre Dame's reserve forces were weakened Monday with two key losses

Paul May, a senior from Alexandria, Va., who backed up Larry Conjar last year at fullback, was advised by doctors that he would risk permanent knee injury by attempting to play in 1967

May was a letter winner of 1965 but was injured in the Pittsburgh game last season and missed the remainder of the year He was expected to wage a strong battle for the No 1 fullback role this year

Sophomore Ray Standing of Chicago will be lost for the season as a result of a fractured collar bone Standing, a second team defensive back, suffered the injury in Saturday's scrimmage

131 Milwaukee Police Casualties Of Summer Riots

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Police Chief Harold Breier said Tuesday one policeman has been killed and 130 have been injured since racial unrest broke out in the city July 30

Nine of the 130 have not yet returned to duty, Breier said

Two of them face lengthy recovery periods and extensive plastic surgery after being shot by an alleged sniper Patrolman Bryan Moschea was killed during the same incident July 31

The other seven who have not returned to duty also were injured during the July 31 violence

Breier said 45 officers were injured during the disturbances in in late July and early August

The other 85 have been injured during the 23 consecutive days of open housing marches, sponsored by the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People

Most of those injured during marches were hit by flying debris or hurt in scuffles with persons being arrested. Breier said

Milwaukeean Wanted For Bank Robbery Captured in Court

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A man wanted for bank robbery was taken into custody Tuesday when he appeared at police headquarters on a traffic offense.

Equiness Boyles, 20, had been named earlier in a warrant charging him with the $17,900 armed holdup July 29 of the Badger office of the First Wisconsin National Bank

Boyles had been arrested previously on a charge of driving without a license, and his case was adjourned until today Police were waiting when he showed up in Traffic Court.

Praises Running Mate Marsh

'They Hit Harder,' Says Farr of Pro Tacklers

DETROIT (AP) — Mel Farr, the Detroit Lions' spectacular rookie running back, doesn't think running in the professional ranks is a great deal harder than in college—just different

As a matter of fact, he doesn't like to talk too much about his running He was a lot more willing to talk about the plunges of fullback Amos Marsh in the 17-17 tie with Green Bay Sunday

"The pros hit harder," Farr said "But I don't know that it's harder to run against them Of course, they're better. If a guy is a member of a pro team he's one of the few that's good enough

"On a college team you have three or four guys who are very, very good But on a pro team, they're all good," Farr said

He gained 95 yards on 16 tries for a six-yard average against Green Bay

"Amos did a hell of a job," he said "He was great running in there If Nick Eddy can push him out of the job when his knee gets well, it'll be just that much better for the team Nick is a great athlete He's strong and can run inside, too," Farr said

The tie with the world champion Packers, he said, was "a good start We didn't like to tie them, we wanted to win, but we're satisfied

"I think any team that can tie Green Bay feels like it can beat anybody We'll give anybody a tough time," he said

Farr, looking to this Sunday's game with Cleveland, said, "I start her voyage to Providence

Tent Dress Styles Hurt Maternity Wear Sales

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The tent dress was responsible for the worst maternity fashion season in 30 years, a Philadelphia maker of dresses for mothers-to-be says

"Our volume dropped 25 to 30 per cent last season," says dress firm executive Albert Nipon

The reason With tents already in their wardrobes expecting mothers didn't feel the need for special clothes and stayed away from maternity departments

Bill Entered to Merge Three Valley Counties

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The unification of Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties into a single county has been proposed in a bill introduced by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, and Assembly assistant majority leader David Martin, R-Neenah.

The seat of the new Winnebago County would be located in either the Town of Menasha in Winnebago County or the Town of Harrison in Calumet County, according to the measure introduced through the Assembly Rules Committee Tuesday.

Court Alignment

Effective Jan. 6, 1969, a unified county board comprised of members of the county boards of the three counties would govern the new county, and would establish supervisory districts for a new board election to be held in April, 1970.

The seven county judges of the three counties would be continued in office and would continue to operate as seven branches of the new County Court.

The new county would be established as a judicial circuit, and would operate two branches of the court. The judge of the present Winnebago and Calumet County Circuit Court would continue as one branch, and a second branch judge would be elected in April, 1969.

Outagamie County would be removed from the 10th judicial circuit, leaving that circuit comprised of Langlade, Menominee and Shawano counties.

Under the proposed plan, the existing state Senate, Assembly and congressional districts would be continued as they now are apportioned. Reapportionment following the 1970 federal census would redistrict the area, as will be done throughout the state.

In November, 1968, voters in the new Winnebago County would vote on which of the two selected towns would serve as the county seat for the new unified county.

In that same election, voters would elect county officers for the new county, and victors would take office Jan. 6, 1969, the date at which the new county is to be created.

'A Thought Provoker'

Froehlich said he proposed the plan "as a thought provoker," and that he would not predict the legislative chances of the measure.

"We'll hold a hearing on it and see what happens," he said.

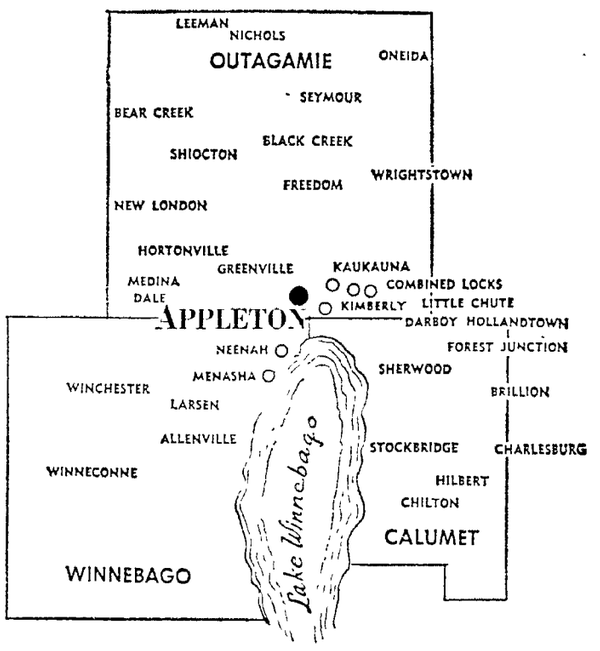
That hearing will be held after the Legislature returns on Oct. 17, he indicated

Many reasons exist for the change, he said, chief among them being governmental economies and efficiencies which can be effected through the unified area.

The Fox Cities constitute one geographic area, he pointed out, but are spread among three counties — just as the single city of Appleton soon will be

Court efficiencies can be accomplished as well, he indicated.

And Calumet County can be brought into the development of the area to play a complete role, he said. Presently it is too often ignored, he said



Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties would become one—Winnebago County—under a proposal entered in the State Assembly Tuesday by two Valley assemblymen.

Corpus Christi in Danger

Beulah Strikes at 160 m.p.h.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Beulah, a vicious storm that took nearly 30 lives, crashed inland today and spun off killing and destructive tornadoes.

The Weather Bureau said at a late hour that the eye was between San Benito and Harlingen after smashing ashore at the mouth of the Rio Grande, which separates Texas and Mexico.

Hurricanes normally begin a great curve toward the northeast when they hit land and this does not rule out the possibility it might turn into the Gulf of Mexico again

High Tides

But it eased the severity of the forecasts for Corpus Christi, 160 miles north of Brownsville, where the Weather Bureau earlier predicted Beulah would hit with storm-driven tides of possible historic heights.

At Corpus Christi, rain and wind hit and some trees toppled, but traffic remained heavy on streets and many business houses remained open.

The force of the winds, once estimated at 160 miles per hour while the hurricane was in the Gulf of Mexico, began to drop. Beulah was 600 miles in diamater.

An estimated 30,000 persons on the United States side of the Rio Grande fled to safer ground ahead of the hurricane. Ham radio operators said a Mexican village suffered heavy damage.

Tornadoes spawned by the hurricane dipped down along the coast for more than 250 miles to the north.

Tornadoes Kill 3

The tornadoes killed at least three persons. Another was missing as half a dozen of the twisters struck, destroying homes and wrecking automobiles.

Lt. Cmdr. Frank C. Nelson, a hurricane hunter pilot, called Beulah "about the biggest, nastiest storm I've ever seen."

The tornadoes a phenomenon of big hurricanes, killed three persons at Palacios, midway between Houston and Corpus Christi on Matagorda Bay. Another person was missing as a single tornado struck Palacios four times, destroying three homes and wrecking automobiles.

The tornado deaths brought the toll of Beulah to 27 since it was spawned in the Atlantic Ocean days ago, with one person missing. Heaviest death toll was in the Caribbean and the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

All along the middle Texas Coast, winds and rains heralded the approach of Beulah.

The weather bureau said the hurricane will set off rains of up to 10 inches for 50 miles inland and warned of rain floods as well as destructive tides

Hurricane Carla

For comparison, famous Hurricane Carla, which struck the Texas coast Sept. 11, 1961, had winds estimated at 175 m p h —only slightly higher than Beulah's at her peak Although a half million persons fled inland, 40 persons died and damage was estimated at $500 million. The state's most killing hurricane occurred at Galveston in 1900 when 6,000 to 8,000 persons died—there was no

Most Residents Take to Flight, Some Decide to Ride Out Storm

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The hermit knew the hurricane was coming but he wouldn't run—not until a judge made him do it.

A handful of stalwarts committed themselves to ride out the blast in an old two-story house in an island fishing village.

Refugees streamed northward in cars and trucks or fled to hometown shelters where they sang and danced, "almost like a fiesta."

A beachfront tavern owner decided to open the doors and just watch the water rush through.

These were some of the answers to a civil defense official's question. "How do you get ready for something like this?"—the all-inclusive "this" meaning Hurricane Beulah, a monster of a storm slowly trundling toward the lower Texas coast.

Most residents of Port Aransas were evacuated Tuesday, and ferry service was stopped. The only other entry, a farm road down Padre Island, was cut by rising waters Tuesday night.

"There are about 20 persons left over there," said a deputy sheriff. "They are pretty well cut off now and I don't think they could get out if they wanted to." He said they were in "an old two-story house that has withstood a number of hurricanes and they think they will be all right.

"The water is already up to the dunes, so I imagine they are on the second floor now," the deputy said.

Another handful—16 to 20 persons—refused to leave Port Isabel, said Harry Lewis of Brownsville, an attorney who took over as civil defense director for Cameron County.

Refugees fleeing northward drove as far as San Antonio, 275 miles from Brownsville, moved in heavily loaded cars and trucks, some of them towing big pleasure boats.

"We're about as ready as we can get," Lewis said. "But how do you get ready for some-thing like this?"

In Brownsville about 5,000 persons—about one-tenth of the population, gathered in schools, churches and the civic center to escape the hurricane.

A total of 1,161 persons crowded into the auditorium of the civic center, the largest shelter in Brownsville.

In family groups, they drew together in circles of chairs, watching their children play and feeding themselves from portable ice chests filled with food and drink.

"It's almost like a fiesta," said Leroy H. Haverlah Jr., 28, a social worker. "People are laughing and enjoying getting together. The worst part will come tomorrow when many of them will go home and find their houses gone."

Prepare for Rain Thursday

Fox Cities — Mostly cloudy and mild with showers and thundershowers likely tonight Thursday, variable cloudiness with a chance of a few light showers, and much cooler. Low tonight, near 55 degrees; high Thursday, near 62 Southerly winds 12-18 miles per hour tonight shifting to northwesterly 15-25 m.p.h. Thursday.

Appleton — Observations for the past 24 hours at 10 a m. show high 82 degrees; low 65; no precipitation Barometer at 29.90 and falling; winds from southeast at 9 m p h., humidity 81; dew point 64; skies cloudy

Sun sets today at 6 56 p m., rises tomorrow at 6:39 a.m. Moon rises tonight at 7:49 p.m.

3 Egyptian Boats Sunk

45 Soldiers Reportedly Aboard Suez Patrol; Cairo Issues Denial

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli tank gunners sank three Egyptian patrol boats carrying about 45 armed and helmeted soldiers today after Egypt twice tried to ferry them down the blocked Suez Canal, an Israeli armed forces spokesman said.

About 15 Egyptians in fatigue uniforms jumped from each craft into the canal after tanks fired on them at dawn and again about 2½ hours later, sources said. They were seen struggling in the water and several casualties were reported.

An Egyptian official in Cairo denied the Israeli claim, charging that the Israelis opened fire without provocation on Egyptian positions across the 100-yard wide canal He maintained no Egyptian boats were on the waterway.

Create Tension

Israeli observers in Tel Aviv accused Egypt of attempting to create tension to coincide with the opening sessions of the U N General Assembly in New York

Sources in Cairo later reported a brief exchange of fire between Egyptian and Israeli forces at the canal

The incidents occurred near the Red Sea end of the 114-mile waterway which has been closed since the Middle East war in June A seven-hour artillery and naval battle between Israeli and Egyptian forces broke out in the same area Sept. 4

The Israeli army said the Egyptians violated a U N. agreement to keep the canal free of traffic when they sent six small boats loaded with soldiers south of the town of Port Taufiq at 6:15 a m. Two boats were hit and sunk by tank fire, the Israelis reported.

Two and a half hours later, the Israelis said, the Egyptians tried to send two more boats down the canal and Israeli fire from the east bank hit one of them

No Israeli casualties were reported

The outbreak followed a series of firefights across the waterway since the major Sept. 4 battle in which the Egyptians said Israeli fire into the canal side towns of Port Suez and Port Taufiq left 44 civilians dead and 170 wounded

That fighting broke out, U N. truce observers reported later, when Egyptian shore batteries opened fire on Israeli patrol boats

One-Vote Margin

House Gives Initial Approval To $40 Million to Fight Rats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, by one vote, has tentatively approved a $40 million increase in funds authorized for rat extermination and other state health programs.

If sustained on a vote scheduled for today, the action could partially erase what many members consider a black mark on the House for its rejection in July of the administration's $40 million rat control bill.

The measure adopted 129 to 128 Tuesday as an amendment to a $950 million health bill would increase the funds available for state public health programs by $20 million this year and $20 million next year.

Attack Program

When debate concluded for the night, Republicans were attacking an emergency $58 million hospital aid program included by Democrats in the bill.

Overwhelming passage of the House measure was expected today after action on the two controversial portions.

While funds in the bill are given for the states to use according to their needs, backers of the additional $40 million indicated they hope it would go largely for rat control. Twelve states have included rat control in programs developed under the health act passed initially last year.

The amendment was sponsored by Reps. Henry S Reuss, D-Wis., and Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., both of whom supported the administration's effort in July to set up a new rat control program in the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"The rat is more than the carrier of disease," Mathias said. "He has become the symbol of official cynicism."

Rep Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference and senior GOP member of the Appropriations subcommittee that considered health funds, said additional money was unnecessary this year but was needed next year.

He said the number one health problem is not rats but venereal disease.

'New World' Was Just a Brief Respite

Founders of U.N. 22 Years Ago Hoped For Sensible Life

BY JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just a little over 22 years ago the United Nations was born in San Francisco. For a moment, with the anguish of the big war ending, it seemed this might be the beginning of a new world.

Capitalists and Communists cheered and old animosities were almost invisible, for a while.

Anyone who was there had lived through the years of war, worse than anything in history, and he knew mankind, if sensible enough, could forge out of the fires of agony a peaceful way of life.

The machinery for quiet settlement of disputes, both new and ancient, was the foundation stone of this new United Nations, its primary purpose.

Even so, anyone there with his wits about him and a knowledge of history had to be skeptical. He could hope man at last had learned to live intelligently but history told him it was unlikely.

Still Primitive

He knew man was still primitive, as World War II had just demonstrated, which meant that if now the nations seemed eager to eliminate conflict it was only because they were exhausted.

They needed time to catch their breath, like a professional fighter who is knocked flat on his back and then gets up off the floor again, shaking the fuzz out of his head, until he is ready to go again.

Nevertheless, as the delegates at San Francisco finished their work, the whole non-Fascist world tingled a bit at the thought that here at last man had a chance to change his ways.

The tingle didn't last long, and there wasn't much reason for it. At the very moment of birth distrust and suspicion were written into the U.N. charter when the United States and Soviet Union insisted upon reserving the power to veto each other.

Not All Pay

The United Nations had 51 members starting out and has 122 now. But it is in debt perhaps as much as $60 million because not all the members will pay what they owe.

And it didn't end war, after all. In some cases it has helped, as in Korea. In some it has been helpless, as in Vietnam. It has been criticized on all sides.

French President Charles DeGaulle called it the "Leaning Tower of Babel." Nikita Khrushchev called it the tool of colonial powers. A critic in the United States described it as a "Communist-deminated r a t 's nest."

It can help, sometimes, smother war fires in small nations. But it can do nothing if the big ones, like the United States and Soviet Union, want to perform.

Mideast War

Nothing shows better its dilapidated condition as the world's peacekeeper than what happened to it, and what it did, when the Arabs were ready to make war on Israel last June.

When U.N. troops, stationed a decade on Egyptian land as a buffer between Israel and Egypt, were told to "git" by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser they were withdrawn in a hurry by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

The brief war followed.

When the 22nd session of the U.N. General Assembly opened Tuesday the retiring president, Abdul Raham Pazhwak of Afghanistan, didn't waste time on illusions.

'Psychology of Force'

He told the delegates the past year "has been marked by increased tensions among nations and by a lamentable deterioration in the world situation."

In many areas and on many levels, he said, "the psychology of force has swept the minds of men and nations."

Perhaps the United Nations' only hope is that if it can last long enough, although that may require centuries, nations eventually may become civilized enough to settle a dispute with tongues instead of tanks.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A couple of years ago Cora Street was a dirty, dark, rundown slum. Today it is bright, clean and cheerful. The people who live there are proud of it.

In between came a civic group convinced that private industry can do a better job of housing middle class families by rehabilitating slums than by rehabilitating slums than knocking the buildings flat and starting from scratch.

Action-Housing Inc., a civic organization, bought and rebuilt the 22 row houses along Cora Street as a pilot project to test its theory that massive rehabilitation could be profitable.

Action-Housing spent $230,000 of the money it gets from grants and donations. It broke even by selling the homes back to the landlords.

Massive Scale

But Director Bernard E. Loshbough said Cora Street could have been a money-maker. He has started a corporation designed to do the same job on a massive scale and make money. Fourteen businesses have pledged $1 million of the $3.1 million the corporation says it needs to get started.

For the tenants the advantages are more than a clean, pleasant, modern home.

"The people seem to be more neighborly," said Mrs. Richard Robinson of 536 Cora. "Before, you couldn't sit out on the porch and talk to people. Everybody kept to themselves."

The Robinsons are paying $90 a month rent. It used to be $67, but the new rent includes gas and lights. Mrs. Robinson figures she comes out even.

Clear $500

Loshbough said the Cora Street experience indicates that a profit-making corporation, using mass production techniques over a wide area, could clear $500 per unit.

That figure would rise sharply if labor costs were reduced, and the Pittsburgh Building Trades Council has already agreed to eradicate the strict jurisdictional lines that boost building costs.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and 38 other senators have been trying to get the federal government into the picture with a bill for a National Homeowners Foundation Act, which would make low-interest loans so tenants could become homeowners.

"I believe this example of private-sector action in Pittsburgh shows how large scale community improvement can be undertaken," Percy said on a visit to Cora Street.

There have been spinoff benefits at Cora Street too.

John Hall, the caretaker for the apartments, points to a house up the street with a new aluminum awning. Another has a new porch. The landlord has cleared the trash from the backyard of another.

A stranger wouldn't notice the changes. But Hall does. So does Mrs. Robinson.

Prison-Striped Shirt Lands Youth in Jail

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Bill Rentschler decked himself out in one of the convict-striped T-shirts that are the rage among teen-agers in his hometown and went riding through nearby Milton.

Two police officers pegged him for an escaped convict. "But I bought this shirt," protested the 17-year-old from Pace, Fla. The police took him to jail.

Rentschler telephoned his grandmother, whose explanation was enough to free him.

Little Red Wagons on Way to Asian Children

CAMP CARROLL, Vietnam (AP) — One thousand little red wagons are heading from the United States to South Vietnam to play a role in the other war.

"This kind of thing may be more important than shooting people," said M. Sgt. William D. Abbott, who came up with the wagon idea.

Abbott, a soft-spoken 39-year-old Marine, got to thinking about it after he saw a Vietnamese boy dragging a discarded ammunition box through the mud of a refugee village near this artillery post just south of the demilitarized zone.

Being pulled along inside the box was another Vietnamese child.

"I just thought it might be pretty nice if they had a real wagon," Abbott said.

He wrote his wife Madreen, in Stafford, Va., where she lives with their two children, and asked her to send him a couple of little red wagons. She did. One of them went to a Vietnamese child "and it must have 10,000 miles on it by now," Abbott said. He gave the second one to a Roman Catholic priest who helps handle the refugee families at nearby Cam Lo.

Then the word got around back in the states about the wagons, especially in the circles of the Amateur Trapshooting Association of America, in which Abbott and his wife have long been active. It snowballed and the trapshooters began "Operation Red Wagon." Money was raised at shooting events, starting last June 25 with the Fall Creek Valley Club at Anderson, Ind.

Enthusiastic Support

Abbott got the okay from his commanding officers to go ahead with the project on this end, and the enthusiastic endorsement of Hugh McKinley of Vandalia, Ohio, manager of the trapshooting association, and Ralph Taylor of Keedysville, Md., association president.

"I thought we might get enough money to buy 40 or 50 wagons, maybe a hundred at the most," Abbott said, "but the first thing I knew there was enough for a thousand."

The wagons cost $4 apiece in the United States. The shipping to South Vietnam is handled by the association and the Marines.

The wagon that Abbott gave the priest is used as a display model to let the refugee children know that more are on the way.

Puppy Saves Mistress, Dies in Fire

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — The beagle barked frantically early in the morning trying to wake its mistress who had studied late the night before.

Cherlee Taylor, 18-year-old Contra Costa College student, finally was awakened by the barking and jumping on her bed Monday by 5-month-old Marty.

Miss Taylor opened the bedroom door of her second floor apartment and was met by a wall of flame. She wrapped a blanket around her shoulders and raced through the living room and front door.

Neighbors ripped the burning blanket from her.

City Employes Get Pay Hike At New London

New Pact Approved By Council; Wages Up 5 Per Cent

NEW LONDON — A one-year contract with the city street department employes union calling for a 5 per cent across-the board-pay increase was approved Tuesday by the city council.

The contract had been approved by the union earlier. The Municipal Employees, Local 756, is affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Negotiations were carried out between the union and the city's personnel committee.

S. W. Krostue, committee chairman, presented the contract to the council. Adoption was unanimously recommended by the committee. The new agreement goes into effect Jan. 1, 1968.

Basic Changes

Basic changes in the contract are:

— A 5 per cent wage increase — amounting to 8 to 12 cents per hour. The minimum wage in effect is $1.67 an hour, while the maximum is $2.10. The city mechanic is currently paid on a $2.33 an hour scale.

— Half of the employes share of the state retirement (amounting to 2¼ per cent of his gross wages) is to be paid by the city. Presently employes pay 4½ per cent of the salary into the retirement pay.

— The work week shall consist of a straight 45 hours. Presently the department works a 50-hour week during the summer and a 40-hour week in the winter.

— Time-and-a-half is to be paid for any work in excess of 50 hours a week, unless scheduled by employes for holidays and special occasions. At present, time-and-a-half is paid only for work on Sundays or holidays.

— The number of sick leave days was increased from 30 to 45. Sick leave will continue to accumulate at the rate of one-half day per month.

This was the second union contract between the city and street department employes and required less negotiating than the first which went into effect last December.

Unlike the first contract, no outside arbitration was needed to get the bargaining groups to agree.

McBrair Said Someone Else Controlled His Body, Doctor Testifies

Sanity Segment of Wautoma Murder Trial Gets Underway

BARABOO (AP)—A physician testified Tuesday that James D. McBrair told him that "someone else had control of my body" at the time his estranged wife and three other persons were slain.

Dr. Clarence Schneider, a physician at the Central State Hospital at Waupun, told of McBrair's comment during the opening day of McBrair's sanity trial before a Circuit Court jury

The same jury convicted McBrair Monday of first degree murder in the slayings March 5 of McBrair's second wife, Carol, 27, her stepfather, Marvin Behr, 62; her stepsister, Barbara Behr, 15; and a babysitter, Cheryl Oleson, 14.

Dr. Schneider said McBrair did not elaborate on the remark but was responsive to questioning.

Dream-Like State

John Wilcox, attorney for the 27-year-old Plainfield man, told the court that his client was driven into a dream - like state by financial and domestic troubles preceding the shootings.

McBrair has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to four counts of first degree murder. The plea forced the second trial

Wilcox said that McBrair was moody for more than eight months prior to the slayings.

Dr. Edward Schubert, hospital superintendent at Waupun, testified that "because of mental disease, McBrair lacked the ability to conform his conduct to the requirements of law."

Based on Reports

McBrair was taken to Waupun for mental examinations after his arrest. Dr. Schubert said he had seen the man only once at the institution and based his opinion on reports from other doctors.

Wilcox told the court that Carol caused McBrair anguish by dating other men The shootings occurred after Carol filed for divorce.

Despite the divorce action, McBrair occasionally lived with Carol in a cabin owned by Carol's family, Wilcox said

On the night of the slayings, Wilcox said, McBrair's thoughts became clouded when efforts to enter the cabin were frustrated by "someone barring the doorway."

Win Reconciliation

McBrair, the lawyer said, had gone to the cabin hoping to win a reconciliation with his wife.

Wilcox said McBrair told him he thought of shooting himself in his wife's presence.

Mrs. Carol Lerch, a special worker at the state hospital, quoted McBrair as describing the shootings as "dream-like."

Jay Morrison, chief psychologist at the hospital, said there were two main features to McBrair's personality: "a dominant feeling of inadequacy and a feeling of depression."

He said McBrair told him that he "wouldn't mind walking to the electric chair."

Bill Goes Into Senate Deliberation

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Rogers bill to change the site of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay received its final legislative hearing Tuesday as the state Senate started its deliberations on the controversial measure to the accompaniment of arguments over the contested campus which have echoed through statehouse halls for the past 18 months.

The Senate Education Committee became the seventh state body to review the selection of the Shorewood site, located on Green Bay's northeast side, in the drive to shift the school to the opposite edge of the city.

The hearing was an orderly replay of sessions which have run since the site was selected in February, 1966 — a decision which has given rise to a court case which has reached the State Supreme Court even before it has come to trial.

Delay Until 1970

The bill, authored by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, would move the new school to the Larsen Farms site on the city's west side, and probably delay opening of the school until at least 1970.

It narrowly passed the Assembly just before adjournment early last summer, after being strenuously pushed by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton.

Froehlich Tuesday termed the site selection process "a very shoddy operation?" and charged that Green Bay backers of the new school were fighting to maintain the Shorewood site because it will require massive

Letters to PSC, State Officials

Calumet Protests Appleton Water Plan To Take Water From Lake Winnebago

CHILTON — Protests to Appleton's plan to use Lake Winnebago as its municipal water supply were ordered Tuesday by the Calumet County Board.

Supervisors, especially board chairman G. J. Hipke, New Holstein, were miffed at not being given formal notification of the Public Service Commission (PSC) proceedings in approving the measure.

A letter of protest to the PSC, with copies to the attorney general's office and to the governor, were ordered after Hipke used a recent newspaper article to inform the board that the PSC has officially approved Appleton's water expansion program, which will, Hipke told the board, "involve the pumping of some 40 to 50 gallons of water daily from Lake Winnebago." (The figure is closer to 15 to 20 million gallons at peak, according to city estimates.)

Cites Interest

Hipke asked, "Why wasn't Calumet County notified of this action by the PSC since our county involves a great deal of population along the lake?"

He cites a personal instance when he wanted to install a 3-inch pipe for irrigation purposes on property he owned along Lake Winnebago. "Before I could go ahead with this project, I had to get PSC approval after a public hearing at the courthouse, where all property owners along the lake were notified to speak for or against the project, and that was just for a little 3-inch pipe. Here, where the City of Appleton is concerned, they are installing a 1,200-foot, 48-inch intake pipe into the lake, and pumping a great deal of water out daily."

Mrs. Dan Butler, who represents the Appleton precinct in Calumet County, referred to an "around-the-lakes" meeting she attended recently in Fond du Lac, during which flood plains and shoreline areas in the counties would be regulated as to high water levels. She said that in Menasha the crest would be 21¼ inches, and "this would be the level we would follow." according to the Great Lakes International Corp of Engineers. Mrs. Butler asked, "what is this going to do with the water level, when all that water is pumped daily from Lake Winnebago?"

Read Comments

Again referring to the newspaper article, it was pointed out that Appleton mayor George Buckley disclosed that a spokesman for the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission asked that the city's case be presented to the Around-the-Lake Committee and the mayor answered, "We haven't got time to go around the lake and ask other communities what they think about our water plant addition project."

Appleton received PSC approval after an extensive study which selected Lake Winnebago as a new source to meet increased water service demands.

In its action, the PSC gave approval to the city's plans for expanding the water treatment plant, along with construction of a pipeline to Lake Winnebago.

Waupaca Balks at Retirement Pay Bill

Council Continues Opposition To Measure Concerning Whalen

WAUPACA — Members of the city council Tuesday night gave their unofficial support to Mayor Lloyd Matheson in his objections to State Senate Bill 315-S which would make the city responsible for paying $9,000 in back-retirement for Municipal Justice George Whalen.

The bill passed the Senate June 21 and the Assembly Labor Committee held a hearing Sept. 15. A recommendation from the committee is expected soon.

The Senate passed the measure on a permissive basis, which places the responsibility of authorization on the individual municipalities. There is now some question on whether or not Waupaca should share in the back payments because many of the cases heard by Whalen are county cases.

Now on Salary

Years in question are those from 1947, when Whalen was appointed police justice, to 1961 when he was made a municipal justice. During these years Whalen was paid on a fee basis Since 1962 when he became municipal justice, he has been paid a salary. His salary now is $6,900, plus $300, which is paid into the retirement fund, which he has been under since 1962.

Matheson read letters which he had sent to Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Black Creek and the Senate Committee on Labor, objecting to the bill. After reading the letters and their replies, Matheson asked councilmen if any of them favored making back retirement payments for Whalen. None of the members present favored the idea.

It was explained that if the city contributed the $6,900, it could be paid over a 38-year period. "I would hate to go to the people of the Third Ward, many of them on social security, and tell them that they would have to contribute a little each year for Whalen's retirement fund," Ald. Reuben T. Nelson (3rd) said.

Mayor Objects

It was asked how much money Whalen made during the years he worked on the fee basis, but no definite answer could be given, Mathewson said, "As far as I'm concerned, in those hey-

Appleton Bar Owner Shoots Self in Side

Shotgun Incident Followed Man's Fight With Wife

A 25-year-old Appleton tavern operator shot himself in the side with a 12 gauge shotgun early Monday morning following an argument with his wife

The man, who was not believed to be seriously injured, was taken to St Elizabeth Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance. Police were told that a shotgun slug entered the man's chest on the right side, below the breast bone, and came out the other side. However, police could not find the slug.

The man's wife telephoned police at 2:30 a.m., saying that her husband was in the house "with a loaded .38" While she was talking with police, her husband picked up a downstairs telephone extension and asked for an ambulance.

When police arrived at the west side home, they found the man sitting at the kitchen table. The shotgun was near a gun cabinet in the small study room where he apparently shot himself There was a considerable amount of blood in the house, police said.

Investigation was continuing this morning

Chilton Council, Chamber Told

Initiative Needed for Housing Plan

CHILTON — "Low rent housing cannot proceed without local initiative," a representative of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) told councilmen and a Chamber of Commerce representative Tuesday evening.

John Terranella, representing HUD, discussed the steps which must be taken to acquire low rental housing for the elderly, explained that the city would have to determine a "need" for such housing facilities.

Most Important

Terranella presented two basic steps which the aldermen would have to take. First would be to create a housing authority that would prepare a workable program to be submitted to HUD to gain qualification for aid. The second would call for the housing authority to enter a "cooperative agreement" with HUD, whereby the authority would provide certain services to HUD, as the program progressed.

The most important of seven elements in the first step, according to Terranella, would be the establishment of codes and ordinances, which in some instances would eliminate substandard housing or at least bring it up to date. A six-month enforcement program would be set up to keep tabs on this.

Other elements would be the comprehensive city plan, neighborhood analysis, citizens participation group, administration, financing and re-location. Terranella said the latter four would be less important.

Terranella explained that the "city is in no way liable or involved in this program other than to appoint a five-man committee, called the housing authority, and to pass such ordinances deemed necessary regarding low rent housing."

The housing authority would have to do a substantial amount of paper work in making applications. Included would be specific number of units required and who would occupy the units. After these reports are furnished to HUD's legal department an application for a preliminary loan can be made.

Turnkey Program

He said a new program has been developed, to help cities eliminate time loss in obtaining site, architect and planning, namely the "turnkey" program. This program would have a developer handle the actual construction, purchase the site, negotiate contracts with property owners and set up the unit. The housing authority would purchase the property from the developer.

Financing would be accomplished by selling long-term bonds secured by a pledge of annual contributions, payable by the Public Housing Administration in an amount sufficient to cover payment of principal and interest. Operating expenses (including necessary reserves) and payments in lieu of taxes are met from rental and other project income. Rents are set on the basis of the renters' ability to pay Where the rental income exceeds the amounts needed for operating expenses and payments in lieu of taxes, the revenue is used to reduce the amount of the Federal Government's annual contribution.

William Hertel, Chamber of Commerce president, asked the council for approval to have the City Atty. William Engler Jr check into the proper codes to be adopted in compliance with the workable program.

Nursing Home Owner Denies Abusing Patient

Trial Set at Waupaca; County Removes All Public Aid Patients From Institution

WAUPACA — Mrs. William Ross, 63, owner of the Waupaca Rest Home, 109 W. Lake St., entered an innocent plea to a charge of abusing a patient of the home Tuesday when she was arraigned in Waupaca Municipal Justice Court.

According to the complaint signed by Robert Payette, Waupaca County welfare director, Mrs. Ross allegedly abused an elderly male resident by hitting him with the handle of a toilet plunger and then dragged him upstairs to his room. The incident allegedly occurred Sept. 11.

Payette said the incident has been investigated by the County Welfare Department and the State Department of Health and Social Services. As a result of the investigation, all public assistance recipients have been taken out of the 30-bed nursing home and placed in other nursing homes.

An investigation was started after a complaint was received from an employe of the home, according to welfare department officials.

A trial date was set for Sept. 22 and Mrs. Ross was released on a $200 bond.

Bonduel Duels DePere Team Thursday Night

De Pere	2	0	Kewaunee	1	1
Oconto Falls	2	0	Seymour	1	1
Sturgeon Bay	2	0	W. De Pere	1	1
Algoma	1	1	Bonduel	0	2
Ashwaubenon	1	1	Oconto	0	2
Bay Port	1	1	Pulaski	0	2

Suffering from a scoring famine in its first two league games, the Bonduel Bears get an early shot this week at trying to break into both the scoring and winning columns when they travel to De Pere to meet the Redbirds in a Northeastern Wisconsin Conference game Thursday night.

The Bonduel - De Pere contest is one of six slated for the long NEW weekend. Seymour, its hopes brightened by a 27-7 conquering of Ashwaubenon, travels to Algoma; Oconto Falls meets Sturgeon Bay on the Clippers' field in a test of unbeatens; Oconto visits Kewaunee; and Pulaski takes on defending champion West De Pere all on Friday. The lone Saturday tilt has Bay Port at Ashwaubenon.

Bonduel began the year by tripping Gillett, 18-6, in a non-conference outing but hasn't put a point on the scoreboard since. The Bears dropped a 13-0 decision to Ashwaubenon and then fell victim to the passing of Kewaunee's Scott Albrecht last Friday. Albrecht fired scoring tosses to Dale Neumeier and Pat Schleis and the Indians picked up their final two points on a safety for a 16-0 victory.

After being blitzed by West De Pere, 35-19, in its opening game, Seymour retaliated with a solid 27-7 win over the Jaguars.

Seymour broke the contest open with two second-quarter touchdowns. Pete King, the Indians' nifty quarterback, scored twice on two short plunges and then tossed a 24-yard TD-pass to Jim Anschutz. Wes Nielson dove over from two yards out for the final Indian score to match a consolation touchdown by the Jaguars.

Sturgeon Bay won its second game in an impressive manner, bombing Pulaski, 37-0. The Clipper defense, which now has two conference shutouts to its credit, only allowed Pulaski four yards on the ground.

Chilton Puts 10-Game EW Win String on Line at Kiel

CHILTON — Eastern Wisconsin Conference champion Chilton Tigers place a 10-game league winning streak, including a forfeit, on the line when they meet the Raiders at Kiel Friday night.

Elkhart Lake, Chilton's scheduled for last Friday, forfeited all league games having discontinued football after the season's schedule was released.

Kohler, the only team besides Chilton boasting a 2-0 season conference record, will travel to Oostburg Friday. Sheboygan Falls goes to Plymouth, and New Holstein travels to Cedar Grove.

Last Friday New Holstein (1-1) defeated Oostburg (0-1-1), 14-12; Kiel (1-1) defeated Sheboygan Falls (0-2), 19-13; Valders (1-1) lost to Kohler (2-0) 27-0.

Bulldog Jayvees Trounced 40-6

NEW LONDON — A mistake-plagued Bulldog Junior Varsity 11 was handed a 40-6 licking Monday by Shawano at the Indian's field.

Pass interceptions, a fumbled punt and a poor snap from center on a punting situation led to Shawano scores.

Ted Feurig put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard in the third quarter as the speedy halfback broke around end and sprinted 20 yards into the end zone.

Mensaha will play at Hatten Stadium at 7 p.m. Friday in the second junior varsity contest.

Skills Tests Planned At Clintonville School

CLINTONVILLE — The week of Sept. 25 is scheduled by the Green Bay Diocese for administering the Iowa Basic Skills Tests to pupils in the third through eighth grade level, at St. Rose Catholic School.

Tests measure skills in reading, word-study, language and arithmetic.

Hilbert School Opens Business Department

State Evaluation Report Recommends Longer Year, Reorganization, Board Told

HILBERT — Business education department will open Wednesday, the board of education learned Monday night following the hiring of Mrs. Veryl Hein, Valders.

Mrs. Charles Parsons, Hilbert, has been hired as a part-time teacher in the elementary department, allowing John Buskeger to teach physical education. The added teacher will be performing classroom duties previously handled by Raymond Nehrlich, elementary principal, who resigned.

No replacement for his guidance counselor duties has been found. Earl Anderson, supervising principal, and his assistant Richard Werblow, will share counseling duties.

The school again was given an integrated rating by the State Department of Public Instruction. The annual evaluation report of the district was read by Anderson.

The department recommended increasing teaching days to 180. Due to two "snow days" the school had 178 last year, but this year has a calendar of 180, five more than the minimum. Reorganization with other districts was suggested, along with strengthening in-service days, improving teacher-pupil ratio (two elementary classes had 23 pupils each, two more than recommended last year) and to expand curriculum enrichment in the seventh and eighth grades, which is being done this year.

In-service days are planned this year for once every nine weeks in addition to the two days the beginning of school.

Board members reported on the state school board institute Saturday in Madison noting evaluation reports made by board members and administrators from schools recently consolidated. Several had said the big schools had been "overrated" causing many pupil-teacher problems not encountered in small schools.

A report also was given on the recent joint meeting with Stockbridge, Chilton and Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) boards to plan three public meetings on reorganization.

Teacher Pay

The board approved paying teachers on a bi-monthly basis, as they requested, and to reimburse band director William Huebner $160 for eight credits earned during the summer. Under the new salary schedule teachers will be paid for eight credits over a five-year period starting this month.

A change in school-employe health insurance demanding 52 cents per teacher increase for dental surgery and diagnostic outpatient plans was noted.

Several members indicated they would attend the Wisconain Association of School Board (WASB) sectional meeting Tuesday at Brillion.

Other Action

In other action the board:

Approved the use of a bus for the Northeastern Wisconsin Junior Livestock Show at DePere for the Future Farmers of America chapter.

Authorized use of the school for the annual Calumet County American Legion Auxiliary Council meeting Oct. 23 and the Calumet Memorial Hospital benefit smorgasbord Sept. 30.

Agreed to pay Leon Kesler to transport his child to St. John the Baptist School in view of the distance and inconvenience caused when the district buses did the transporting.

Learned per-pupil transportation cost was $56.70, among the lowest in area districts.

Authorized borrowing $5,000 to meet current bills due to non-payment to date of federal funds for the summer reading program advanced by the district.

Bulldog Frosh To Test Manawa

NEW LONDON — The Washington School freshman football team will open against Manawa at 7 p.m. today at Hatten Stadium.

Originally the game had been scheduled for 5 p.m. today. All freshman games will be played at 7 p.m. this year. Home contests are Clintonville, Sept. 27; Seymour, Oct. 12, and Hortonville, Oct. 18.

Gale Wandtke's squad will journey to Waupaca Oct. 3 and to Shawano Oct. 25 in the only scheduled road games.

Kerran Prahl Hits 576 At New London Lanes

NEW LONDON — Kerran Prahl's 225-576 led Brown's Citgo to a three-game sweep over London Inn in the opening round of the Business Men's League at Golden Hour Lanes.

Bob Jurack rolled a 237 for Meartz Insurance, a 2-1 winner over Cline and Hanson; Bill Kopitzke hit 563 to pace Elmer's Superette to a 2-1 decision over Zietlow Oil Company, and Vic Handschke's 554 led Graichen's Clean Up to a 2-1 verdict of Sugar Bush Milling. In the other match Bean City beat Dent's Radio and TV, 2-1.

Counselor at Workshop

MANAWA — George Lehto, high school guidance counselor, is attending a regional workshop on higher education for high schools at St. Norbert College today. The meeting will cover admissions and financial aid questions for private colleges and universities, state universities and vocational-technical schools.

Homecoming Festivities Start Thursday at Manawa High

MANAWA — Plans for the annual high school homecoming have been completed with the traditional game against the Marion Mustangs Friday evening.

Thursday evening will start the events with the snake dance, bonfire and pep rally.

Friday morning the hobo king and queen will be selected. Judging will be done by Randy Hall, Dan Retzke, Jack Martin and Doug Langmen.

The parade will begin at 1:45 p.m. Featuring floats, band, hobos and the royalty, Queen Kathleen Sedlac, King Tom Griffin, court members, Sharon Lepak, Jane Smith, Cheryl Sells and Irene Sedlac.

After the parade a pep rally will be conducted at the Triangle with the coronation of the queen.

Statement Differs From View Given by County Chairman

Appleton's reconstructed College Avenue is on the Federal Aid System (FAS) for highways and entitled to outside funds, the board of public works was told Tuesday.

This is a direct contradiction to a recent statement by Outagamie County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler on behalf of the County Highway Committee.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler and Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the council's street sanitation committee, informed the board they obtained their information from the State Highway Commission.

"We hope to appear before the county board Wednesday (today) or Thursday to explain this and request that the county allocate $100,000 toward the cost of repaving College Avenue," Pointer declared.

Pointer and other city officials felt the county board should be given an opportunity to vote on the city's request.

Some time ago, Esler and a group of other county officials promised a city delegation (Esler denies this) Appleton would recevie the $100,000. Payment was supposed to be made in June.

Esler recently sent a letter to city hall saying the county could not participate because the avenue was not on the FAS system.

What has perturbed city officials is that the official request for county assistance has never been before the board for a vote.

"If the county turns us down, then we will have to seek other remedies," Pointer said.

"However, all the members of the county board are entitled to hear our story. We are not hostile but believe we have a point," he added.

Members of the board of public works agreed.

days between 1947 and 1961 he was in business for himself."

One of the major objections being raised is that only a small percentage of the money collected by the Municipal Justice Court is returned to the city. Figures compiled by Whalen, and quoted in a letter sent to the city, by Waupaca County Assemblyman Gerald Anderson, state that since 1962 the office of municipal justice has shown a profit of $5,000 for the city.

Mrs. Harriett T. Ward, city clerk, said these figures are not correct because at the time they were compiled she was on vacation and Whalen obtained only part of his office costs from a secretary in her office. Amounts not included are Social Security payments for Whalen and his secretary, and insurance and hospital benefits.

Gives Cost

Mrs. Ward said it costs the city over $900 each month to operate the Municipal Justice Court and the money collected from the court in fees varies between $300 and $800 per month. "On a high month it may hit $1,000," she added.

Two of the councilmen favored waiting until the bill passed the Assembly and then refusing to make the back payments, because it is still up to the city whether or not they want to pay any or all of the $9,600.

Councilman Becomes Hackie for Research

NEW YORK (AP) — A member of the New York City Council has been driving a taxicab for more than a week in his free hours. But he's not doing it for the $2.50 an hour he nets.

It's part of Councilman Robert A. Low's lawmaking education, says his wife Frances.

The Manhattan Democrat's wife told newsmen Sunday that he has been moonlighting to gather information to help guide him in voting on several proposals concerning rates, taxi driver protection and group riding which have been made by Mayor John V. Lindsay's taxi commission.

Leaning Tower Of Silage Topples

PROMISE CITY, Iowa (AP)—Bob Lockridge's leaning tower of silage has toppled.

"I've got bricks and hay all over," says Lockridge, who watched his brand-new, seven-story silo tip more and more each day since Sept. 12.

The silo, one of the largest in the area, contained 800 tons of hay when it finally tumbled into a $10,000 ruin.

"The contractor told me even before it fell that he would build me another one," Lockridge said. The old one lasted four months.

Juries to Sit On Two Cases

Nick Schaefer Asks For 12-Man Panels For Traffic Trials

For the first time in his nearly seven years as Outagamie County District Attorney, Nick F. Schaefer has asked for juries to sit on two traffic trials in which he is representing the state.

Schaefer said this morning he has requested 12-man juries for an axle-overload case scheduled for trial Dec. 15 and a speeding trial set for Dec. 13.

Both trials will be before Outagamie County Judge Urban P. VanSusteren who received jurisdiction after affidvaits of prejudice were filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Warrant Juries

Normally, a jury is requested by the defense. However, Schaefer explained he has the power to request a jury under state statutes. Schaefer said he believed these cases warranted his asking for juries.

The axle-overload case had been scheduled for today. State inspectors issued a citation to Foreway Express Company, Wausau, last Nov. 8 alleging that one of its tandem trucks had a 7,020 pound overload.

Stop Truck

The truck was stopped at W. 8th Street and Linwood Avenue in Appleton. The company pleaded innocent Nov. 29 and the case was to have gone before Van Susteren for trial without a jury.

The other case involved a speeding charge against Richard L. Bartell, 30, of Genessee Depot. State police alleged he drove 69 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone on U.S. 41 near State 47 the night of May 14.

House Passes Bill to Pay for Dumped Milk

Indemnities for Produce Affected By Chemical Residue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the President Monday a bill to extend until June 30, 1968, authority to make payments to dairy farmers who have milk removed from commercial markets because it has been contanimated by chemical residues.

The Agriculture Department estimated that the milk indemnity payments might reach $2 million for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Reimburse Farmers

A committee report said the extension of the dairy indemnity payment authority is necessary in order to reimburse dairy farmers for losses incurred as a result of the condemnation of their milk if they followed government recommendations concerning the use of chemicals and their milk later became contaminated.

Several large producers in the Rio Grande Valley have had their milk removed from the market in recent months because of DDT residue and a problem has been uncovered in Arizona, the Agriculture Department said.

Local Chapter's 50th Anniversary

Red Cross Official Speaker in Appleton

Jimmie L. Hughes, field director at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., will speak at the 50th anniversary annual meeting of the Outagamie County chapter of the American National Red Cross here Friday.

Hughes has served the Red Cross as a field director or assistant in military installations in the United States, Korea, Vietnam and Thailand.

His presentation will highlight the local celebration which will start at 6:15 p.m. at Reetz's Supper Club, 2306 S. Oneida St.

Certificate Presentation

Also slated for the program will be the presentation of a pin and certificate of appreciation to Mrs. Ann Orbison, one of the county's charter members. She has been a volunteer since 1917.

According to Mrs. Kathryn C. Kirchberg, chapter executive secretary, Hughes, a native of Bartlesville, Okla., graduated from Phillips University, Enid, Okla. He joined the Red Cross in 1955. Prior to this he held positions as an elementary school teacher and physical education director with the YMCA in Bartlesville and San Antonio, Tex.

New School to Get Old Name

It's official — the name of the southside elementary school is McKinley, as designated Monday by the Appleton Board of Education.

The new McKinley will replace the present McKinley School in the fall of 1968, "to continue a tradition," according to the board.

In recent years it has been the policy of the board to name the schools early for purposes of identification. In this case, however, the southside school will have to be known as the "new" McKinley, at least for one more year.

Cadillac presents elegance in action!

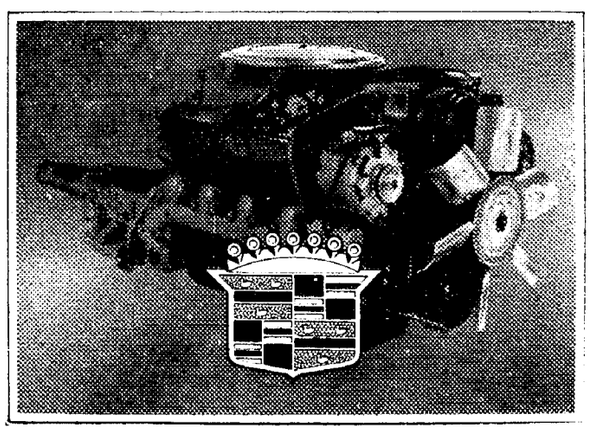
And the "inside story" for 1968 starts with the biggest, smoothest V-8 engine ever put into a production motor car.



Brilliant new styling • Dramatic new interiors • Totally new instrument panel • Concealed windshield wipers • Improved variable ratio power steering • New disc brakes available • Choice of eleven exciting body styles.

Now, enter a new era of luxury car performance—with the biggest and smoothest engine ever put into a production passenger car—the completely new Cadillac 472 V-8. This new V-8 has the greatest torque, or usable power, of any passenger car engine and has the newest combination of engine components since Cadillac pioneered the V-8 fifty-three years ago. You will notice a brilliant improvement in passing performance that in no way compromises a huge reserve of power to efficiently operate power steering, power brakes and other Cadillac conveniences.

You will also be impressed with its amazing quiet—so remarkable that only its nimble responsiveness reminds you that a great new engine is hidden beneath the hood.

Cadillac for 1968 provides, in addition, its well-proved triple braking system with finned drums that delivers smooth, straight stopping power. Front disc brakes are available for those who prefer the further refinement of an advanced disc-and-drum combination, and this year they're standard on Eldorado. You may also choose a greatly improved air conditioning system that moves more air more quietly.

Whether your preference is for one of the more traditional models—or the classic beauty of the Eldorado—come discover new elegance and excitement in luxury car motoring!
